UPSETTING NEWS OVER FAIR OKAY FELT IN OREGON

High Officials Conflict-Many Events Cancelled -Round-up in Doubt.

Portland, June 20—(P)—Of-ficials of the few Oregon fairs still on this year's calendar were caught today between con-flicting government viewpoints, and most farmers allowed any exhibition of their prized pro-ducts probably will be on pan-try shelves and in the fields.

Latest upsetting news came from Joseph B. Eastman, de fense transportation chief, who suggested that all fairs be called off for the duration. His statement came after Sec retary of Agriculture Claude Wickard urged fairs be contin ued as a morale booster.

Another consideration was the army's earlier order banning ing views, many Oregon fairs and traditional summer events have been cancelled. Others, still hopeful, are uncertain whether to go ahead with plans or not.

Oregons' No. 1 event—the state fair—already had been streamlined to a state 4-H club show and a regional Willamette valley fair. Now, even that is doubtful.

Also in the halance is the fate.

Also in the balance is the fate of Pendleton's famed round-up which has asked the army for a go-shead but as yet has received no reply. Cancelled are the Astoria regatta and Salmon derby by navy request, the Molalla buckeroo and Klamath Fall's buckeroo

However, both the Baker radio and the St. Paul rodeo radio and the St. Paul rodeo have announced army approval. Klamath Falls scheduled an amateur horse show as a reduced substitute for the regular event but reports today were to the effect that the horse show's size may approach that of the cancelled buckeroo days.

RUBBER HARVEST NEARLY 100 TONS

Collections of scrap rubber in Jackson county neared the 100-ton mark Friday night, with 91,423 pounds being turned in to bervice stations that day to bring the total amount thus far collected to 197,227 pounds. Col-lection figures for Saturday were not available last night, but it was believed certain the stock pile would rocket to consider-ably more than 100 tons.

Boy Scouts made a house-to house canvass yesterday collect ing small, worn-out rubber articles, and reported that citizens were responding in excellent fashion. The drive, which is nation-wide, will end June 30.

"First of all, I tell them that they can help me most during these war days by advertising . . . and advertising consistently and regularly, not in fits and starts. And the advertising ought to reach all my customers and prospects. This, of course, means newspaper advertising."

"Next, I remind them that what I need is advertising that goes to work right here in this town, and in my own neighborhood ... advertising that is keyed to local conditions, and tells people that they can buy the product at my store. You can't beat the home-town newspaper for that kind of advertising."

"I tell them, too, that I like to tie in my ads with the manufacturer's. This helps us both a lot . . . not only for special sales, but for normal, day-by-day selling. Of course there's only one place where we can work together this way . . . and that's the local paper."

"Finally, after giving my other reasons for wanting more newspaper advertising support from manufacturers, I clinch it all by pointing out that I use newspapers successfully for my own advertising . . . and what works so well for me is bound to work just as well for them."

Smart man, this retailer. He knows that he and the manufacturer are in business together to sell goods to people. And he knows that today especially, with the nation at war, manufacturers can produce more sales for their retailers... and themselves... by advertising in local newspapers.
