That's What MONEY Is For

If Johnny comes down with appendicitis, we don't stint the doctor bill. If Susie can go to college, we buckle down and pay. For nothing do we Americans spend our savings so willingly as to give our children a future. Well, now is the time.

We don't buy bonds. We buy freedom for our children. Our forefathers did as much for us. To assure our freedom they pledged their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor. Now it's our turn. Wherefore this Company is trying to make it simpler for everybody to buy bonds.

In Los Angeles, Standard erected and gave the Government a glass defense house located in Pershing Square—center of the bond drive. And now, too, defense stamps are on sale at all of the 1,100 Standard Stations throughout the West.

Uncle Sam's men tell us this has been a great help. But, after all, the bond campaign is up to you . . . and you . . . and you. The chips are down. It's all or nothing. Enlist your pocketbook to fight for your children. The Britons, the Poles, the Czechs, the Russians, the Danes, the Greeks, the Norwegians, and the men who signed the Declaration of Independence—are calling to you that that's what money's for.

HUMANE SOCIETY REPORTS WORK IN CITY LAST YEAR

966 Dogs Licensed, Council Told—307 Strays Executed; City Judge Reports

Last year 966 dogs within Medford were licensed, it was stated in a summary of activities filed with the city council last night by Mrs. Sidney W. Richardson, secretary-manager of the Southern Oregon Humane society.

Declaring that "as usual" the society "was broke" on January 1, Mrs. Richardson's report asked for an advance of $200 on the society's contract with the city to handle the dog problem.

During the past year 307 stray, unlicensed and unwanted dogs were humanely disposed of, the report said, 84 of these being from "known addresses outside the city." One hundred four lost dogs were restored to their owners by the society, 78 unwanted dogs were placed in new homes, 387 cats were humanely disposed of and 17 were placed in new homes and 83 controversies over animals were kept out of the courts, the report stated.

City Judge Reports

Report of City Judge W. W. Allen showed that $194.50 was collected in fines in December. Highest fines, $50, came from two cases of drunken driving. Four cases of disorderly conduct brought $35 and three cases of failure to give right-of-way brought $30, the report showed. Ten cases of being drunk in public headed the list numerically but brought no cash into the city coffers, it being explained by Councilman Larry Schade that they were "the usual winos" without funds, they going to jail instead of paying fines.

During 1941 there were 588 cases in city court, highest on record and 248 more than the 340 cases handled in 1940. Judge Allen's report said. Fines collected last year totalled $1,898.10 as compared with $981.50 in 1940, according to the report. Judge Allen said it was his opinion that the increase was due largely to greater activity by the police department, especially in making arrests in heavier traffic.

Refer Repeal

Referred to the building and light committee was a petition from merchants asking repeal of the ordinance requiring a license of anyone selling electrical devices. It was pointed out that virtually every kind of store sells such gadgets, ranging "from a five-cent light socket plug to an electric piano." Frank Rogers, building inspector, said the original idea of the license was to weed out inferior, unsafe merchandise not approved by the underwriters' bureau. Conditions have improved much and if the ordinance were repealed the merchants would still be under a state law providing a small fee and inspection, the sole aim being to keep unsafe electrical devices off the market, Mr. Rogers said. Councilman Clarence A.

"Tax Cyclist"

Because automobiles and tires are rationed, F. R. Carpenter, Colorado revenue director, bought himself a bike and pedaled to the statehouse at Denver to prove his tax collectors could use bikes instead of autos. Gov. Ralph L. Carr approved an order for 40 bikes for Carpenter's agents, one a woman.

Meeker said that since many people were affected because of fire danger, the petition should be studied thoroughly before any action was taken.

The council voted to contribute $100 to the county dog control board.

STORM TROOPERS LOSE IMPORTANCE IN NAZI CIRCLES

Secret Order Forbidding S. A. Men to Hold Meetings Is Latest in Long Decline.

Bern, Switzerland, Jan. 7.—(P)—Reliable information arriving from Germany indicated today that Adolf Hitler's brown shirted storm troopers no longer play an important role in the Nazi party and may soon cease to function altogether.

The organization, called the S. A. (Sturm Abteilung) has always borne the brunt of the party's heavy work since early days. It was said to be slipping since shortly after the beginning of the campaign against Russia.

The first indication came when the organization's newspaper, Die S. A., ceased publication in August with no official explanation. Members who inquired were told simply that the action was taken because of a paper shortage.

Called To Army
Next came an order calling a large percentage of S. A. men to the colors in the regular army instead of assigning them storm troopers' duties as in previous campaigns. They now wear army uniforms and are mixed in the same units with ordinary soldiers.

The most recent move was the secret order forbidding S. A. men to hold meetings. No explanation was given.

A neutral observer, however, who has just come from Berlin, said the real reason was the fact that some of the storm troop meetings had turned into forums for criticizing the conduct of the Russian campaign.

(The S. A., the backbone of Nazi party organization since the party's birth, formed a party militia which aided Hitler's rise to power. Capt. Ernest Roehm, chief of the storm troopers, was executed in the Nazi blood purge June 30, 1934.)

Security of Coast Hangs On Asia War

London, Jan. 7.—(P)—Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo said today that "the security and prosperity of the Pacific coast if not of the whole United States were in no small measure bound up with the issue of the battle of Asia."

Speaking at a national defense luncheon, he said that although precautionary steps were being taken to provide an alternate route to the Burma road, "the safety of the existing highway is still indispensable to the continuation of China's dauntless resistance."
