HIGHLIGHTS in the Pacific war:

The Japanese are attacking IN FORCE the New Guinea approaches to Australia. They already HOLD the other approaches.

In Tokyo, a government spokesman warns Australia to yield without a fight or "suffer the same fate that has befallen Singapore and Java." He adds: "They (the Australians) should see the handwriting on the wall."

London "authoritative quarters" assert that the strength of the Jap main fleet has not been impaired by Japan's "far-flung sweeps of conquest" and adds that Japan can now be expected to lash out in three directions—ACROSS the Bay of Bengal, to Australia, and EVEN FARTHER EAST toward the Fiji islands.

A CONSIDERABLE school of thought in this country holds that Japan will be content (temporarily, at least) with what she has already seized.

But remember: A VERY CONSIDERABLE school of thought in this country held that Japan wouldn't go to war at all.

We know better now.

At this point, get out your map (or, better, your globe.) Take a look at the empire Japan has already overrun—coastal China, French Indo-China, Thailand, Malaya, lower Burma, the East Indies, the Philippines (all but Bataan).

Recall the SPEED and EASE with which she has accomplished all this.

Then look at Australia, with only seven million inhabitants, industrially weak and FAR REMOVED from American and British help.

Look at India—ripe, internally rotten and ready for plucking by a strong and bold hand. Remember that India has been the ultimate goal of all world conquerors since Alexander.

THEN take another look at Japan—ruled by an insanely ambitious military clique that for 20 years has been preparing for the conquest of ALL ASIA.

Remember that since history began conquest has roused hunger for MORE CONQUEST.

Recall that as long as a year ago Japan announced to the world her intention to take over the whole South Pacific—and we laughed, and said: "Oh, yeah?"

THEN ask yourself this question:

IS IT SAFE to believe that Japan will settle down quietly to exploitation and development of the area she has already seized?

NOW turn your eyes homeward.

Last night in a radio address to the country Donald Nelson, director of war production, said:

"Our war industries are operating at only HALF CAPACITY though we are face to face with an enemy DETERMINED TO DESTROY US."

Then remember the fate of France, whose factories operated at half capacity while the Germans were massing for attack.

At this point, you will probably be inclined to say: "It looks like a terrible mess, but WHAT CAN I DO?"

This is the answer: You can write to your congressman and your senators, saying (in your own words): "I want all-out war production—ONE HUNDRED PER CENT, not 50 per cent."

"I don't want to go the way of France."

"Congress, IF IT WILL, can COMPEL all-out war production."

"If you aren't willing to do your part, I'll vote for someone who is."

If you and enough millions like you will do that, and make it plain that you MEAN BUSINESS, the government (made up of politicians) at Washington will quit playing penny ante politics and will get down to brass tacks.

Your vote puts the whip in your hands.

You'd better USE IT.

Young Piano Player
Tries Holdup Role;
Is Killed by Police

Malden, Mass., March 13.—(P)

An 18-year-old college student, son of a prominent physician, died this Friday the 13th of a bullet wound inflicted by police as he emerged from a drugstore that had been robbed of $13.

The youth, Louis B. Grandison, was identified at a hospital by his father, Dr. Louis J. Grandison, who was described by police as amazed to find his son involved.

Police Sergeant John J. Buckley said Special Officer William J. Butler fired the shot after watching the boy rob Joseph Epstein, proprietor of the Elmwood pharmacy, at gun point.

The youth, a freshman at Boston college and a graduate of Somerville high school, had been home during the evening, playing a piano.
