DEFENSE COUNCIL SETUP EXPLAINED; PUBLIC AID ASKED

All Citizens Owe Fullest Cooperation in Program Of Safety, Heads Assert.

The Jackson County Council of Defense, after establishing central headquarters at the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, today issued the following statement:

"It is a fact that the war we are now in includes the civilian population to the greatest extent ever known in history. In fact the civilian population has had to bear the hardest blows given by both sides of the conflict.

"It has been proved by experience that the civilian population must be trained in all phases of its own protection or it will pay a horrible penalty in the destruction of life and property.

Common Sense
"That we should prepare to meet this onslaught is but practicing common sense. Explosive or incendiary bombs have no respect for young or old, political or religious identities. The rank and file of civilians saved England. We can do no less by training and self-discipline. For months hundreds of our citizens have been organizing and training themselves to help all citizens to be prepared for their own protection.

"Briefly the Jackson County Council of Civil Defense is constituted as follows:
"Planning committee, County Judge J. B. Coleman, Mayor H. S. Deuel, Glenn Jackson, Jackson county president of the chamber of commerce, Chairman of the defense council, S. M. Tuttle; vice chairman, J. C. Boyle, who also is chief of the utilities division, including communication, transportation, and utility protection.

"Dr. L. D. Inskeep, chief of the medical division which includes all local doctors in the county, registered nurses, hospitals and casualty stations located at different points in the county. This group, in conjunction with the Red Cross, is instructing nurses aid, first aid instructors, and first aid assistants.

Raid Protection
"J. C. Collins, chief of the necessity, housing and evacuation division. This organization is set up ready to function in conjunction with and under the supervision of the Red Cross in case of disaster.

"Lloyd Williamson, chief of the civilian protection division, including air raid precaution warden in each precinct of Jackson county. The air raid precaution work includes direction of the public in blackouts and disaster, the instruction of precinct groups and individual citizens in protection against incendiary bombs and the listing for evacuation of persons unable to assist themselves, such as the aged, very young and crippled. The aircraft warning observation posts come under this division, many of which are located at strategic points throughout Jackson county. It requires approximately 40 persons to man observation posts as they are on the alert 24 hours a day. The observation posts are directed by the command of the second interceptor group of the U. S. army air corps. The observers report to and are in direct communication with the interceptor commands along the entire Washington and Oregon coasts.

To Be Prepared
"Frank Hull, coordinator for the Jackson County Council of Defense from the Oregon State Council of Civil Defense.

"These men are all volunteers and it is their job in their respective divisions to see that all of the citizens are trained, advised and prepared as efficiently as possible to meet any emergency. You, Mr. Citizen, owe the fullest cooperation in carrying out these plans for protection for yourself and all other citizens."

Speed Up Ship Construction

LA GUARDIA WILL SOON PICK WHAT TASK HE'LL KEEP

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Fiorello H. La Guardia said today he soon would have to decide whether he would continue as mayor of New York and as civilian defense director.

La Guardia told a house committee that he wanted to stay on as a defense chieftain until congress finally passed a bill authorizing appropriations for the work and another bill, still in the making, to provide for compensation for civilian defense workers injured at their tasks.

"Then," he said, "I will either have to give up the job of mayor of the city of New York and take the civilian defense job, or I can give up the OCD and go back to New York and mind my own business and criticize what is going on in Washington, or I can do what I did in the last war, if I could get by."

The mayor was an air corps major in the last war.

The committee is considering how best to protect health and to maintain morale in the country.

BOY SCOUT PAPER COLLECTING GOOD

The collection of waste paper in and around Medford got off to a good start last Saturday and Boy Scouts scoured the city for scrap paper. The job was a big one and not every home was reached, but the campaign will continue for a long time to come and gradually methods of more efficiently covering every home will be developed.

Persons living on ranches where they cannot be reached by Scouts may bring their paper direct to the Boy Scout office, 500 East Main street, and it will be included in that salvaged by some Scout troop. Many persons have already done this. As one Boy Scout said Saturday, "Gee, it sure is swell when people
