

RED CROSS HELPS SOLDIER MORALE IN PRACTICAL WAY

Field Director Cites Case of Camp White Recruit—
Aids For Service Men.

The bare announcement "Red Cross headquarters are established at Camp White. Soldiers desiring assistance, contact, etc." found an inconspicuous place on the Camp White bulletin board one day this week.

The last four words of that notice, however, were far from inconspicuous in the heart of Pvt. John Doe, (name withheld by request) the first Camp White soldier to ask Red Cross aid.

His story as related by Field Director Joseph Laux, in a prime example of how the Red Cross operates how it co-operates with the military in practical morale building and how efficiently a nationwide system works.

Homesick Soldier
John Doe was a homesick soldier. In Camp White for less than a week, finding the transition from civilian to military life a trifle besetting, the young man found it all a bit too much when he received a letter from home telling of the illness of a younger brother.

On the verge of going A. W. O. L., he heard the Red Cross announcement, decided to give it a whirl.

He talked with Mr. Laux on a Friday afternoon, unburdened himself and left with the assurance that everything would be all right—and that undoubtedly he would be granted a furlough by the military authorities and his fare home advanced by the Red Cross if it was found necessary that he return home.

Mr. Laux immediately dispatched a wire to the Red Cross branch in Pvt. Doe's home town. Saturday morning came a reply that John Doe's family lived 107 miles inland in the mountains and that it would take until Monday for a complete report to be obtained.

Monday morning the following wire was received by Director Laux:

"Pvt. Doe's brother is not seriously ill. Enclosure following doctor's report. Family lived 157 miles interior. Mountainous country. Drove as far as road would permit. Impossible from that point. Called Forest Ranger station. Dispatched man from that point who walked 16 miles through thick woodland. Talked with family. They all well and happy. No need for Pvt. Doe at present. Complete report follows."

All this took place between Friday afternoon and Monday morning.

Pvt. Doe is happier now. Not worried about his family, he is responding to army life in a normal manner.

This case multiplied a thousand-fold is the partial story of the American Red Cross field offices.

Other services of the organization include free legal advice, advancement of money for sickness in the family, small loans for various necessities, helpful advice about personal problems—and all that goes into the making of a good soldier.

EZRA STONE THROUGH HENRY ALDRICH ROLE

Washington, Aug. 14.—(AP)—

Lieut. Col. Edward M. Kirby, chief of the radio branch of the army's public relations bureau, said today that staff sergeant Ezra Stone of New York "is through playing the part of Henry Aldrich" in the radio serial "The Aldrich family."

THE HOME OF GROCETERIA GOODNESS — ONE SHOPPING STOP FOR EVERYTHING

Do You Still Relish Bread, Butter and Jam?

Remember the bread, butter and jam Mother used to give us when we kids got hungry at play. Good, wasn't it?

Do you still relish it as much as you did then? No? Wonder why? The butter is the same. So are the preserves. Maybe it's the bread.

Well, let's find out. Let's get some Home Purity Bread tomorrow and satisfy ourselves that real food enjoyment is not just a childhood memory. Let the kids say which they like best.

Make further tests. Toast it. Use it in sandwiches. Serve it at the table. Learn again the wholesome goodness of thoroughly baked Home Purity Bread.

GROUND MEATS WITH THAT "SOMETHING EXTRA"

"POWDER RIVER LET 'ER BUCK"

A SALUTE TO THE 91ST

To the members of the OLD 91st Division, whose valor at Meuse-Argonne and Ypres-Lys will long be remembered . . . and to members of the NEW 91st Division now in training at Camp White, we extend a most cordial Greeting. Upon the occasion of the "open house" tomorrow morning at Camp White, the old veterans and new soldiers will gather with the people of Jackson County. It is an occasion that none should miss. Many of the civilian guests of the 91st tomorrow are honorary members of this famous division—an honor bestowed upon all who have recently bought WAR BONDS to outfit the 91st. And so, in greeting the OLD and NEW 91st members we add a salute to the HONORARY members of the 91st—they are doing their part, too!

Welcome 91st Division

GROUND BEEF

TOO GOOD TO BE CALLED HAMBURGER

LET'S look into our market where the butcher is preparing ground beef. On the block is a front quarter of Swift & Co.'s select Gov't Inspected Steer Beef. The meat cutter is removing the bones and the whole front quarter goes through the grinder.

Should you by chance be here when we are grinding beef we would like to have you see just how we do it. See the fine beef, packer stamped to show the quality. See for yourself that you are wasting money when you have round steak or some other more expensive cut ground while you wait. See that even in our ground beef money can't buy better meat.
