

JACKSON COUNTY WILL EAT TURKEY ON BOND BUYING

June Total Wins Contest
With Multnomah County
—$321,000 Total.

It's "eat turkey" for the Jackson county bond sales committee as a result of winning the June contest in sale of war bonds and stamps from Multnomah county. W. A. Gates, county bond chairman, said today that congratulations had been received from Multnomah county conceding the June sales contest to determine the county showing the greatest percentage of increase in June sales over May sales.

Gates said today that the turkey dinner will be held some time in the near future when Larry Hilar, Multnomah county bond chairman, Ray Conway, state chairman of bond sales and Allan Rinehart, deputy administrator, can be in Medford. Under the agreement, it was explained, the losers were to eat crow.

Gates explained that Jackson county's increase for June over May was 165 per cent. A total of $321,000 in war bonds and stamps, was sold in the county during June with several series of bonds yet unreported from the Federal Reserve bank.

The sale of bonds for the first week in July would indicate that the residents of Jackson county are not letting down in their patriotic efforts, Gates reported. "With bad news coming from the battlefronts we must make a great effort to win the war and that can be done by larger purchase of war bonds and stamps."

How Berlin Camouflages Landmarks

This picture, appearing in a recent issue of "Yank", Army newspaper for enlisted men overseas, is described as showing how Berlin camouflages its landmarks, with huge colored nets spread over the big exposition halls of Kaiserdam, designed to trick allied airmen into believing they are flying over meadows. FOREST CLOSURE EFFECTIVE TODAY SAYS SUPERVISOR

(A detailed legal description of forest land closures and rules pertaining thereto appears on page 9 of this edition.)

Because of the added importance of timber resources for use in the war effort, plus the shortage of experienced men in protection forces, certain areas of the Rogue River National Forest will be closed to recreationists effective today, it was announced by Karl L. Janouch, forest supervisor.

Janouch explained two types of closures would be in effect. One embracing areas of high hazard for which permits to enter will be issued only to those persons who must enter in order to carry on their regular business, such as loggers, miners, residents and stockmen; the other type of closure to require only registration to allow entry to the areas for any purpose, including recreation.

Included in the areas of high hazard are all of the Applegate district and generally all other parts of the forest except that at the higher elevations along the Cascade Divide. Recreationists will not be allowed in these areas.

Open to recreationists with permits, however, will be the Mountain Lakes primitive area, Blue Canyon, Seven Lakes, Huckleberry mountain and the north, middle and south forks of the Rogue river. Neither type closure affects highways, main traveled country roads, nor forest camps adjacent to such roads, nor the shore and roads around Lake o' Woods, Fish lake and Rocky Point, all of which are open without restriction.

Janouch explained that other reasons for the closures were the necessity of conserving fires, which does away with such frequent patrols for discovering

POSTAL RATE HIKE IS FROWNED UPON

Washington, July 8—(P)—The house ways and means committee decided today to drop a once approved plan to raise $102,000,000 in additional revenue by increasing second and third-class postal rates and turned the question over to the house postoffice committee.

Members said that the reversal followed disclosure by postoffice department officials that they could not make effective before next January 1 new rates on those categories of mail which would make up a deficit estimated at $100,000,000.

The committee's decision reduced to $5,922,000,000 the new revenue the proposed bill would raise.

RATIONING BOARD MAKES NEW PLEA

Swamped with home canning sugar applications and lacking clerical help to get out the certificates in the volume required to keep pace with the demand, Executive Secretary Hobart Price of the Medford rationing board today issued another appeal for volunteer workers. There is no salary attached to the work, the satisfaction of knowing that a patriotic effort to help in the nation's emergency being the only compensation.

Several have volunteered their services and their help has been greatly appreciated, Price said, but many more typists are needed. There are plenty of desks and typewriters in the rationing board office on the top floor of the city hall and the secretary said volunteers would be welcome at any time after 9 a. m.
