In Honolulu—Clyde E. Kilner, local man who went last October to Midway island to work on defense projects, is now in Honolulu where he plans to work "for a while," he stated in a letter received yesterday by Fichtner's garage where he stored his car for a year when he left for the far Pacific island. In his first letter to the garage after his arrival on the island, Mr. Kilner told how much he liked Midway and the conditions of employment. This letter arrived here just before Christmas. In the letter received yesterday he said: "Should you care to know anything concerning the war conditions here or at Midway island, you had better ask the censor for a report." The letter, which came by air-mail, was dated at Honolulu January 3. It passed the censor.

AMERICA CHANGES ECONOMIC PATTERN IN ALL-OUT WAR

Income, Production and Employment Reach Peak As Japan's Attack Spurs U.S.

By Max L. Brown
(UP Staff Correspondent)
New York. (UP)—America embarked on an all-out war economy in 1941, broke all records in national income, employment and production, and planned for at least a 20 percent gain in output in 1942.

Transition to a war economy involved dislocations in civilian industry and more were anticipated. It accelerated when the United States was plunged into war and industry voluntarily adopted the 24-hour day, 7-day week. Government regulations became more stringent and real price controls were anticipated.

This year's prospect for further expansion was based on anticipation of $50,000,000,000 federal spending for armament. This demand, it was predicted, would close many non-war industries, diverting the men and materials to war output.

During 1941, the federal reserve board's production index hit an all-time high as the year closed at 165 percent of the 1935-1939 average. This year it is estimated this index will reach 200, level off, and eventually drop when the emergency is over.

National income approximated $87,500,000,000, nearly $19,000,000,000 over 1940 and about $15,000,000,000 over the previous record set in 1929. This year's is estimated at $120,000,000,000. The government hopes to syphon off a vast amount of this in the form of taxes to help finance the war.

Employment was estimated around 52,000,000, a record, and an increase of almost 5,000,000 over 1940. Back in 1917, first year of World War No. 1 for United States, employment was 42,600,000. The total labor force is estimated at 55,000,000 and it is believed a labor shortage will develop before the end of 1942 because of manpower diverted to the military.

Government Aids Expansion

Industry expanded vastly during the past year, but the cost of this was borne, largely by government and was without benefit for the capital market which had only a small increase. Congress has so far authorized defense expenditures of $68,000,000,000, about double the cost to us of World War No. 1. Experts estimate the whole war will cost us $150,000,000,000.

To help pay for war costs, congress enacted a record high tax bill and more taxes are scheduled this year. War also was expected to bring a strong control of prices by legislation, including controls on labor and farm products, not hitherto attacked.

1A REGISTRANTS ON PRESENT LIST RECEIVING CALLS

21 and 36 already registered, about 300,000 now are in active service. Selective service officials estimate another 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 could be obtained, if necessary, without dipping into new Feb. 16 registrants. However, it is likely that many of the latter, especially the younger men, will be inducted early along with the existing eligibles.

New men are not coming exclusively from draftees by any means. The war department said yesterday that December volunteers may exceed 60,000, nearly double the previous record of 39,589 obtained in May, 1917.

Cards are now being printed for distribution to the nation's 6,500 draft boards, in preparation for the Feb. 16 registration. All male citizens and some non-citizens born on or after Feb. 17, 1897, and on or before Dec. 31, 1921, must sign up on that day between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

After these estimated 9,000,000 are registered, local boards will give each a serial number. Then a lottery will be held similar to that of Oct. 16, 1940, and July 1, 1941. Capsules will be drawn from a glass bowl to determine the order in which the new registrants are to be called for military duty or deferred for physical or other reasons.

Whether the order numbers of this vast, fresh supply of manpower will be integrated with present registrants, as was done in the last lottery, has yet to be decided.

You Belong To Me

Enough's enough, and any husband can hardly be blamed for putting his best foot forward when he finds his wife in another man's arms, as in this scene from the rib-tickling comedy-romance, "You Belong to Me", starring Henry Fonda and Barbara Stanwyck, with newcomer Roger Clark getting a big kick from his film debut. Also featured in the picture coming to the Craterian theatre Sunday for a three-day run are Ruth Donnelly, Edgar Buchanan and Melville Cooper.

Puddin' Head

Scatterbrain Judy Canova plays tonight and Saturday at the Roxy theatre in "Puddin' Head", which takes hilarious Judy on her funniest escapade. Others in the cast are Slim Summerville and Frances Lederer. "Cyclone on Horseback", starring Tim Holt, is scheduled to play as the companion Western with "Puddin' Head".
