HAMILTON, BUTLER RESCUE WOMEN IN LAKE ADVENTURE

Medford Pair Find Autoists Marooned in Diamond Lake Vicinity in Icy Night

If it hadn't been for the adventurous spirit of Moore Hamilton and Arnel Butler, Medford sportsmen, an elderly woman and her daughter might have suffered seriously from a mishap that marooned them in their car and trailer on the last long hill of the Diamond Lake highway this side of Diamond lake, a desolate and seldom-used highway this time of year.

Enchanted by distance, the intrepid Hamilton and Butler started out last evening to have a whirl on the skates at Diamond lake, 80 miles from here. They found the Diamond Lake highway free of snow but icy all the way from Muir creek to the summit. On the last long hill before reaching Diamond lake, the Medford men came upon the two helpless women, who were returning to their homes, situated on the other side of the Dalles California highway. Going up the hill, the car and trailer skidded on the icy pavement and swung around to straddle the road.

Faced Cold Night
Without chains, the wheels could not get traction enough to move the car and trailer and the women exhausted the battery trying to get the motor going after it had stalled. When the adventurous Medford men reached the scene, there sat the two women, forlorn and helpless, facing a cold, bleak night on the highway. The men used their own tire chains to get the women's car and trailer swung around and up over the hill. Then the women proceeded on their way.

"We felt like good Boy Scouts," commented Hamilton when pressed by a reporter for details of the adventure.

Two ponds at the south end of Diamond lake were found frozen and the men skated on them, though the surface was described as somewhat rough. The lake itself was not frozen, though Hamilton said the temperature was exceedingly cold at the lake. Ground at the lake was covered with four inches of snow and snow was piled along the highway from the summit. While the highway itself was free of snow, it was so icy that no one should attempt to drive over it without chains, Hamilton counseled.

IMPOSTERS SEEK RED CROSS FUND

Miss Lillian Roberts, executive secretary of the Jackson County Red Cross office, announced today that she had received a report that a woman is unlawfully soliciting for Red Cross in Corvallis and Grants Pass.

Those who wish to join the American Red Cross may leave or send their donations to the local Red Cross office. The local Red Cross roll call campaign closes in Jackson county today.

SANTA GREETED BY HUGE THROG HAS HARD TIME

Santa Claus had attracted everyone from the spot where they were to give a concert. The band then took up its position and played until it was time to go to the railroad station to join in the send-off for the high school football team leaving on the 7:30 train for The Dalles.

What happened to Santa and the band only illustrated the size of the huge crowd and the gaiety of the occasion. During the hour-and-a-half celebration the spectators circled around the business district to see the sights, and there were lots of things to see. Foremost attraction was the feature of live models in many of the store windows, an innovation in Christmas opening celebrations. Many remarks were heard about the charm and prettiness of the models and the attractive way in which they demonstrated their merchandise.

Displays Feature
The display of 1942 motor cars and automotive farm equipment also was an important feature. Many spectators were attracted by the marionette show staged in one of the store windows by two boys, Billy Patton and Earl Bradfish, Jr.

The street decorations, more extensive this year than ever before, came in for a lot of favorable comment. But for hundreds of little children the greatest thrill of all was shaking the big, friendly hand of Santa Claus himself.

Secret Navy Weapon Brings Need of Men With Radio Training

Washington, Nov. 27.—(P)—

Existence of a secret navy weapon for use in detecting both ships and airplanes at great distances was disclosed in authoritative quarters today as the navy department called for increased enlistments for training in radio maintenance.

The device has been in use for some time, according to the best available information, but has been a carefully guarded secret. Word of its existence leaked out in connection with the campaign of recruiting radio technicians, but even so navy officials declined all official discussion of it.

WORKERS RETURN TO SHASTA DAM

Redding, Calif., Nov. 27.—(P)—

A shutdown of operations at Shasta dam was averted today with the return of 60 sand and gravel workers whose spokesman had protested what he termed unsafe operating conditions.

A. E. Hester, business agent of the operating engineers said AFL International union officials had ordered the local union to send its men back to the job.

Lassen County May Join Secessionists In North California

Susanville, Calif., Nov. 27.—

(P)—A secession movement begun recently by Curry county, Ore., and taken up by Siskiyou, Del Norte, and Modoc counties in California threatened to spread to a fourth discontented California county today.

George McDow, secretary of the Susanville Chamber of Commerce, said that he spoke for many Lassen county business men in saying that Lassen county is not receiving the proper amount of attention from California.

"For 30 years," McDow said, "Lassen county has been trying to get the state of California to build a highway from the
