State Youth Superintendent Ber PSYCHOLOGY KEY TO ARMY MORALE

Hamilton, N. Y.—U.D.—Clar-cnce W. Young, Colgate univerrity phychologist, believes the United States army should take a tip from Germany and utilize chosen for their production the Mrs. Saille Graves, 87 daughter psychologists to improve the mystery-comedy "The Cat o' of a confederate soldier, died morale of the American soldier. Nine Talls," with the following nere she left three sons, four daughters, 70 grandchildren, 153

Young asserts that one of the chief causes of poor morale in a army is poor leadership.

"Some of this inefficiency," he said, "results from lack of training, but in large part it is due to the fact that we have many men in officers' positions who lack the necessary qualities of personality.

All of the cast:

Mr. Gordon, Merton LeRoy:

Mrs. Gordon, Merton LeRoy:

"We now know how wrong they were, and it seems certain that the work of the military psychologists started back in 1926 and continued with increasing emphasis, has had much to do with the surprising effectiveness of German officers.

PRIORITY MUDDLE NETS THOUSANDS OF COMPLAINTS

Kicks From Business Men On Dislocations Pour Into Washington Constantly.

By Jack Stinnett

Washington. — Pouring into Washington almost constantly these days are the complaints of thousands of business men over the dislocations caused by priorities, shortages and odd specifications which are all jumbled into the gigantic buying of national defense. Some of these headaches are perversely humorous; some are quences; nearly all are interest-

ng. Here are some: The army, navy and what-not's great need for linoleum threatened a shortage in this flooring commodity. The gov ernment experts went to work on it and not wishing to knock out linoleum for private homes unless they had to, cast about for other uses to which it was being put. To their amazement, they discovered that thousands of square yards were going into the manufacture of furniture

(table and dresser tops, etc.) Scrap Piles Up The priorities orders were drawn up. Linoleum for su frivolous business as furniture

As a result, some eastern seaboard warehouses soon will be-come piled sky-high with scrap linoleum-absolutely unusuable for any other known purpose. Linoleum is manufactured in standard widths and lengths. When sold, scraps invariably result and for some years now, companies have been making sufficient profit on this scrap that the price of their product could be reduced. Now what happens. The government wil have to pay for the scrap and the manufacturers of that type of furniture will have to whistle up a new business.

Army Chests

A northwestern lumber man is wailing because his yards are glutted with four grades of lumber lower than absolute top grade. Only by cutting down grade. Only by cutting down more trees and sawing them up and swelling his surplus of low choice, unblemished grade that goes into the more than a million chests which the soldiers seep at the foot of their beds. The army specifies this one certain grade. It needs millions of feet of it. But, says the lumber man, nobody needs millions of feet of any of those lower Jacksonville Seniors To Give Annual Play Next Friday Evening
