MARY STANCLIFFE RITES ON TUESDAY

Miss Mary Ellen Stancliffe passed away suddenly at the home of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Adams, Jr., in Sunland, Calif., January 7. Miss Stancliffe had left Phoenix, Oregon December 2 to spend the winter months with her relatives.

Mary Ellen Stancliffe was born in Frankfort, Marshall county Kansas, November 9, 1873. She left Kansas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stancliffe in July, 1874 and came to Phoenix, Ore., in September, 1874. Miss Stancliffe has resided in Phoenix most of her life.

Mary Stancliffe was the first floor lady in the commercial pear packing industry in the Rogue River valley. She continued in this work and later conducted a pear packing school for several years. Miss Stancliffe has long been a member of the Phoenix Presbyterian church.

She is survived by two brothers, Luther E. Stancliffe of Mount Vernon, Washington and Bert Stancliffe of Phoenix, Ore. Funeral services will be conducted from the Perli funeral home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. T. O. Saterfield, pastor of the Church of God officiating. Interment will take place in the Phoenix cemetery. Pallbearers will be: Lloyd Culver, Robert Furry, Douglas Stedman, Louis Colver, Thomas Williams and Ralph Wilcox.

TIME SAVER London (U.P.)—Told that it would take three months to get parts to repair his watch, a Londoner gave the watch to a friend in the Atlantic ferry service and got it back running perfectly in three weeks. The friend had it repaired in America and flew it back on his next trip.

CHIANG OFFENSES WIN SUCCESS ON FOUR FRONTS

Chungking, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A new-found offensive power of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces has greeted successes from drives against the Japanese on four widely separated fronts, a communique announced today.

On one front, the announcement said, two villages have been captured in a new offensive which apparently endangered the entire position of the Japanese forces along the Lungshai railroad south of the Yellow river.

Chinese attention continued to be centered, however, upon their third great victory at Changsha in Hunan province, where the communique said the Japanese were fleeing northward "in great confusion" after suffering 8,000 more casualties and losing 1,000 prisoners.

The Japanese force of approximately 100,000 which had set out from its bases around Tungting lake in a third determined effort to take and hold the Hunan capital and rice market, was "finally engaged" on the line of retreat and completely smashed, the Chinese said.

Chinese estimates placed the losses of this force at no less than 45,000 men.

The Japanese encountered disaster when they were trapped at Fulung, 35 miles northeast of Changsha and subjected to a pounding from Chinese artillery such as no Japanese force has faced in four years and a half of war, it was said. This attack raged for 24 hours last Friday, the communique said.

Among the prisoners captured, the communique added, were officers wearing Chinese civilian clothes. Approximately 350 miles north of this battlefield the Chinese reported the storming of more than five villages, Luyl and four villages about Hwaiyang, in a northward thrust which evidently endangered positions of embattled Japanese who are still trying to take the junction of the Lungshai and Peiping-Hankow railways at Chengchow, just south of the Yellow river in Honan province.

CALMNESS OVER FOOD SUPPLY HIT BY SECY. WICKARD

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Declaring the war was placing new, unexpected and as yet unmeasurable demands upon this country for food, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today cautioned Americans against being excessively concerned about prices and too complacent about supplies.

Emphasizing that he did not wish to alarm consumers, Wickard said they should nevertheless recognize now that events since Pearl Harbor had greatly altered the food situation. Before Japan struck, demands were limited mostly to this country and Great Britain. Supplies and production prospects appeared ample then.

"But today no one can tell," the secretary said, "what the demands upon us may be before the war is won. We may be called upon to furnish vast supplies to allied fighting forces and peoples all over the world. We may want to send huge quantities of food as well as munitions to the conquered peoples at the proper time so that they might help defeat the dictators."

"In view of this prospect, I am concerned," Wickard said, "that the American people are more concerned about prices than the possibility that, in the future, demands might outstrip supplies."

AXIS FUEL RUNS SHORT IN LIBYA; U-BOATS SHIFTED

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 12.—(AP)—With the axis' African corps reported running short of fuel, the British middle east command declared today it was maintaining its pressure on the retreating Germans and Italians in the El Aghelia area despite bad weather.

The British said their planes in particular carried out most effective attacks on enemy supply columns and motor transport. In the Halfaya-Salum area of the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, where an isolated axis garrison is defying British attacks, the British said their troops captured about 100 German and Italian prisoners yesterday.

They added the operations against that outpost were "proceeding methodically." The North African army of General Erwin Rommel was falling back slowly from Agadabia with British mobile forces lashing at its stubbornly resisting rear guard, it was reported.

Bomb hits were made on the mole at Tripoli and on stores and dumps at Ruerat el Haun and Sirte, an RAF communique said. Free French airmen joined in bombing gun emplacements and dugouts at Halfaya.

British military quarters said an order found on a German prisoner—one of 26,000 axis troops reported captured thus far in the Libyan campaign—disclosed that Rommel's men had been directed to conserve fuel because of the difficulty of replenishing their dwindling supplies.

"Owing to the great expenditure of fuel on the eastern front the fuel situation of the reich is extremely stringent," the order said.

Discovery of the order coincided with a statement by Rear Admiral Henry Bernard Rawlings, commander of a British destroyer squadron, that German submarines were being shifted from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean in an effort to halt the destruction of axis supply ships bound for Libya.

GIRL'S FAST TALK FRIGHTENS THUG

Ogden, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A pistol toter confronted Mrs. Edwin Stratford, daughter of Ogden Police Chief Trial C. Moore, as he answered a knock at the door. There followed this Q. and A.:

"Is your husband home?" "Yes!" "Has he a gun?" "Yes, and here he comes." The gunman fled without waiting to see.

BUILDING BODIES In the building of bodies the first essential is the building materials. Of these materials foods should head the list. We can no more build normal bodies without the adequate supply of proper materials as furnished by foods, than can a contractor build a structure that will endure without the proper kinds and quantities of materials. Water is also essential in body building. As the body is 75% water how can it function normally without an adequate supply of moisture? At least six to eight glasses should be supplied daily. Sunshine is important because of its vitalizing influence. And fresh air is a factor not to be overlooked as its oxidizing influence is necessary. Without these essentials strong bodies cannot be built. But even these essentials, in order to build strong healthy bodies must be subjected to a normal circulation under the influence of normal nerve function.

MEDICAL COURSE CUT TO PROVIDE DOCTOR INCREASE

Portland, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The University of Oregon medical school studied plans today to cut its regular course from four to three years in order to provide a greater number of doctors for wartime needs.

David W. E. Baird, associate dean, said one of the toughest problems was that of the student dependent upon what he earned in the summer vacation for his tuition.

Under the plan inaugurated by 76 recognized medical schools, courses will be put on a 12-month basis. Dean Baird said federal assistance for students might be the answer.

He predicted that the nationwide move would provide an estimated 5,000 more doctors in the next three years than heretofore.

"There will be no reduction in the standards of instruction or the content of the medical course," he added.

MRS. ADA PORTER TO LAST REWARD

Mrs. Ada Porter died in a local hospital this morning after a long illness. She was 80 years old. Widow of the late L. G. Porter and member of an old Jackson county family, Mrs. Porter made her home with a daughter, Mrs. J. L. Helms of Grants Pass. Mrs. Porter was the mother also of George W. Porter, former mayor of Medford, G. F. Porter of Corvallis and Harry Porter of Las Vegas, Nev. She is survived also by a sister, Mrs. M. M. Childs, Medford.

A complete obituary was being prepared today. Funeral arrangements were to be made by Perli's.
