

Dim-Out Regulations Give Giants 1-1 Tie With Brooklyn Dodgers

FOUR 'BUM' RUNS IN TENTH INNING ERASED BY RULE

Crowd Boos Stalling Tactics of Both Clubs — Cards Lose to Cincinnati.

New York fans may never like "twi-night" baseball, but they are now ready to admit that the dimout plays no favorites.

Twice in two nights the struggles of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants have been prematurely ended by the army regulations which require that floodlights must be extinguished an hour after sundown.

Monday this rule helped beat the Giants 7-4 when darkness smothered a promising rally in the last half of the ninth inning — to the violent displeasure of a crowd of 57,305 fans assembled for the benefit of army relief.

Last night, however, the switching off of the Polo grounds lights erased a four-run tenth-inning outburst by the Dodgers and gave the Giants a 1-1 tie which the teams will play off September 6. This time the 15,000 fans accepted the incident without a demonstration, although they had booed time-killing maneuvers of the rivals throughout the game.

Kings-X Homer
The fans' loss was slight compared to that of Pee-wee Reese, the Dodgers' little shortstop, who hit a home run inside the park with the bases loaded to kayo Fiddler Bill McGee in the tenth with none out.

The Giants had little chance of getting a turn at bat anyway, and they made certain they would not by some dexterous stalling. Manager Mel Ott was slow in getting Relief Pitcher Ace Adams to the mound. Then Adams walked the first man he faced, made a wild pitch, got a batter on a fly and the game was over.

The playing time was two hours and 24 minutes, one minute less than the previous night.

Although the Dodgers didn't win, their National League lead was extended to 10 full games, their largest margin of the season, because the St. Louis Cardinals were set down 4-3 at Cincinnati.

The Pittsburgh Pirates captured a 2-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs on Frankie Gustine's only hit of the day, a single with two on in the 11th inning.

At Philadelphia Jim Tobin limited the Phils to five hits, but was beaten 4-2 because the only runs the Boston Braves scored were on Tobin's own homer with a mate aboard in the seventh inning. This was the big right-hander's sixth circuit clout of the year and tied Hal Schumacher's National League record for homers by a pitcher.

One of the unluckiest shots Jimmy Thomson, pro golfer, ever had anything to do with was one he never hit. It hit him in the chest and a nurse gave him first aid. Thomson was starting his last round in the St. Paul open, among the leaders, when another player's ball knocked him out of the tournament.

delphia Athletics, held the Boston Red Sox to four hits to achieve his 13th triumph of the year by a 6-4 score.

Rudy York hit his 16th homer but the Detroit Tigers were beaten 5-4 by the Chicago White Sox in a loose pitching battle between two old-timers, Ted Lyons and Tommy Bridges.

Cleveland at St. Louis was postponed.

PADRES SHATTER BATTING RECORD

By the Associated Press

San Diego, barely in the upper division, today holds the new Pacific Coast league batting mark of seven consecutive hits—a record established in a single inning against the second-place Sacramento club last night.

The new baseball feat went on the books in the fourth inning when the Padres scored 13 runs with a 13-hit blast that wrecked the Solons 19-8.

A record of six hits without an intervening out was made June 4, 1928, by the old Hollywood club, forerunners to the Padres, in a game with the San Francisco Missions.

Besides topping this mark last night, the San Diegans by sending 19 batters to the plate in a single inning for a total of 13 hits, equalled two additional loop statistical oddities.

Basehits also gave Oakland an 8-6 win over the league-leading Los Angeles Angels to bring the Oak win-streak to nine straight games.

LIEBER REGAINS TEAM STICK LEAD WITH .451 MARK

After relinquishing his lead for one week, Manager Dutch Lieber soared back into first place in the Craters' individual batting race over the week-end, by collecting five hits in nine trips to the plate against the Dorris, (Cal.) Lumberjacks. He boosted his average from .438 to .451.

Vic Waite, the bespectacled, elongated left-fielder holds down second place with a mark of .440. Pvt. Joe Dickinson took a .433 figure with him when he was transferred from Medford duty.

Reaching the 400 bracket for the first time this year was Norm Worthley, currently just about the hottest thing in the Oregon-California league. The rifle-armed catcher rapped out five blows in eight trips against Dorris to hit the 412 mark.

Sport Schedules Juggled By Western Oregon Dimout

Portland, Aug. 5.—(P)—Western Oregon schools in the dim-out zone today juggled football schedules thrown out of kilter by the army ban of night contests.

Hardest hit was Portland, where a scheduled eight-team high school jubilee starting the night grid season will be called off. The jubilee possibly will be moved up to daytime, as will all scheduled night games.

Astoria, Seaside, Tillamook, Oregon City, Milwaukie, McMinnville and Selem were other major high schools affected by the order.

The state basketball league will not be affected, since the schedule will be all but completed before the dim-out begins Aug. 20. Remaining will be a two-game series, Bend at Silverton. It probably will be played as a doubleheader Sunday, Aug. 23.

The Portland dog racing meet will end before Aug. 20, but a horse racing program is scheduled at Gresham Aug. 24-30. It will be changed to the daytime.

The state softball tournament, scheduled for Salem, also will be affected. Charles Walker, director of the Portland softball association, suggested that the tournament be transferred to Corvallis, which is outside the dim-out zone.

Officials of the Salem Western International league baseball club said they believed the club could finish the season by playing twilight ball. Only two series, against Spokane beginning August 21 and against Tacoma beginning August 24 are scheduled in the Salem park after the dim-out order becomes effective.

The Salem officials said, however, that the dim-out order dooms baseball here next season. Spokane and Vancouver, half the membership of the league, are not in the dim-out zone, while most of Tacoma's games after August 20 are away from home.

HONEY SUBSTITUTE IN MAKING "MOON"

Cushing, Okla. (U.P.)—Oklahoma's bootleggers have found a substitute for sugar since rationing went into effect.

The substitute is honey. A Payne county officer thinks it is a good substitute too.

Officials recently raided a still in an abandoned farm house and found many honey containers lying around. The mash smelled and "looked" even better than mash made with sugar, one deputy said.

The brass and copper used in constructing the still was turned over to the federal government to make "mickey fins" for the axis.

The honey, never before known to be used in making whiskey, is the only satisfactory substitute known evidently because the officers said they found no other evidence of other substitutes having been tried.

The liquor, about 100 gallons, was as usual, destroyed.
