

DRAFTED MEN TO ENJOY FURLOUGH AFTER INDUCTION

The Selective Service boards of Jackson county have received information that effective July 1, inducted registrants who so desire will be given opportunity immediately following induction to return to their homes to arrange personal, financial and business affairs. This will be accomplished by release from active service and transfer to the enlisted reserve corps and subsequent recall to active service at a date approximately 14 days after induction, however, if an inducted registrant prefers to go immediately to the reception center he will not be released from active service but will be forwarded to the reception center at once.

Registrants who take advantage of returning to their homes for a period of 14 days will be allowed transportation and meals to the city in which the local board is located. At the same time he will receive an order recalling him to active service on a certain date and will report on that date to the Selective Service board where he will again receive transportation and meals to the reception center designated in the recall order. Any further information that the registrants may desire in this connection can be secured from the Selective Service boards at 210 Liberty building, Medford.

It Was a VERY Small Contribution

FIFTEEN years ago—when airfields consisted largely of gopher holes and imagination—Standard bought a plane and sent it on a tour of the West. In it, thousands of persons took their first trip aloft. That plane wore itself out air-conditioning Americans.

Had it ever landed wrong, the result would have been embarrassing—but definitely! For many and many a passenger frankly risked a flight because he had confidence in this Company rather than in airplanes. Even then, of course, Standard believed air travel safe—if properly supervised.

This activity naturally made patrons for the commercial air lines. These, in turn, have been responsible for much of the airplane development which now gives us assurance of air superiority in war. The peacetime growth of air travel, for instance, has been one motive for strides Standard itself has made in airplane fuel.

One plane may seem a very small thing. Well, the pudding in "A Christmas Carol" was a very small pudding—yet Tiny Tim and his friends have been able to share it with all the world. So we're proud of that old plane—long since in the junk heap—but still a symbol of why America is strong.

USO FUND DRIVE SHOWS RESULTS SAYS CHAIRMAN

Jackson county's part in the national United Service Organization drive to raise funds for the recreation of men in the armed forces is coming along rapidly, according to C. E. "Pop" Gates, who is heading the county campaign. He said today "we have no doubt as to its results." Ashland has completed their quota and it is anticipated that the remainder of the $7,000 goal for the county will be reached by July 1.

Many business concerns in Jackson county have taken over solicitation of their employees thus relieving the solicitors for other territories. Mr. Gates said that the rural areas are well organized with the granges participating in the volunteer work.

Mr. Gates asked today that women who could volunteer a little of their time make application at the chamber of commerce to assist in the drive. He said that although many women are working in other phases of defense activities even a day's help would prove valuable to the success of the drive. Members of the Medford Sojourner club are giving the drive excellent support, he said, many of their members soliciting throughout the city.

OREGON JAP NOW "LORD HEE HEE" OF TOKYO RADIO

Wide World Feature
Eugene, Ore.—There's an alumnus of the University of Oregon here of whom officials aren't the least bit proud.

They call him "Yoshi" the Yokel of Yokohama. "Also there are other names, unprintable for any occasion."

The university rolls show that Charles Hisao Yoshi graduated in 1934. He went to Japan shortly thereafter and enrolled in the Tokyo Imperial university as a graduate student. After months of diligent study, he was sufficiently steeped in Japanese nationalism to be declared a "success as a radio announcer."

Now this "Lord Hee Hee of

Commander

Col. Caleb C. Haynes (above), holder of the distinguished flying cross, was named chief of the U. S. bomber command in China. He was decorated in 1939 for his mercy flight to China with medicinal supplies for earthquake survivors. This picture was made on his return to Miami.

"Japan" is the English voice on the regular Japanese overseas programs heard nightly on the Pacific Coast.

Apparently the Japanese like the traitorous utterances of this native of Banks, Oregon's strawberry-growing country. His work for the broadcasting corporation of Japan's foreign division earned him praise in 1938. The government's controlled Nichi Nichi wrote an extensive article praising his "fine work," an attached to him the name of "Japan's Radio Spokesman."

"It is imperative that a man speaking for the Japanese nation to the English speaking world have the perfect understanding and command of the English language and country of which Mr. Yoshi so possesses," wrote the newspaper.

The U. of Oregon alumni office hasn't forgotten that another alumnus, Yoseuke Matsuoka, ex-foreign minister of Japan, also has caused the university considerable embarrassment.

In 1937, the Portland unit of the U. of O. Alumni association decided that Matsuoka was "the alumnus of the year" and had a plaque made for him. An alumnus was sent to Tokyo for the presentation. He was royally feted, and next time Matsuoka came to Oregon, he made a speech at the university.

The distance between the lowest point yet plumb in the ocean and the highest mountain peak is about 64,000 feet—Mt. Everest, 29,000 feet, and the Pacific off Mindanao in the Philippines, 34,000 feet.
