INSOMNIA
"If I could only sleep." This statement is sufficient most of the time to stamp a case "insomnia" and with it all the train of other symptoms that follow. Basically insomnia is a condition which prevents the nervous system from relaxing. Organic trouble has been frequently blamed and usually enters into the complex but when anxiety has been removed the nerves and sufficient pressures removed to permit them to relax, sleep follows that is natural and refreshing. While several pressures on nerves can produce insomnia, the usual case has many and the condition is one of long standing. The general health is usually affected since insomnia produces a type of nervous exhaustion which prevents proper organic action. By correcting the cause the affects disappear and prove to be secondary. Chiropractic has aided nature in restoring healthful rest to hundreds who were threatened with the drug habit because they could not sleep unless under the influence of opiates.

Chicago Wheat

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(U-P)—Soybean prices soared 5 cents a bushel today, the limit permitted in one session, carrying other grains upward in a general advance.
Traders attributed buying of beans to receipt of scattered rains in important producing sections over the week-end and sharply reduced receipts at principal terminal markets. They said the rains probably would interfere with harvest.

Wall St. Report

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—News generally was on the side of the stock market today but, while an assortment of favorites managed to acquire modest improvement, many leaders failed to take on a recovery tinge.

Tax selling persisted as a market brake, with large blocks of low-priced issues helping bridge numerous slow intervals and putting the day's turnover at around 800,000 shares. There was one 12,000-share transaction in Warner Bros., up 1/2 at 5 1/2. Bonds were mixed.

Steels were sluggish notwithstanding a jump of 1.7 points in this week's mill operations following resumption of work in the captive mines.

School Bus Driver Given $5 Fine for Ignoring Stop Sign

Lester A. Wilcox, 49, of Route 2 was fined $5 by Judge W. W. Allen in city court this morning for driving his school bus through the stop sign at Sixth street and North Oakdale avenue last Thursday afternoon. He pleaded guilty.

Mr. Wilcox, according to police, was driver of the school bus that did not stop before entering Fourth street at Oakdale avenue. As the bus crossed the intersection, a car operated by Jack Thurman, 44, 1728 North Riverside avenue, crashed into it. After the accident Mr. Thurman entered Community hospital for treatment for bruised ribs and a bruised right leg. His car was badly damaged. Proceeding from the scene of the accident after stopping as required by law, Mr. Wilcox drove through the next stop sign at Sixth street, police charged. No complaint was filed for passing through the Fourth street stop sign as it had been erected but a few hours before and the accompanying pavement button had not yet been put in place, police explained.

Morals Case Is Next Before Circuit Court

The next case scheduled for Circuit court is the state against Roy Lippert of the Pinehurst district, indicted by the last grand jury for a statutory offense involving a minor girl. The trial has been set for Monday, December 15. It is the first criminal case to be presented to the jury for several months.

Circuit Judge Herbert K. Hanna in the meantime, will hold a court session at Grants Pass and transact routine matters here.

The United States birth rate has turned upward, census records indicate. Provisional tabulations show 2,353,988 births reported in 1940—an increase of 91,260 over final 1939 figures. The birth rate per 1,000 population jumped from 17.3 to 17.9.

Annual production of brick by the more than 500 United States brick manufacturers reporting to the census bureau would build a double brick wall two thousand miles long and ten feet high.

MOBILE MILLS BOOM LUMBER IN MISSISSIPPI

Thousands Find Employment in $56,000,000 Industry—New Tax Helpful

Jackson, Miss. (U-P)—The crash of towering pine and hardwood trees is echoing a $56,000,000-a-year lumber boom in Mississippi. Defense orders for wood products have sent an army of portable sawmills into the state's 15,000,000,000 acres of timberland.

Only this time there will be no ghost towns reminiscent of a dead industry, no silent skeletons of once lively villages like those now dotting Mississippi wastelands.

Ghost towns are precluded by the mobility of the units that use tractors to haul equipment and to operate mill belts.

Thousands Gain Work

The timber industry is giving work to thousands. It pours thousands of dollars into the state treasury through the new severance tax on timber, which is yielding more than five times as much as the ad valorem timber tax it replaces.

The new tax, strangely enough, was not intended to be a revenue measure. Its chief object was conservation, a long-range state program now endangered by the billing saws the tax is powerless to stop.

The danger in the business is that it may handicap conservation and reforestation if farmers and landowners sell immature timber—timber that would be worth more in later years, or if they over-cut their lands, hastening soil erosion and increasing reforestation difficulties. Bruce Van Zandt, severance tax expert of the tax commission, has estimated Mississippi has left about 15,000,000 acres "on which there is a reasonable stand of growing timber." For the 12-month period ending June 1, 1941, the state cut lumber representing the total production of about 857,143 acres.

New Tax Pays

The new three per cent tax on the value of forest products at the point of severance, which became effective June 1, 1940, brought in a revenue of $235,737.

Collected by the state and two-thirds returned to counties from which the timber is severed, the severance return of $235,737 compares with an estimated $45,000 which would have been collected under the old ad valorem basis.

NEW TYPE AXLE IN ARMY TESTS

Fort Ord, Cal.—(U-P)—An entirely new type of axle, invented by a truck driver and built at Fort Ord from scrap for $25, may prove the answer to one of the army's most pressing problems.

If it works out as practically as preliminary tests at the fort indicate, it may be used in large trucks and trailers, almost doubling their personnel carrying capacity without material loss of speed and power on the highway.

The innovation, currently being used on two large trailers and a two and one-half ton truck is described as an "automatic trailing axle." It was developed to eliminate wasted power which develops when the rear wheels are forced out "and dragged" as a four or more wheeled vehicle turns a corner.

"Sergeant York" on Rialto Bill

The rousing welcome which New York gave the World War hero, Alvin C. York on his return from France is reenacted on the screen in "Sergeant York" which opened to capacity houses last night at the Rialto Theatre where it will play through Saturday for one big week. Gary Cooper plays the title role, and Charles Trowbridge plays Cordell Hull, by permission of that gentleman. Others in the cast are Walter Brennan and Joan Leslie.

LOVE'S IN THE AIR—If this picture were wired for sound, you might hear wedding bells ringing. Both Janis Carter (left) and Marian Rosamond, two former New York models now seeking film laurels in Hollywood, are getting married, they say—Janis to Carl Frager and Marian, to Charles Drew. Marian is a former Boston University campus queen.

4 NATIONS HAVE CONTROL OF OIL

Washington — (U-P) — Oil, the main source of power and energy in modern warfare, is controlled almost entirely by four nations now seeking to bring about the defeat of the totalitarian powers, a navy survey has revealed.

The research, conducted by Rear Admiral Harry S. Stuart and R. G. Tracie, navy senior petroleum engineer, showed that the combined interests of the United States, Great Britain, the Netherlands and Russia accounted for 94.8 per cent of the world's oil production in 1939.

This is highly significant, the report said. "Any country somewhat superior in armaments, but with limited petroleum resources, attempting an aggressive war or even fighting defensively against a foe having access to practically unlimited supplies of oil, will encounter a disadvantage almost impossible to overcome."
