

TARZAN JUNIOR TO VISIT MEDFORD IN BOND SALE DRIVE

Young M-G-M Player Coming Saturday With Grim-Looking 13-Ton Tank.

Medford's movie houses will swing into line this week with the nation-wide campaign just inaugurated to sell war stamps and bonds through the theaters.

The first film player to appear here in connection with the drive will be handsome curly-headed Johnny Sheffield, who, when he's not helping sell war bonds and stamps for Uncle Sam, is playing the role of "Tarzan, Jr." as the son of "Tarzan" Johnny Weissmuller. He will arrive next Saturday as head of the U. S. Treasury's War Savings Staff's "Buy Tanks For Yanks" National Tour.

THIS Johnny Has Got HIS Gun

WHEN JOHNNY gets his gun, he puts the nation's needs first. His personal interests he parks for the duration. Standard has been imitating Johnny — so wholeheartedly that the War Production Board now sponsors an identical policy for all U. S. soldiers.

We, too, have parked our peacetime interests. Our nation has been attacked, and this Company is for fighting back with everything we've got. Our aim now is to produce, produce, produce — full-throttle, and under our own man-power. For Uncle Sam needs all the man-power there is.

We're studying every Standard job. Will it help win the war? Does it link oil-field and battle-field? As our men leave war-essential jobs for the colors, we'll find replacements—within our own organization. Jobs not essential to the war will be left vacant for the duration.

Johnny will give the high-pitched Tarzan yell which millions of movie-goers have come to know through the Tarzan series of movies, and deliver a talk on "Boy's Place in America."

The colorful tour is being sponsored by the War Savings Staff of the U. S. Treasury in conjunction with M-G-M and the idea was created by Howard Dietz, M-G-M vice-president in charge of advertising and publicity. Supervising the itinerary are W. R. Ferguson, M-G-M director of exploitation, and Carlton Duffus, chief, motion pictures and special events, U. S. Treasury.
