ACE RIDERS SIGN FOR RODEO HERE COMING WEEKEND

Mack Barbour of Klamath Falls, owner of the bucking horses and Brahma bulls which will appear in the big rodeo and horse show at the fairgrounds park Saturday and Sunday nights at 8:30 o'clock, arrived in Medford yesterday and reported that a number of ace cowboys were already here and preparing to enter the events scheduled.

Barbour said that, because this is one of the few rodeos to be staged on the coast this year, a glittering array of riders would participate on the program and seek the many cash prizes being offered. The Barbour stock was to arrive here today. Barbour will be at the Hotel Allen Friday and at the fairgrounds park Saturday to receive entries for the rodeo.

Sponsored by the Jackson County Sheriff's Posse, the rodeo and horse-show is being held in connection with the activation day celebration of the 91st Infantry Division. Those in charge say the exhibition of horses will be the finest ever seen in Jackson County.

Special attention has been given the stock horse class, which is open to everybody. Prizes for this class are $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third, and those desiring to enter may do so at the fairgrounds park at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Also open to all riders are the pleasure and family horse classes, and entrants need only be in the saddle Saturday night. It was announced.

Major General Charles H. Gerhardt, commander of the 91st division, who will ride in the jumping horse class has announced that the 91st cavalry team has been drilling all week in preparation for the maneuvers it will stage both nights of the show.

A parade through the downtown section of Medford will be held Saturday night, starting at seven o'clock. Everybody with a horse is invited to ride in the parade, and will be admitted free to the arena at the fairgrounds park.
