

HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS LOOM AGAIN FOR AMERICANS

Gearing Down of Transportation Speed Seen Dictated By Tire, Car Bans.

By Jack Stinnett
Washington—The "horse and buggy days" are coming back. For the first time since the second World War began, Mr. Average American is going to get a jolt where it hurts—in the neck that bends over the steering wheel.

If "the duration" lasts as long as some experts predict, motor traffic will dwindle to a trickle.

In High Gear

There is an average of one automobile to every family in the United States. According to the American Automobile association, three-fourths of all the driving done in these 30-odd million vehicles is necessary to maintenance of the home, office or factory. If driving is drastically curtailed—and it's going to be unless present orders are rescinded—that means that the United States is in for one of the greatest domestic upheavals it has known.

Modern living is geared to the rapid transportation of the automobile and delivery truck. Suburbanites, farmers, factory workers who live miles from their places of business, and scores of other groups will have to rearrange their lives completely if they are to meet the emergency that will be caused by a vast lack in private transport.

The first blow to be felt and pretty quickly will be the result of the ban on tire sales and subsequently the rationing on such a restricted basis that only cars, trucks and buses deemed vitally necessary to the health and safety of the nation will be able to get rubber on which to roll.

Tire Pinch First

The second curtailment will not be felt until later but if this war does drag out for a couple of years or more, it will put the kiss of death on motor transportation as we think of it today. That is the slash and complete black-out of new car production. The number of cars coming off the assembly lines has been declining steadily since August.

However, because of the reserve of used cars and because many a family bus could be nursed along for almost any conceivable "duration," the car production ban is not considered as serious as the strict rationing order on tires.

Tire stocks consist of between seven and eight million new tires. On a basis of annual production of 48,000,000 in this country, that's about two months' supply. The stock of retreads and rebuilt tires is an unknown quantity, but government guessers think it can't possibly be greater than the new tire stock pile. It is thought certain here that when rationing gets under way, the retreads and the use of rubber for retreading also will come under government bans.

This doesn't mean that under rationing, anyone can get tires in the next few months. This possible four months' supply may have to do for a year or more. John Q. Public may learn what it means to do without his full quota of transportation even before he feels the pinch of that staggering new income tax. And that is hardly more than weeks away.

CAVIAR SOURCE AIDED BY DAM

Astoria, Ore. (UP)—Lake Bonneville, formed by the backwaters above Bonneville dam, may become a huge "caviar bowl" in the judgment of veteran fishermen.

White sturgeon, the source of domestic caviar, were facing extinction in the Columbia river, as a result of unrestricted fishing, but now they have been discovered in large numbers in Lake Bonneville. With proper sanctuary there is no apparent reason why they should not thrive again here.

Before the beginning of the 20th century white sturgeon were virtually destroyed in the Columbia by intensive fishing that produced a catch of 5,000,000 pounds yearly.

The killing off of thousands of undersized sturgeon caught in gill nets, seines, traps and wheels by commercial fishermen, despite the fact that the taking of small sturgeon has been prohibited for several years, has diminished the 1941 catch to less than 40,000 pounds.
