

FUGITIVE FLIER GIVEN SYMPATHY OF ALIEN WOMAN

Hans Krug Like Hunted
Animal, Witness Testifies
In Trial of Stephan.

By Paul Chandler
Detroit, July 1.—(P)—Ober-leutnant Hans Peter Krug, the German luftwaffe officer who escaped from a Canadian prison camp, came to Detroit dirty, ragged, "like a hunted animal," and met Max Stephan, the German-born restaurant owner charged with committing treason for aiding Krug in his flight.
Such was the description given in federal court today by Mrs.
Margaretta Johanna Bertelmann, a German alien to whose apartment the Nazi fugitive first went for help after crossing the Detroit river in a rowboat April 18.
No charges have been placed against her.

Nervous and testifying in a high voice, Mrs. Bertelmann broke into sobs when she admitted that she was not a citizen of the United States and once had been called before the U. S. enemy alien hearing board.
"The doorbell rang that morning and when I answered there was a ragged stranger asking if I had any carpenter work he could do," Mrs. Bertelmann testified.

"He asked if he could have a drink. He said he was terribly thirsty. I invited him in and he talked in German and told me he had come from the Bowmanville (Ont.) camp."
"You mean you are a German prisoner, I asked."
"He said 'yes.' I felt faint.
"You shouldn't have come," I said—you can't stay here."

"And he just stood there looking at me—dirty, scared, and like a frightened animal." Mrs. Bertelmann said she then telephoned Stephan, who arrived at her house a few minutes later.

"Go out into the kitchen," I told Max," she continued. "Why you are shaking," he said:
"What's wrong?" There's a prisoner of war out there, I told him."

"When Stephan saw him he said 'Why don't you give up, you haven't got a chance?'"

Upon questioning by Judge Arthur Tuttle, Mrs. Bertelmann revealed that she had bought tobacco and knitted sweaters, scarfs, and socks and had been sending them to Ontario prison camps for many months. She said Krug had seen her name on these packages.

Krug himself returned to court today so that witnesses could identify him.

120,000 Mechanics Needed for War Job; Applicants Invited

As part of a national war program designed to train a needed 120,000 civilians as mechanics in the U. S. army air force, interviews and tests will be given all interested men and women at the senior high school between 2 and 5 and 7 and 10 p. m. today.

Lillian Van Loan, director of the Eugene Vocational school which is now training 500 mechanic-learners for the air corps, will conduct the interviews and examinations. Arriving today, she emphasized that both men and women, between 17 and 45, were eligible for the training courses, during which the trainees are paid $75 a month.
After successful completion of the courses, the mechanics are to be stationed at air depots with the opportunity of advancing to $2,900-a-year positions.

MERCURY CLIMBS TO 100.5 MONDAY

If you thought that Sunday was a sizzler with 95 degree maximum temperature wait till you hear Monday's tepid temperature report. The U. S. weather bureau at the Medford municipal airport stated that mercury bubbled at 100.5 degrees today before yesterday.
Low was 55 degrees.
And it hasn't been so cool today. But military censorship puts weather reports on ice for a while so just keep cool and all will be told—in time.

Portland, July 1.—(P)—A weather bureau announcement disclosed yesterday—if you didn't know it—that long-awaited summer temperatures arrived Monday. The maximum was 91 degrees in Portland.

Production at the Oregon Shipbuilding corporation slowed temporarily at mid-afternoon as steel plates became too hot to handle. There was no estimate of the temperature in the yards.

FIRES CONTROLLED

Sacramento, July 1.—(P)— Six grass and brush fires in northern and central California were reported under control today by the State Forestry Service after burning over more than 20,000 acres.

FATALLY GORED

Vale, Ore., July 1.—(P)—Fred Russell, one of the first ranchers to settle on the Vale irrigation project 10 years ago, was fatally gored by a bull on the Chadwick ranch near Ontario.
