

WAR WILL BRING MANY CHANGES IN AMERICAN HOMES

Cellophane, Enamel Covered Stove Burners Going Out—Dried Eggs Coming In.

By the Associated Press (This column, based on official government information furnished by the office for emergency management, shows how the war will affect Mrs. America in her home.)

Cellulose paper is about to vanish from the household and the store counters as abruptly as it appeared. Its manufacture requires large quantities of chlorine, phenol and glycerine—all scarce chemicals essential for defense.

The housewife of tomorrow won't be able to get a flat-top stove with a beautiful enamel cover to hide the burners. Manufacturers stopped making these styles at the request of the government. Leaving off the covers cuts manufacturing costs and saves 3,500 tons of steel a year for war industries.

Dried Eggs Loom

Dried eggs, long an Oriental importation, are going American. Any day now they may hatch right out of the exotic rattlesnake meat and bird's nest soup class of foods and appear on our pantry shelves beside the canned beans, tomato juice and prepared breakfast foods. Thirty-seven new egg-drying plants are being established in the United States, bringing the total to 56, which the department of agriculture estimates will produce 145 million pounds of dried eggs a year. They're much in demand by the British, who report they're excellent for baking and cooking, and even for scrambled eggs.

If you like to garden, you can help America's defense and your own budget by putting in a vegetable garden in your back yard, or by increasing the size of the one you already have. The grocery shelves will feel the pinch of the war this year, although the United States will break all records with its 1942 agricultural production, an eighth of the harvest will go to Britain. And American appetites, whetted by fatter pay checks, are growing bigger.

Save Paper

You can give your child a defense job at home by naming him custodian of the waste paper. It's needed to manufacture paper-board to hold war munitions. Your son or daughter can accumulate newspapers, magazines, wrapping paper and other usable waste in a designated corner of the basement or garage until the pile is big enough (about 100 pounds) for your favorite charity, the Boy Scouts or the junk man to haul away. The government makes no collection of its own, but it all goes to the same place.

And tell your husband to do something to stop the waste of paper in his office. Every wastebasket needs a monitor.

The office of civilian defense wants 3,000,000 women volunteers. Local volunteer offices register women for everything from checking citizenship records to home canning.

PLYWOOD PLANES FOR TRAINING DUE IN MASC OUTPUT

New York.—(UP)—Trainer planes made entirely of plywood will be coming off the production lines at the rate of 400 to 500 per month early in 1942, Lawrence Ottinger, president of United States Plywood corporation, declares.

During 1941, Ottinger said, airplanes fully and satisfactorily tested, were produced with fuselage, wings and stabilizers made of plywood molded to shape under pressure.

Other plywood applications in aircraft, he pointed out, are for furniture, partitions, floor boards, navigators' tables, map cases and wheel fairings. And still others are under development.

The plywood industry in 1941 according to Ottinger produced fully 60 per cent for defense, against an estimate of less than 20 per cent war production for all industry. Among the defense uses of plywood which are permitted to be revealed are torpedo boats, mine sweepers, cargo vessels, army landing boats, defense housing, ships, pipe, chemical vats, pallets and ship containers.

"THANK YOU—from all of us"

"Just before Christmas, we told you that we would appreciate your lending us a hand over the Holiday Season by not sending greetings by Long Distance.
"We asked this in order to help keep the lines available for calls important to defense.
"In spite of all our extra operators could do, there were many more calls than could be handled without delay. We are exceedingly sorry for the delay, but grateful for the friendly cooperation you gave us all through these busy days. Thank you. It really helped a lot.
"We assure you that we will do our level best, under existing conditions, to render you the finest service possible during the coming year."

WOMAN SUFFERS AMNESIA ATTACK

Ashland, Jan. 2.—(Spl.)—Mrs. Ruth Hiner of Beal Lane, Central Point, was taken home early Thursday by her husband, Clarence Hiner, after Dr. C. A.

Haines pronounced her a victim of amnesia.
The doctor was called by police, after the woman appeared at the Ashland hotel and offered a gold bracelet in payment for a room. She signed the register as "Rose More, Rosebarger, Oregon" but her conversation with Hugh Page, night clerk at the hotel, was so vague that he immediately sensed that something was wrong, according to the police report.
He checked with the Chateau, night club on the north highway, and discovered that a woman was missing from a group there. City and state police were called and they contacted the doctor and the woman's husband.

Hiner took his wife home, with the doctor's advice that he get medical care for her. She could not remember her background or anything except a vague recollection of music.

GRIFFIN CREEK TO HAVE CLASSES IN FIRST AID

J. B. Meehan will conduct Red Cross First Aid classes at the Griffin Creek Grange Hall, beginning Wednesday, January 7, at 7:30 p. m.
Griffin Creek Home Extension Unit is sponsoring the project and urges all men and women in the district interested in receiving the instruction to attend.

Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, director of the fish and wildlife service, estimates America's annual consumption of wild game and fish is 4,623,000,000 pounds and in an emergency could be increased to 6,000,000 pounds.

HUNGRY SCHOOL CHILDREN CANNOT STUDY

School children should eat good substantial breakfasts. The modern trend to light breakfasts may not be so bad for us older folks, but it takes good substantial food to ward off the mid-morning hunger of a growing child. After the late sleeping during the holiday vacation it is quite essential that you tempt the earlier morning appetite of the children when they start back to school.

Many mothers have consistently used the healthful, nourishing breakfast rolls from the Home Purity Bakery. Made with none but pure home ingredients—some with health giving fruits baked right into them. They are healthful, nourishing mid-morning hunger preventers—the way to better study.

Many mothers pack them in the school lunch. They solve the ever vexing problem of what to put in the lunch.
