The Grange Eagle Point Grange We are going through our files searching for recipes for fat pies to serve the public at our turkey dinner January 25 from 12:30 to 4 o'clock. A nominal charge will be made. The lecturer has called for an impromptu program at our next meeting. Griffin Creek Grange New officers for the year took their stations at the last meeting. Retiring Master Roy Le Vander was presented with a beautiful pin in appreciation of his fine services rendered during the past two years. He gave a short talk asking all committee to cooperate with the new master, Clyde Sturgill, to try to make this grange bigger and better in every way. Lecturer Myrtle Wilson asked everyone to come out to Red Cross first aid meetings held each Wednesday night at the Grange hall. H. E. C. ladies met at tea hall for luncheon served by Winnie Brown, Ethel Gutches, Maud Arnold and Rose Lofland. New officers took their places for the year and plans were laid for a very important year's work. Thank you gifts were exchanged by Polyannas.

Next meeting of grange will be held Tuesday, Jan. 20. Members should start the year by attending meetings more regularly.

Pomona Grange The Jackson County Pomona Grange will meet at 10 a. m. Saturday, Jan. 24, with the Gold Hill Grange. This is an important business meeting, and while farmers are not so busy at this time of year, there should be a good attendance.

Communications The enclosed editorial from the Gold Hill News presents an angle to the cantonment which should be presented to the general public. Not wishing to question the patriotism of Medford business men, who have everything to gain and nothing to lose, we wonder how many have that about we ranchers who are being asked for our homes.

Since Pearl Harbor, no one begrudges a sacrifice, but why cannot we be shown some consideration? From early spring

Russia's Terrible Winter Now Approaching Peak, Is Greatest Aid To Allies

By DeWitt MacKenzie (Wide World War Analyst)

The brightest spot for the allies today rests not in feats of arms but in a little one-sentence news dispatch brought by the Associated Press from the temporary Soviet capital of Kuibyshev to say that "the Russian winter is approaching its peak period with temperatures of more than 25 degrees below zero Fahrenheit."

In other words the fierce cold which for weeks has been playing havoc in Herr Hitler's ranks is only now really hitting its pace. Note that it hasn't yet reached its peak, and there will be plenty more of it before spring.

The Russians are prepared for this, both in the matter of clothing and of fighting equipment. The Germans haven't even warm clothing to protect them. Not only are large numbers of Nazi troops being frozen to death, but it is said that trains are loaded with men being rushed back for hospital treatment of the terrible frost bite which produces the dread gangrene.

Whatever may be the feeling at seeing an enemy freeze to death, we certainly can't disavow a great ally like a Communist winter which is having such a devastating effect on Nazi forces. Whether the Russians will be able to take full advantage of this is problematical, for it is a titanic task to conduct an offensive in sub-zero weather through the drifted snows of the blizzard-swept steppes. Spring To Show Cost To Germany We shall have to wait for spring to reveal just how much Hitler's great gamble has cost him. Reuters (British news agency) today estimates that the Nazis have lost 2,000,000 men killed, wounded, missing and captured in the Russian campaign. This is one-third the number of German losses estimated by Pravda, Communist party organ, just over a month ago. Whatever the figures actually may be, they undoubtedly are very terrible, and these men can't be immediately replaced, for they represent the cream of Hitler's armies.

Meanwhile the Russians today are reported to be squeezing tighter to cut off the salient which the Germans have been holding desperately at Mzhaisk, a little southwest of Moscow. If the Bolsheviks succeed in closing this trap and annihilating the enemy, they will have wiped out the last of the strong positions which might be a grave threat against the capital in the spring. Moreover, the capture of Mzhaisk would render the fighting line fluid and assist the Reds in their effort to roll the invaders back.

Whatsoever may be the feeling at seeing an enemy freeze to death, we certainly can't disavow a great ally like a Communist winter which is having such a devastating effect on Nazi forces. Whether the Russians will be able to take full of 1941 it was held over us. You may have to move any time." Consequently, a year's production was lost. Now, we come to planting time for 1942 and with the government yelling for more production of food, what incentive do we have? Just the same old soup "You may have to move any time." It's getting tiresome, and would seem the least of Ben Toldi's official (not a lot of Ben Toldi) announcement so the ranchers could make their plans accordingly. Even the Chamber of Commerce should realize a rancher has more than a suitcase and a radio to find a new parking place for when he is ordered to get out.

RUTH M. ELLIS, Gold Hill.

The newspaper clipping follows:

The Cantonment Who Gets the Benefit?

Practically every newspaper in this section of the state near enough to Jackson county's cantonment site, announced the definite decision of the government to go ahead with the building. Along with the news stories various opinions from editorial pens as to the benefits etc. were expressed.

The writer believes that one of our readers expressed a good working plan when he said that "home men" should be given first opportunity to work on the government project. We, all over Jackson county, are making preparation to care for the influx of transients but giving little attention to making sure that the thousands of our own people are assured of work. We have "indexed" every available home and living quarters but little has been said about labor. It is not reasonable to expect that Jackson county working men will continue to wade mud half knee deep and prune in the orchards while the transients from California to Maine draw fat pay checks on the government project. While we are preparing to entertain strangers let's not forget to lend a hand to our next door neighbors.

There are great sacrifices being made by some of the residents of the cantonment area. People who have worked for years to acquire a home, many of them now past middle age, are being "rooted up" and forced to move. The places are being acquired, as far as it is possible to learn, at a very nominal figure, whereas other property in this area is advancing in price. In most cases the man who is forced to move will find his funds insufficient to purchase another home. Will transient men benefit or will thousands of dollars of construction funds remain largely at home? We are made to wonder sometimes if our home supported institutions will benefit or suffer because of the government project.

Condemns Irish Attitude To the editor:

Your editorial in the paper of the 12th was a gratification to me for I have for months been telling my friends what a contemptible action the Irish under De Valera have been following in denying the British the use of their island against the Nazi gangsters.

Your editorial is the first printed version of this angle that has come to my attention and I salute you for placing the thought before your readers.

Of course I read the Mail
