

RUBBER SHORTAGE REVISES POLITICS

Jackson, Miss.—(U.P.)—The rubber shortage may bring back the old free-for-all political debate.

Because of slick automobile tires and prospects of extended gasoline rationing, one of Mississippi's five senatorial candidates already has suggested joint speaking engagements.

Roland Wall, former state WPA administrator and one aspirant to the position of the late Sen. Pat Harrison, wrote the other candidates that joint rallies would save cars, tires and gas of the politicians and the public.

Douglas Smith, local florist taking his first fling at public office, accepted Wall's proposal. The other candidates, Sen. Wall Doney, Rep. Ross Collins and attorney James O. Eastland, did not answer immediately.

QUININE SUB MAY BE GEORGIA BARK

Albany, Ga.—(U.P.)—A substitute for quinine may be found in an American shrub known as Georgia Bark.

Dr. James C. Andrews, of the department of biological chemistry of the University of North Carolina's school of medicine, has been experimenting with the medicinal properties of the plant.

Other scientists also are studying Georgia Bark, known botanically as Pinckneya pubes, and orders for as much as 100 pounds have been received by the department of agriculture. The bush, now in full bloom of pink and green, grows best in the damp wooded places between her and the Florida line.

State Fair Fate Waits Conference

Salem, July 10.—(P)—Director of Agriculture J. D. Mickie said today he would meet with Governor Sprague and 4-H club leaders early next week to decide whether to hold a 4-H club fair stock show early in September.

In spite of a statement received from Senator McNary today that all county and state fairs would be held as scheduled, Mickie said there probably won't be any Oregon State fair.

Pendleton, Ore., July 10.—(P)—Umatilla, Gilliam, Morrow and Grant counties were reported today to be facing the worst grasshopper plague in years, although crop damage has not yet become extensive.

Several stands of alfalfa and green wheat have been destroyed close to foothill regions from which the hoppers are working their way down toward valley lands.
