

INTEREST GROWING IN ANNUAL FIEST OF VOTER LEAGUE

Wednesday Night Affair to Help Finance Lecture
Series—War Time Need Seen.

Interest is increasing this week in the preparations for the annual fiesta of the Jackson County League of Women which is to be given next Wednesday evening in the gardens of the Porter J. Neff home on Berkeley Way. Postponed from the preceding night due to a conflict with the lecture appearance here of I. J. Fisher, the fiesta is occupying the attention of a large number of the city's young women who are in charge of the program.

Proceeds from the annual event, always one of the most outstanding benefits of the year, are used by the league chiefly for the series of lectures which the organization brings to Medford each winter. During the past winter the group sponsored the appearance here of Dr. Donald M. Erb of the University of Oregon, Superintendent Wooley of the Boys' Training school, James R. Young, former newspaper correspondent in the Orient and others speaking on a variety of subjects.

Mrs. Leonard Carpenter, president of the group, pointed out today that the league is redoubling its efforts during the war period to keep the general public informed about governmental problems and stated that it is most important during war times for some organizations to be "wardens of thought." The league maintains a staff of trained workers in Washington, D. C., at all times and the local league contributes a substantial sum yearly to this office and to the state office.

SWEDE ANDERSON HURT IN SHIPYARD

Suffering a fractured skull, facial injuries and a broken right leg in an accident while working in a shipyard at Cordova, Alaska, almost six months ago, Harold (Swede) Anderson, former local fireman and Medford high football star, has been confined to his hospital bed since the mishap, his sister, Mrs. Ethel Florey, 439 North Front street, said today.

"Swede's" leg is still in a cast, which will be removed the latter part of this month, his sister said. She explained that three months after the accident the cast was removed, but that in turning over in bed the leg was broken again, necessitating the cast being put back on.

Soldiers Lampoon WAAC

The much publicized question of girdles for the WAAC draws fire in "Park Your Kahki," musical revue being given at Fort Stevens, Mass., by camp talent. Georgette Petrocy of Norwalk, Conn., is laced into his corset by John W. Hicher of Amherst, Mass., in one of shows skits about the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps.

Religious Services Sunday Morning at Camp George White

Major Edward A. Rein, camp chaplain of Camp White today announced the following schedule of Sunday church services at the camp.

Catholic mass will be held at 7 a. m. 8 a. m. and 9:30 a. m. by Chaplains Wright, Daly and Doran. The first two will be held in building T-40 and the third in T-3612.

Protestant service will be held at 9:30 a. m. in building T-3612 and will be conducted by Chaplains Johnson and Porter, also in bivouac area at 9 a. m. conducted by Chaplain Graeburn. General services will be conducted by Chaplains Bohmhoff and Van der Graff at 9 a. m. in building T-400.

The nation's auto "graveyards" are expected to yield 4,500,000 tons of scrap this year for the war effort. In May, 383,000 tons of scrap were shipped from wreckers' yards, which was 10 per cent more than April shipments and 100 per cent greater than the average monthly recovery during 1941.

TRUSTEE SOUGHT FOR WAR VICTIM

A petition for appointment of a trustee for the estate of Buron C. Kennedy, Rogue River district rancher, was filed in county court by his wife Lucille E. Kennedy yesterday. County Judge J. B. Coleman set August 10 for the hearing.

The petition sets forth Kennedy, an employee of the Contractors Pacific Navy Air Bases was on Wake Island last December 22, when that dot of land was attacked by the Japanese, and all American killed or made prisoners of war. The last letter from Kennedy was received November 28, and no word or inkling of his fate has since been received.

It is further stated Kennedy owns a 120 acre ranch near Rogue River, along with livestock, and the appointment of a competent person to run the place is needed. Harry Hill, Bren Starcher, and Rose Wolff are listed as suitable appraisers.

RUSSIAN PARTY STAGED BY USO IS BIG SUCCESS

Colorful Setting Provided
For Entertainment—
Many Aid in Numbers.

With two stages alternating in the spotlight, a simulated radio hookup between Medford and Moscow became the clever device for transporting the audience at the first big Allied Nations party staged by the U.S.O. entertainment department into the colorful atmosphere of Russian music, dance and drama. The party was held in K.P. hall.

More than 300 Camp White soldiers and U.S.O. volunteer workers enjoyed the party, one-third of whom appeared in costumes, ranging from peasant farmer garbs to those worn by the nobility in the Czarist regime.

Giant Russian figures, designed by Jack Moran for the occasion, formed a striking mural for the walls, whose alternate spaces were decorated with American, Russian and other allied nations flags.

DeSouza Emcee
Postmaster Frank DeSouza, who gave a brief introductory talk on Russia's part in the war, acted as master of ceremonies.

The program arranged and directed by Mary Greiner Kelly, Loretta Pruitt, and Penny Fontaine, included a Russian knife act by Paul Bulkin, a special song number, "the Volga Boatman", by Philip Henselman; Russian comic dance by Coleen Winterhalter and Kathleen Hammack, vocal numbers by Helen Webb; piano features by Ruth Fitch, Roger Wolf and Ina Pearl Lucas; accordion numbers by the Baldwin Roguettes and a demonstration of the Kolemke, popular Russian folk dance by soldiers and junior hostesses under direction of Penny Fontaine.

The Anton Tchekoff play, "A Marriage Proposal" was presented by "remote control" from Medford to Moscow, with Mary Kelly and Dorothy Pruitt acting as radio announcers in the respective cities. The audience suddenly witnessed by television a production in Moscow by the Campski Whitecovech Players. Included in the cast were Private John Romeo, Bill Willard, and Jean Stoddard, with John Reisacher, acting as Petrovitch, the Russian maestro of sound effects.

Pat Thompson and Mrs. C. M. Hurd, chairman of the U.S.O. canteen committee, assisted by Mesdames Flynn and Fuller, served Russian punch (fresh Oregon cherry juice). The decoration committee consisted of Wanda Burch, Toni Stephenson, Wana Buck, Bernice Scully and Juanita Edwards assisted by Franko Clare. Senior hostesses for the evening included Mesdames Watkins, Harper and Ulrich. Patron and patronesses for the evening were Rev. and Mrs. T. Kurtz. Junior hostesses clean-up committee consisted of Kay Conroy, Kay Ford, and Janet Mann.

Almus Pruitt and Bob Porter furnished the loud speaking system.

No Cellar For Quality

All quality is not sound. It can be good quality, indifferent quality or downright poor quality. Quality can sink as low as a boulder in a bed of quicksand. It's lowest level is determined by public gullibility and the adroitness of the salesman to palm off, "Something just as good as the Best" ...
