

COLE CIRCUS IN MEDFORD FRIDAY; UNLOADING 7 A. M.

Jungle Animals and Jugglers Due in Colorful Train—Crowds Expected.

The last word in tent show entertainment, incredible horses, wire walkers, jugglers, acrobats, equestrians, aerialists, trapeze artists, elephants, wild jungle animals and everything else that goes to make up a circus will descend upon Medford early tomorrow morning when the great Cole Brothers Circus, one of the two largest in the world, arrives here.

The huge show traveling on a mile-long train of double-length steel railroad cars, all of them resplendent in red and shining silver coating will come to town loaded with new and startling features. The first section should arrive early tomorrow morning and be spotted at the Southern Pacific railroad crossing near the passenger depot, about 7 a. m. Immediately the bespangled folk, the hundreds of animals, the rumbling red wagons, floats, dens and cages and the 250 horses and ponies, plus the three herds of elephants, will be unloaded and transferred to the circus grounds at Clark and Summit street where the building of acres of tents will soon get under way. A total of 26 tents will be raised, including the gigantic big top, which seats nearly 10,000 persons.

With three rings, stages and the gigantic big top so constructed as to allow much greater space for hippodrome and aerial displays than in past seasons, the big show's 1942 program far surpasses those of former years. Big acts and displays are in greater numbers than ever before and there are scores of featured horse acts.

Medford audiences will see the noted Reiffenach troupe of bare-back riding marvels, with Clarence Bruce, greatest of all riding comics; the world-renowned Six Wallabies, stars of the acrobatic field, featuring Beryl Wallabie, world champion tumbler in both male and female division, doing over 266 flips at every performance, first time ever presented to American audiences. The Rich sisters, Marylin and Betty, aerial stars, Jean Allen, daring horse-woman and dozens upon dozens of other stars and displays that have made the 1942 program the greatest in Cole Brothers history.

The performance opens with a spectacle, "Sapa-Inca", South American in theme, in which

ZIVIC, COCHRANE BATTLE TONIGHT

New York, Sept. 10—(U.P.)—The most bitter dispute in the history of the welterweight division will be settled tonight at Madison Square Garden when ex-champion Freddie Zivic squares off against Freddie Cochrane of the navy, world welterweight champion, in their non-title 10-rounder.

Veteran Fritzie of Pittsburgh—last of five fighting brothers—has been gunning for this chance to toss hard leather at Cochrane ever since Jersey Red won the 147-pound title from Zivic on July 29, 1941, in a thundering upset.
