ARMY FORMS 1ST UNIT FOR WAGING MOUNTAIN WAR

By Arthur E. Burgess

Fort Lewis, Wash.—(AP)—The first battalion of an infantry regiment exclusively for mountain warfare—indicating the wide scope of the army's defense preparations—has been formed here around some of the world's finest skiers and most expert mountain climbers.

It is the first of its kind in American history and is patterned along the lines of regiments and even whole divisions of mountain troops which Germany used in Norwegian and Balkan campaigns.

The first battalion, composed of mountain experts from the 8th army corps and hand-picked men from the 4th army on the west coast, will serve as a nucleus for expansion of the regiment, which will be known as the 87th infantry mountain regiment.

The first battalion is an experimental force to test organization and equipment to meet the unusual, rigorous requirements of military operations in mountain terrain.

Only men who possess special physical qualifications will be accepted. For several years the army has had ski patrols, one of the most famed being in the 15th "Can Do" regiment at Fort Lewis.

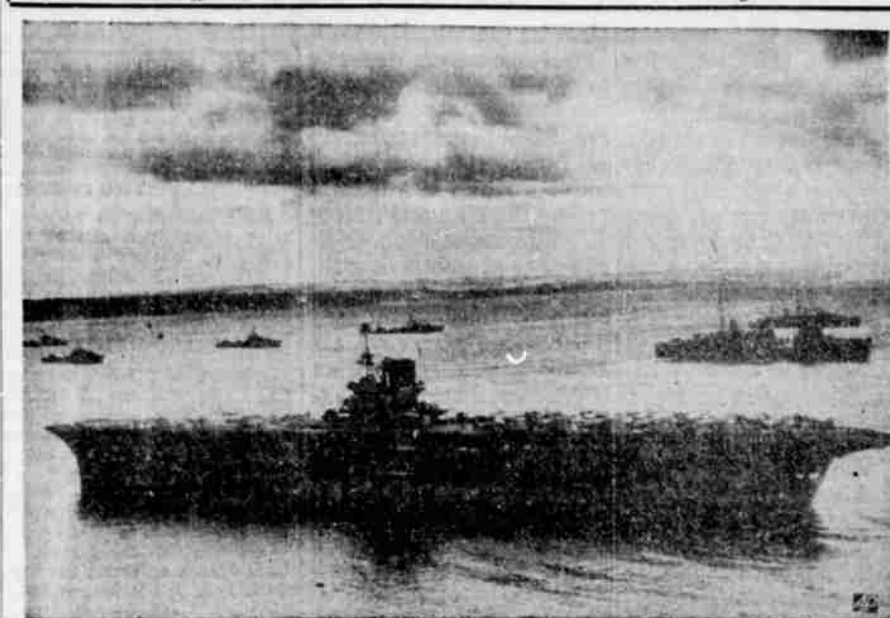

The value of mountain fighting units was proved by the Germans in the battles for passes in the Balkan campaign, officers said.

GAME WARDEN QUITS

Newport, Ore., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Carroll Keeler, state police officer attached to game law enforcement in Lincoln county for five years, resigned today to enter business in Portland. He will be succeeded here by Harry Price, now stationed in the Florence division.

DIVINE RECEIVES MASONIC HONORS

Dr. Sherman L. Divine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Mrs. Divine returned home last night from Seattle, Wash., where they spent the Thanksgiving holiday with their sons, Eugene and John.

On the way home they stopped in Portland where Saturday night Dr. Divine received his credentials at a Masonic banquet and ceremonial for the honor bestowed upon him and 11 other Masons of Oregon recently by the supreme council, A. and A. S. R., at Washington, D. C. The credentials were evidence of the elevation of Dr. Divine to Knight Commander of the Court of Honor by the Scottish Rite.

THE CIGARETTE OF COSTLIER TOBACCOS

in other words

by JOHN CLINTON

Our house is empty of barks, and on the window sills are no more paw prints. For Rags has departed this world for what I trust is a happier one—full of chewable bones and non-scratching cats and celestial gardens in which, undisturbed, a dog may dig all day.

Mrs. Clinton and I keep listening—for the tick-tick of nails on the linoleum, and we find it hard to consider the bones on our plates.

So possibly this is the last opportunity I'll have to tell you about a friendly little trick many Union Oil Minute

Men have—it's nothing more than a clean pan the boys keep tucked away so thirsty dogs can have a drink.

True, it's not a regular service of all stations. But it's indicative of an attitude. Thoughtfulness, even of the family pup!

And this is just one of thousands of things these Minute Men do every day—things they don't have to do, but do anyway. A drop of oil for a sticking door-catch; a couple of turns on a loose bolt and a rattle is gone; a road map for strangers, a "help" across a busy intersection for a small fry bound for school—all these and more.

That's the Union Minute Men Service. If you're a normal human being who responds to friendliness you'll like it. Try the Union Minute Men. They make a motorist's life brighter—and give small dogs a drink of water.
