

ELLSWORTH SEES BENEFITS IN NEW FOURTH DISTRICT

Now that the southern half of western Oregon has a congressional district of its own, in the newly created Fourth district, a more intimate contact with the federal government may be maintained. Harris Ellsworth, Republican candidate for congress from the new district said today. He is in Jackson county renewing friendships and meeting voters in the interest of his candidacy. The old first district, extending from the Washington state line to the California line and embracing all of the land in Oregon west of the Cascades with exception of Multnomah county, was too large for adequate representation by any one man. The new district, embracing ing only the seven southern counties, Linn, Lane, Douglas, Josephine, Jackson, Coos and Curry is an area wherein the problems of the people of the entire district are similar and it is small enough so that a representative can actually have intimate knowledge of it all, Ellsworth pointed out.

"I realize" Ellsworth stated, "that the first matter of importance in this country is to win the war. We must have production on the home front before we can win on the battle front. However, it is a fact that development of the resources of the fourth district, notably minerals and timber, will not only benefit our civilian population but will in itself be a substantial contribution toward the war effort."

Harris Ellsworth lives in Roseburg where he is editor and manager of the Roseburg News-Review. Ellsworth also is state senator from Douglas county having been appointed to that position near the close of the 1941 session of the legislature.

will present a three-act farce "Spring Fever," Friday, at 8 p.m.

Because of its human qualities the play has become one of the most popular senior plays of the country. The cast includes Anthony Klimek, a senior at Brookfield College; Bob Marquess, a chemistry student; Bill Slack, an art student; LaVelle Mason, a journalism student; Lorna Hayman, the well-meaning landlady; Almene Dobbins, Howard's heart-interest; Pat Hane, a pretty co-ed; Davis Young, a rich business man; Barbara Terrill, his wife; Virginia Garvin, the vivacious spinster; Willis Cole, the "buggie" zoology professor; and Alvin Fenton plays the part of the college president.

Mrs. Marjorie Votaw is director of the production.

G. P. SEA SCOUTS WIN RECOGNITION

Sea Scouts of Grants Pass received high recognition today according to K. A. Wells, local boy scout executive. The ship which is made up of senior scouts is under leadership of Ralph Thompson and has received recognition as a member of the regional sea scout flotilla.

"This means," said Wells, "that the Sea Scout Ship Rogue of Grants Pass is one of nine Sea Scout groups out of 98 in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana to receive this recognition." The rating is based upon the total accomplishments of the group for the year 1941 and is granted by the national Boy Scout organization. The only higher rating in Sea Scouting is that of National Flagship awarded annually to a very limited number of groups.

This is the first time that this honor has come to a group of sea scouts anywhere in southern Oregon. Assisting Ralph Thompson as skipper of the ship are Bob Manchel, Max Cain, and Francis Bormuth as mates.
