

FIFTH COLUMN WORK IN HAWAII DECLARED EASY

Medford Radio Announcer
Lately From Islands Gives
First-Hand Impressions.

The ease by which Japanese "fifth columnists" could have aided their countrymen in the attack on Pearl Harbor was described today by Bob Barrington, local radio station announcer who for 13 months was in charge of Station KTOH at Lihue, county seat of the island of Kauai in the Hawaiian group 100 miles northwest of Honolulu.

"Although most of the Japanese in the Hawaiian islands are operators of small businesses, many of them are employed on sugar cane plantations and some work plantations on shares," he explained, recalling that a recent news dispatch said long arrows had been cut in the cane fields to guide Jap bombers to Pearl Harbor.

Japs Trusted
"Also," Mr. Barrington pointed out, "most Americans in the islands are inclined to trust the Japanese, because they are in constant contact with them." He added, however, that Filipinos in the islands didn't get along with the Japs nearly so well as did the Americans.

"Of course I wasn't there at the time, but I imagine the American population of the islands was just as amazed as we were on the mainland at the

1941 Medford's Second Best In Building Permit Records Since Big Boom Days of 1929

Medford's second-best building year since the boom days of 1929 was recorded in 1941, with 264 permits representing $454,129 being issued by the city inspector. Only 1939's $454,955 exceeded last year's total, and that by a mere $826.

So busy were contractors and carpenters during the past 12 months that 1941's total stated value of all types of construction and remodeling work was 113.2 per cent greater than the 1940 total of $212,955.

The construction of 86 new residences costing $253,200 represented more than 50 per cent of the entire 1941 total. The next greatest single item was the remodeling of business buildings, 27 such permits being valued at $126,690.

July was the busiest month of the year, with permits valued at $90,330 being issued, including that for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company's addition to its North Bartlett street structure at a cost of $50,000. This was the largest single permit of the year.

Other large permits included: $30,000, for remodeling of the First National Bank of Portland, Medford branch; $20,000, for an addition to the Medford Ice & Storage company; $20,000, for an addition to Fluhrer's bakery, and $10,000, for the construction of the Medford Ice Arena.

Slackest month of the year was December, with eight permits valued at $2,865 being issued. This compared with the $15,140 for the same period in 1940, and $23,265 for November of 1941.

Following is a table showing the month-by-month building activity during 1941:

Japanese attack," he said. "People in Hawaii, like those in the states, had been led to believe that such an attack was impossible." Mr. Barrington, who has been in Medford the past three months, displayed a photograph he took of Nawiliwili harbor, which serves Lihue. Gasoline and oil storage tanks in Lihue were shelled by a Jap submarine early last Wednesday morning, and the photograph shows these tanks and the harbor with its breakwater, beyond which the sub apparently was located during the shelling.

Many Are Loyal
Kauai, according to Mr. Barrington, has a population of between 37,000 and 38,000 70 per cent of whom are Japanese. "Most of them are American citizens, having been born on American soil," he explained, and added that he believed "the great majority of them are loyal Americans."

Known as the "Garden Island" because of its rich tropical vegetation, Kauai has a terrifically heavy annual rainfall, he said. Mt. Waialeale, 5,000 feet high, had a precipitation of 602 inches in 1939, and its summit annually has between 485 and 600 inches of rainfall a year, he said.

Principal exports of British Malaya are rubber, tin, copra, rice, arecanuts and preserved pineapple.

Nixie! Nixie!! You wouldn't buy Chops by the Bunch
Thick lamb chops...thin ones...nice ones...others not so nice...gathered in bunches and priced by the bunch!
No blind woman, even, would fall for that.
Every step to think that maybe buying beefs and carrots and turnips by the bunch isn't so much different from buying a bunch of chops?
No two beefs are alike. No two carrots. More important, bunches in one store are a different size from bunches in another store. But a pound of carrots—each carrot picked out by you and weighed with the tops cut off—is the same amount of good eating every time you buy it.
That's why we at Safeway now price all our fruits and vegetables this full-value way. We price all produce by weight...rather than by the piece, the bunch, or the dozen.
There are many advantages to you in buying even food and fruits by weight. Come in to your Safeway's produce department and make your own comparisons. Then you'll see why we call it the FULL-VALUE WAY to buy.
