

Wallace Beery in "The Bugle Sounds" Opening at Craterian Today

Wallace Beery is definitely in his own territory as a tough top sergeant with a heart of gold in "The Bugle Sounds," opening a three day run today at the Craterian theatre.

Marjorie Main, who appeared with Beery in "Barnacle Bill" and "Wyoming," adds humor as the proprietress of a soldier's beany and Wally's "own true love."

The action is strictly authentic, filmed on maneuvers at Fort Lewis, Wash., and Fort Knox, Ky. Thousands of tanks, dive bombers, soldiers running, riding, crawling for cover, all add to the excitement.

The picture presents Beery as a veteran cavalry sergeant, thoroughly disgusted when horses are abandoned in favor of tanks. His objections amount to insubordination when a tank runs wild in flames, crashing through a stable to mortally injure his faithful horse. Although his colonel tries to pacify him, the sergeant balks until he is given a court's martial discharge.

From that point on, what with saboteurs, spies and what have you, the picture rushes to a climactic ending replete with thrills.

Lewis Stone is the colonel while George Bancroft, Donna Reed, William Lundigan, Henry O'Neill, Chill Wills and Guinn "Big Boy" Williams are also featured.
