News Behind The News

by Paul Mallon

Washington, Oct. 1.—War Producer Donald Nelson thought a 23 per cent fuel oil cut for winter would be enough. So did Oil Coordinator Ickes, who certainly should know. But Mr. Leon Henderson's OPA decided to deepen the cut to 33.13 per cent, thereby netting a lot of oil authorities, and creating some suspicion that he may be gambling with public health.

This is one of those things that no one in official position wants to talk about. Everyone outside, too, wants to cooperate to whatever extent is necessary. But it must be related, in truth to the facts, that the oil people here again suspect Mr. Henderson is suffering from a chronic rationing phobia.

If Ickes and Nelson thought 23 per cent was enough, there is no reason to suspect Mr. Henderson has superior judgment or additional facts. Indeed, his announcement specified none. It offered no justification, except the unbacked one that OPA did not believe 25 per cent would be enough.

NO HEALTH authority in the government is going to come out and say that waves of influenza and pneumonia may be promoted by such a drastic cut, because no one wants to anticipate uncertain results.

But the best possible medical authority says the ideal indoor temperature is 68 to 70 degrees. Henderson has fixed 65 degrees which the U. S. public health service here says is a proper temperature to maintain maximum efficiency in factories, where people are moving about.

THE only official evidence on the subject is some testimony by Mayor LaGuardia, before the House Banking committee.

RED BIRD BLOWS BREAK TIE IN 8TH TO TAKE CONTEST

Slaughter and Musial Couple Double and Single For Much Needed Score.

By Leo H. Petersen
(United Press Sports Editor)
Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, Oct. 1.—(U.P.)—The St. Louis Cardinals came through in the eighth inning today to give the Cardinals a 4 to 3 victory over the New York Yankees and even the World series at one-all.

Enos Slaughter and Stan Musial, the heart of the Cardinal batting order, coupled a double and a single with two out to break a tie the Bronx Bombers had achieved in their half of the eighth in a typical Yankee hitting spurt.

Johnny Beazley, the National league rookie sensation, bled Ernie (Tiny) Bonham but was in frequent trouble and poor Yankee base running averted disaster for the freshman star in the ninth.

Pitching before his mother and three high school classmates whom he had promised seats to the first World series game in which he pitched, Beazley had the Yankees shutout for seven innings and was coasting under a three-run lead, but he barely managed to finish.

The first two Cardinal runs were due to a bad decision on Bonham's part. Tiny, whose control is one of his biggest assets, walked Jimmy Brown, the St. Louis leadoff hitter in the first inning. He picked up Terry Moore's sacrifice bunt and elected to try for a forceout at second. But Brown beat his throw by a headlong slide.

Roosevelt Sees Launching At Portland Kaiser Yard

By Merriman Smith
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Portland, Ore., Sept. 23.—(Delayed)—Henry J. Kaiser, the man who makes 10,000-ton ships like Henry Ford makes cars, worked his best production magic for President Roosevelt today by launching a big Liberty freighter only 10 days after her keel was laid.

Mr. Roosevelt, longtime lover of things nautical, was visibly impressed by the Kaiser assembly line technique of putting sea-going freighters together in a time so short that old line shipbuilders would rather not think about it.

"I have been very much inspired by what I have seen and I wish that every man, woman and child in the United States could have been here today to see that launching and realize what it means in the winning of the war," the president said to the shipyard workers after the S. S. Joseph N. Teal slid down the ways into the Willamette river.

Brown, Cullenbine stole second. DiMaggio singled to right, scoring Cullenbine. Keller hit a home run over the right field pavilion scoring DiMaggio ahead of him, and tying the score. Gordon struck out. Three runs, three hits, no errors, none left.

CARDS Eighth—Brown out. Gordon to Hassett. T. Moore flied deep to DiMaggio. Slaughter doubled down the right field line and went to third when Cullenbine's throw got by Rizzuto. Rizzuto was charged with an error. Musial singled, scoring Slaughter. W. Cooper lined to Cullenbine. One run, two hits, one error, one left.

YANKS Ninth—Dickey beat out an infield hit to Brown. Stainback ran for Dickey. Hassett singled to right, but Stainback was out trying to make third on the hit. Slaughter to Kurowski. Ruffing batted for Bonham. Ruffing flied out to Slaughter. Marion threw out Rizzuto. No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

CARDS Fifth—Marion flied to DiMaggio in left center. Beazley was called out on strikes. Gordon threw out Brown. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

STALINGRAD SEEN LAST NAZI GOAL IN EAST FOR 1942

Critical Hour Appears Near — Hitler Hurls in Masses of Reinforcement Troops.

By Harrison Salisbury
United Press Correspondent
The critical hour of the battle of Stalingrad appeared at hand today amid mounting indications that the Volga River traffic center constitutes the final Nazi military objective in the East for 1942.

Russian dispatches reported that masses of Nazi reinforcements were being thrown into the battle, particularly in the northwestern sector where they were met by sharp Soviet counterattacks.

Reds Best Rumanians
South of the beleaguered city Russian troops bested Rumanian detachments and drove them out of three villages and 350 miles to the northwest in the Voronezh sector a Soviet diversionary attack had put the Nazis on the defensive.

A dispatch in the government newspaper Pravda revealed that Josef Stalin, himself, had laid down defensive plans for Stalingrad as the battle was opening 38 days ago.

Alexander Chuyanov, Communist party secretary in Stalingrad, reported that Stalin telephoned him personally as the Nazi attack was being launched and ordered that "all panic-mongers and cowards" be eliminated.

Chuyanov revealed that Stalin, who directed the defense of the city in the civil war of 1918, also offered suggestions on organization of the defense of the key point against the Nazi assault.

Civilians Mobilized
These suggestions, Chuyanov reported, had been carried out in the mobilizing of civilian workers to aid the Red army.

A Polish government spokesman in London revealed that the Germans had made two recent attempts to get in touch with the Polish government-in-exile in an apparent attempt to launch talks for a negotiated peace.

A Norwegian government spokesman reported the Germans have arrested 1,400 persons in Norwegian coastal areas as part of Nazi precautions against opening of a second front in that region.

German reports laid heavy emphasis on the strength of Russian counterattacks, asserting that one Russian attack on the northern Stalingrad front was paced by 100 British and American tanks. Berlin insisted, however, that the Soviet blow was parried and that "98 out of 100" tanks were destroyed.

JAPS DESPERATE IN EFFORT TO CUT SOLOMON SUPPLY

Washington, Oct. 1.—(U.P.)—Reports from the Solomon Islands indicated today that the Japanese are trying desperately to disrupt sea communication lines to American occupation forces on Guadalcanal.

Japanese warships apparently are prowling in the waters around the southwestern Solomons in an effort to intercept American supply vessels and transports.

The navy disclosed last night that the enemy succeeded in sinking the auxiliary transport Gregory by gunfire recently off Guadalcanal.

In the same communique revealing loss of the Gregory, the navy belatedly disclosed the destruction of the 8,378-ton naval transport George F. Elliott, the former liner City of Los Angeles. The Elliott was lost on August 8, as the result of fires started when a Japanese plane crashed into the ship.

Those losses brought to seven the number of American ships sunk in the Solomons campaign. Japanese losses in the Solomons include 28 ships sunk or damaged and 209 planes destroyed.

General MacArthur's headquarters, Australia, Oct. 1.—(U.P.)—Australian troops have captured the Japanese second defense line in the Owen Stanley mountains of New Guinea and are continuing their advance, it was announced today.

After taking the Ioribiwa ridge in the first phase of their offensive four days ago, the Australians pressed forward yesterday to take the Nauro creek and ridge 10 miles to the north.

They captured quantities of Japanese supplies and equipment.

War Bulletins

Cairo, Oct. 1.—(U.P.)—Imperial troops have attacked axis positions in the central sector of the Alamein line, it was revealed today.

The announcement said Imperial troops attacked "occupied enemy positions in the central sector" and added that "enemy counter-attacks were repulsed."

MILL EMPLOYEES VOLUNTEER FOR FRUIT LOADING

Employees of Medford Corporation and Timber Products company, in order to relieve a critical labor shortage that threatened to halt the imperative shipping of pears from this area, have volunteered their services to the Medford Ice and Storage company to load thousands of boxes of Bartlett's into freight cars for shipment east.

An official of Medford Corporation said that 100 employees would work at the storage company plant starting Friday midnight and continuing until 8 a. m. Monday, the men working on their own time. Employees of Timber Products will aid in the car-loading later next week, with details of shifts and number of men to be worked out later.

It was explained by a Jackson County Chamber of Commerce official, who contacted the lumber companies in order to obtain the needed help, that a shortage of labor at the cold storage plant had resulted in a fruit jam in the pre-cooling room, with the Bartlett's unable to be loaded into waiting cars to make room for Comice and Boscos now being picked.

BRIG-GEN. BOLTE IS 91ST DIVISION ASSISTANT CHIEF

Successor to Brig-Gen. Clarkson Here From Duty in Britain—Long in Army

Brigadier General Charles L. Bolte, 47, chief of staff of the U. S. army in the European theatre of operations from early in 1941 until his recent return to the United States, arrived at Camp White today to assume his duties as assistant commander of the 91st Infantry division, the headquarters of Major General Charles H. Gerhardt, commander, announced.

Brigadier General Bolte replaces Brigadier General Percy W. Clarkson as second in command to Major General Gerhardt, General Clarkson having left Camp White Sept. 8 to become commanding general of the 87th Infantry Division. The new number two chief of the 91st comes here directly from the British Isles.

Brigadier General Bolte was born in Illinois May 8, 1895, was appointed to the U. S. army from that state and commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry, reserve, in 1916, one year later being commissioned in the regular army.

He served overseas in World War I with the 58th Infantry of the 4th Division, and was later on the division staff. He saw action in three major campaigns involving American troops, namely, at Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne. He was wounded in the latter action, for which he received the decoration of the Purple Heart.

After the Armistice he served with the American army of occupation in Germany, and upon his return to the United States served from 1920 to 1921 as an instructor at the Infantry school, Ft. Benning, Ga. From 1921 to 1922 he was aide-de-camp to General J. L. Hines, when the latter was chief of staff of the U. S. Army.

In 1927 Brigadier General Bolte attended the Infantry school company officer's course at Ft. Benning, and served as an instructor there until 1930. In that year he took the Infantry school's advanced course.

During 1932 he attended the Command and General Staff school at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans. From 1932 to 1935 he served with the 15th Infantry in China, and in 1936 was with the 13th Infantry in the United States.

He was graduated from the Army War college in 1937, after which he was an instructor there until 1940. In the latter part of 1940 he was G-3 of the 4th army corps, and soon afterwards went to the British Isles as chief of staff of the U. S. army in the European theatre.

CHUNGKING WAITS WILLKIE ARRIVAL

Chungking, Oct. 1.—(U.P.)—War torn Chungking was decorated with flags and banners today in expectation of the early arrival of Wendell L. Willkie, President Roosevelt's special envoy.

All streets received a special cleaning this morning. Banners bore such greetings as "We Are With America," "We Offer All We Are and All We Have—the Generalissimo," "Welcome, Mr. Willkie," "China and America—Unite to Win; Unite to Build."

A United Press correspondent who toured the city heard nearly everybody discussing Willkie's visit.

Jackson County Boy Scouts Enlist in Scrap Iron Hunt

Headquarters, Camp White, Oct. 1.—(Spl.)—Completion of plans to organize Boy Scout troops within Jackson county into "Scrap Scout" squads to assist Camp White army officials in the present army scrap drive, was announced today by Scout Executive K. A. Wells.

The "Scrap Scouts" will act as contacts between scrap owners and Major Lyman V. Williamson, Camp White salvage officer in charge of the drive.

As outlined by Wells, the duties of the "Scrap Scouts" will be to spot scrap wherever and whenever the opportunity presents. Upon spotting the vital metals the scouts will note the location of same and communicate this information immediately to Wells who in turn will relay the information to either Major Williamson at

No One Getting Rich In Scrap Metal Drive

Headquarters, Camp White—(Spl.)—"No individual or business firm is getting rich on scrap."

This statement was made today by Major Lyman V. Williamson, Camp White salvage officer in charge of the Army scrap metal drive now in progress in Jackson county, in answering a general misapprehension on the part of the general public regarding huge profits being made from the sale of the collected scrap metals.

"I think it high time," said Major Williamson, "to scotch rumors that certain firms and individuals are profiteering in scrap. Every bit of metal scrap collected by the Army in this drive and by other governmental agencies in similar campaigns is sold to licensed scrap dealers and the money received is then turned back to the United States treasury," he explained.

"The scrap sold to the dealers is processed by them, that is, the vital and necessary materials are separated from the junk

SERVICE JEALOUSY END IS DEMANDED BY CONGRESSMEN

Washington, Oct. 1.—(U.P.)—Congressional leaders today demanded an immediate end of all semblance of jealousy or feuds between the army and navy.

They expressed amazement at a navy sponsored press conference this week at which a naval flier, a hero in several Pacific engagements, compared the performance of the army and navy air arms.

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said he "read with astonishment" the statement of Lieut. Comdr. John Smith Thach that carrier-based planes had won every major victory in the Pacific and that horizontal bombing was of little use against warships.

(Army Flying Fortresses have been credited by the war department with major successes in high level bombing against Japanese forces in the Pacific.)

"Assuming that everything the navy flier said is true," McCormack said, "the question that comes to my mind is what purpose the navy intended to serve in the interview."

Boise Newspaper Gives Up Ghost

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 1.—(U.P.)—Announcement was made late yesterday of the suspension of the Capital News, evening paper in Boise since 1900. The management of the suspended publication said that declining advertising revenue due to war restrictions, and heavily increased labor and production costs made the move necessary.
