Two Reports Enjoyed By Study Club

A paper on the Caribbean and a magazine article on the Virgin Islands was the third of a series of programs on countries adjacent to and vitally important to the defense of the United States discussed at the Wednesday Study club last week at the Girls' Community clubhouse. Mrs. M. M. Morris presided during the afternoon session.

Mrs. T. W. Miles discussed the Caribbean, pointing out that although smaller than the Mediterranean the sea is bordered by eleven independent states, the twelfth, Mexico, faces both the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico. The area is rich in natural resources and remarkably productive. She stated that strategic metals are found in several states, lumber is plentiful and it is one of the richest petroleum areas in the world.

Most important from the standpoint of world politics, is its location, Mrs. Miles said, which lies across one of the world's greatest trade routes. Because of its vital position in U. S. defense the United States is spending $40,000,000 in defense preparation. Puerto Rico, called the watchdog of the Caribbean, will be headquarters for 28,000 officers and men, 12,000 of whom are already on the island. Mrs. Miles also told of her trip through the Panama Canal and many interesting observations on places and inhabitants she had seen.

Speaking of the Virgin Islands Mrs. B. G. Harding explained their history and that in 1917 that they had been purchased by the United States from Denmark at a cost of $25,000,000. The sale included three main islands and about 80 pinpoint islands. Besides controlling the famous Anegada passage, they form the country's eastern outpost for the U. S. navy. The three islands, St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix, are perhaps the most beautiful islands on the globe, Mrs. Harding said.

The islands form a tropic playground that is attracting increasing numbers of visitors each year. The U. S. government is bettering health conditions and land-owners and workers are busily trying to recover for the islands the trade power that existed in the 1700's.

Charlotte Amalie, capital is one of the finest harbors in the West Indies. The old Danish fort, Kredrikstad, and the port of Christiansted, the terminal of an insular steamship line, are a few of the many places of interest in the islands the speaker said.

Voters' League Groups To Meet
