MODERN LIFE and the HEART
The fast pace of modern life is taking its toll. The rapid rise of deaths from heart disease is due, in part, to the fact, tense muscles and nerves which impede the flow of vital nerve energy to the heart. Normal nerve function permits a full expression of nerve energy to all vital organs. It makes possible the rebuilding and renewing of nerve cells. It affords a complete relaxation which is so essential to the overworked heart. Take care of your heart the natural way. Do this before it is too late.

On Vacation—Mrs. Gladys York of the county agent's office, and Miss Linnie Hanscom, chief deputy of the assessor's office are on their annual vacations.

Road Work Lags—Work on the county roads is being slowed by the labor shortage and inability to procure machinery replacements, according to the county court.

Legal Lull—The mid-summer lull now prevails in all county departments. Few legal papers are being filed with the county clerks, outside of routine matters.

First Aid Change—The first aid class of the USO Junior Hostesses will meet at St. Mark's parish house, corner Oakdale and Fifth street, tonight at 7:15 o'clock, instead of at the Girls' Community club as originally scheduled.

Pedersen Graduates—Private Willard W. Pedersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Pedersen, Route 4, was graduated recently from the Chanute Field school of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command, according to report from Chanute Field, Ill., headquarters. While at the field he has undergone training in various technical operations vital to the maintenance of the country's fighting planes.

PORTLAND SEES HOUSING BREAK

Portland, Ore., July 20.—(P)—A break in the housing bottleneck here and at Vancouver, Wash., was seen today following announcement by Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery, maritime commission vice-chairman, that the commission would take charge of construction.

Carl W. Fleischer, western regional director for the commission, said a survey of the housing situation on the west coast was underway and that tentative plans had been made for construction of an additional 6000 housing units in Portland and 2000 in Vancouver, bringing the totals in the two cities to 11,500 and 13,500 respectively.

FRIENDLY TUSSELE FATAL
Vallejo, Calif., July 20.—(P)—A friendly tussle over a shotgun ended in the deaths of two men early today. Police Sergeant John Coronado said the victims were Carl Stanley Rader, 38, and Ray Hugh Grennan, 28, both Mare Island electricians.

"SCRIPT" PUBLISHER DIES
Santa Barbara, Calif., July 20.—(P)—Bob Wagner, 69, artist, writer and publisher of Script, fortnightly theatrical magazine, died today as he prepared to return to his home in Beverly Hills for a week-end trip here. A heart attack was believed responsible.

One hundred years of controversy were required to settle a dispute caused by a shifting river course.

Protest Girdles

Screen Actress Leslie Brooks (above), former model, was cited as Exhibit A by the California Models Guild in passing a resolution condemning the issuance of two girdles apiece as regular equipment to members of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps. The Hollywood group said proper exercise and diet would give WAAC women hip lines like those of Miss Brooks.

KISKA MAY EARN HISTORY SPOT AS END OF JAP HOPE

Dogged Assembly In Dreary Northland Base Given Little Hope For Success.

By Keith Wheeler
(Copyright, 1942, Chicago Times, Inc.)

At Sea With the Pacific Fleet, (Delayed) — Kiska harbor may earn a place in history as the dreariest tomb ever to receive the corpse of an invader's hope to conquer the world.

It may be that Honshu's hopeful little men have chosen the foggy bay under the black peaks of Kiska's hills to launch their last serious attempt to invade and conquer the United States.

It now seems more likely they have chosen a place to die. Midway was their first choice and they failed there. Now, despite repetitious punishment by American bombers they are doggedly assembling in Kiska. If they fail here they may not have strength to try again.

Many Ships Lost
Already the emperor's high-powered ships are going down at their moorings, victims of bombs falling day and night from big brown and gray planes running a shuttle service of destruction along the Aleutian chain.

The big PBV Catalina flying boats first located the Japanese in Kiska harbor June 10. They had moved in during a stormy week and had captured or otherwise disposed of 10 American weather observers stationed there.

The battle began June 11 when the first flights of navy Catalinas and army Fortress and B-24 Liberators began freighting bombs to Kiska.

The weather at Kiska that day was better than usual—cloudy and overcast with only ravellings of fog blanketing out stretches of sea and land below. The aerographer looked it over and charitably called it a high pressure area. "Ideal for torpedoes," was his opinion.

Catalinas Strike
Singly and in flights of two or three, the workhorse Catalinas slid across the mile high peak of Kiska volcano and down on the ships in the harbor. That day one heavy cruiser, two light cruisers, a single destroyer and half a dozen transports lay anchored there.

Five Liberators launched the first concentrated attack. They came down to 1,800 feet where they could see to work. The Japs threw up an umbrella of anti-aircraft and one Liberator caught a chunk apparently in the bomb load. He was there in formation one second and the next he came apart in a searing blast that rocked the other planes. Then only a cloud of smoke and bits of debris tumbling earthward remained.

The remaining four planes revised their technique and climbed to 18,000 to drop their loads. They avenged their loss, for as they left, one heavy cruiser lay flaming in the harbor, hit squarely by heavy bombs.

Before the day was over the Catalinas made seven separate attacks.

One Catalina caught a submarine on the surface enroute. Before the sub could rig for diving the Cat was on it with a load of heavy bombs. The sub broke up and sank without firing a shot.

Many fibrous materials have at one time and another been considered as potential sources of paper pulp, but the only ones of commercial importance are wood, hemp, linen, jute, cotton and straw.

Thrilling Roles

Veronica Lake and Preston Foster join Laird Cregar and Alan Ladd to give Craterian Theatre fans their most thrilling entertainment in months and months. The foursome play in "This Gun for Hire," which plays through tomorrow night at the popular air-cooled theatre. Alan Ladd is the new-comer who, according to those who saw him yesterday, has the brightest future in Hollywood of any new star this year.

HEAT AT CAPITAL CAUSES TRAGEDY

Washington, July 20.—(P)—A young man identified by police as Edward F. Deenihan, 24, ran amok today, apparently crazed by excessive heat, to kill an elderly passerby and cut his sister and her husband.

Mrs. Mary Christiani, the sister, said her brother had become an anti-war fanatic about three months ago and his condition had become worse in the excessive heat. She said he was to have appeared before his draft board and had been repeating the biblical phrase "thou shalt not kill."

The dead man was identified as Joseph Lacoppidan, a 72-year-old former street car conductor who lived at the Little Sisters of the Poor home.

The Grange

Roxy Ann Grange

Roxy Ann Grange met Friday. Mrs. Dailey of Central Point was a welcome visitor. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitaker and Carl Quackenbush were obligated in third and fourth degrees.

"Telling the Truth," was given under "Education," by Mrs. Ira Luman.

Special meetings are scheduled July 31 and August 7. Details will be printed later.

The declaration of war, as printed by the Farm Journal and Farmer's Wife was read, and signed.

Bess Elliott was named Grange fire chief with Anna Roberts as 2nd chief. H. E. C. held an all-day meet Wednesday with a pot luck dinner at noon. Work was done to lessen the hazard of fire around the hall. A quilt was also lined and tied.

SABOTEUR DEFENSE TO START PRESENTATION

Washington, July 20.—(P)—The military commission trying the eight German saboteurs who landed from U-boats announced late today that the prosecution had completed its case at 2:36 p. m. and that the defense was expected to start introducing its evidence tomorrow morning. The life-or-death trial started July 8.

REVISE CEILING

Washington, July 20.—(P)—The office of price administration today revised the price ceiling scheduled on Douglas plywood to make it conform to the recent limitation order of the war production board specifying grades which may be produced.

SHIP LOSSES SCORE SHOVED TO 388 AS 3 MORE GO DOWN

2 American Vessels Among Day's Reports Of Torpedoes By Axis Subs.

By The Associated Press

Three more torpedo-sinkings, two of them United States vessels, were announced by the navy today (Mon) boosting to 388 the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of United Nations' and neutral merchant ship losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor.

In addition dispatches from a Yucatan port published in Mexico City told of the sinking in the Caribbean July 12 of the Panamanian freighter Tachira, with a loss of five of the 37 crew members. This sinking was not included in the tabulation pending further check.

A medium-sized United States merchantman went down off the northern coast of South America and a small American ship was torpedoed in the Atlantic several hundred miles off the east coast, survivors from both having been landed at east coast ports.

Swedish Ship Sunk
A medium-sized Swedish merchant ship was torpedoed 800 miles from the northern coast of South America. The ship and lifeboats were shelled but not one of the 42-man crew was lost.

Harold Dayse, of Baltimore, a negro messboy from the small American ship was given temporary sanctuary aboard the submarine which torpedoed his ship after he was carried away from a raft by heavy seas. After questioning by the sub commander, he was put aboard a raft and the U-boat disappeared. Thirty five of the 39-man crew were missing.

The torpedoing of the medium-sized American ship which took place June 29, killed four of the crewmen and left 27 others unaccounted for. Twenty-nine survivors were landed at an east coast port after four and a half days in lifeboats.

Woman Missing in Portland Suburb

Portland, July 20.—(P)—Searchers combed the wooded hills outside the northwest city limits of Portland today for Mrs. H. E. Kennedy, 67, missing since yesterday on a berry-picking expedition. Sheriff's deputies, state police and members of the veterans' guard and patrol formed searching parties at noon yesterday after Mrs. Kennedy failed to return to an automobile whence she, her 78-year-old husband and W. K. Platts started picking.

British Follow Up Sub Base Bombing

London, July 20.—(AP)—Many squadrons of British fighters swept over France this afternoon in swift follow up of an overnight bombing of the German submarine works at Vegesack.

Boston bombers also attacked a power station in northern France, it was said authoritatively.

LITTLE BOY FOUND TIED LIKE ANIMAL IN ATTIC OF HOME

Doctors And Nurses Strive To Save Starved Son Of W. Virginia Mountaineers

Parsons, W. Va., July 20.—(P)

Doctors and nurses sought today to save the ebbing life of a small boy who "acted just like a little scared animal" after he was found chained in the attic of his mountain home.

A physician reported the two and a half year-old child was in critical condition at a hospital, suffering from malnutrition and body sores, and expressed the belief the tot could not survive. However, he said the baby was taking a little nourishment and appeared "a little brighter."

State police corporal C. W. Busch said there was no indication how long the child, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lougery of Millersville, had been punished, or for what reason he was chained.

Rope Around Neck
The boy, weighing only 15 pounds, was found by state police and department of public assistance officials, with a large rope about his neck and shoulders.

Two other children in the family, an older girl and a year-old boy, were reported by the physician to be "perfectly normal" and apparently not mistreated.

Corp. Busch said the parents, both about 24 years old, had been arrested on a warrant charging cruelty and placed in the Parsons jail. He added that a hearing would be held before a justice of the peace here today or tomorrow.

Judge To Uphold Jap Regulations

Seattle, July 20.—(P)—Federal Judge Lloyd Black was expected today to rule soon that curfew and evacuation orders affecting Japanese and Japanese-Americans were constitutional.

Judge Black said Saturday he would so rule, unless convinced to the contrary, in the case of Gordon Kyoshi Hirabayashi, 24, Japanese-American University of Washington student who contested the orders.

LEGION BACKS PROPOSAL FOR REMOVAL OF JAPS

Sacramento, July 20.—(P)—The post war removal of all Japanese from the U. S. A proposal made by the native sons of the golden west, was endorsed by the sixth district of the American Legion.

At their convention here yesterday, 200 delegates also adopted a resolution demanding that congress pass a law making conscientious objection to armed service a felony and punishable as such.

CALL COORDINATORS

Salem, July 20.—(P)—Oregon county defense coordinators will meet here July 30 to present their problems to the state defense council, state civilian defense coordinator Jerrold Owen said today.
