Returns—Mrs. Ernest J. Smith of 1132 West Main St. returned this morning from Portland where she visited her daughter, Mrs. John Conner and Mrs. Patsy Barr.

On Furlough—Sgt. Dick Lewis and Cpl. Al Wray Lightner, both stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash., are here spending a portion of a furlough with Sgt. Lewis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lewis, 612 Catherine street.

Leaves For Kansas—Mrs. Arthur Satterlee left last evening to join her husband, Pvt. Arthur L. Satterlee, who is stationed at Ft. Riley, Kan. Satterlee is the son of Mrs. Katherine Satterlee, 311 South Laurel St.

At Farragut—Donald Lee Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wood, 14 Summit avenue, this week began a 16 weeks intensive course in the storekeeper school at the U. S. naval training station at Farragut, Ida. Upon completion of the course, he may qualify for a petty officer rating.

Arrives Home—Mrs. E. C. Kelly, 1013 S. Oakdale Ave., arrived home from Portland this morning after a brief stay there. Sunday Mrs. Kelly accompanied her husband to the northern city and from there he entrained for Ft. Custer, Mich., where the provost marshal general's school of the U. S. army is located. Mr. Kelly, Medford attorney, was recently commissioned a captain in the army.

Dickinson Promoted—Norbert Dickinson, who is stationed in Iceland, has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dickinson of 837 West Second street, that he has been promoted to chief aviation radio technician. The young man also wrote that he came across a stack of wire bound boxes recently made by the Timber Products company of Medford. This was especially interesting to Dickinson since, before enlisting in the navy, he was employed at Timber Products. Dickinson has been in the navy since January of 1942.

Biologist Fedet—H. R. Newcomb, resident biologist for the state game commission with headquarters in Grants Pass for the past two and a half years, was honored by a dinner at Kyle's Monday night, given by the Central Point Sportsmen's club. Among those attending were Kenneth Martin, representative of the state game commission; Ray Hall, in charge of screening; Cole Rivers, Joe Wharton, Grants Pass mayor and members of the Central Point club and the Rogue River Sportsmen's club. Newcomb will leave soon to join the coast guard. His place will be taken by Mr. Rivers, who has been his assistant.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 23—(U.P.) A 12-day-old baby was being flown in a civil air patrol plane from Des Moines to Providence, R. I., today for an operation to right her upside down stomach. The delicate operation will be performed at Fall River, Mass., by Dr. P. E. Truesdale, who will meet the plane at Providence tonight. Dr. Truesdale has performed similar operations successfully.

The infant is Beverly Helen Primus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee D. Primus, of Des Moines. Her father is a Drake university law student.

MOVES CHURCH
Machias, Me. (U.P.)—The Rev. Edwin Crocker, Methodist pastor, is tearing down a Fort Fair field church practically single-handed. Mr. Crocker is trucking the church pieces by piece 200 miles to erect it at Machias on the site of his former church which was destroyed by fire last winter.

MINERS SIGN WITH ILLINOIS OPERATORS

Washington, Sept. 23—(U.P.)—The United Mine Workers and the Illinois Coal Operators association today signed a new wage agreement designed to increase earnings of the miners by about $8.75 a week, on a five-day week basis.

The agreement was immediately sent to the War Labor board for approval. It would become effective, officials said, with approval by the board and Office of Price Administration action to raise coal prices by about 20 to 23 cents a ton.

STIMSON REFUSES ANY COMMENT ON MARSHALL RUMOR

"Generals Placed Where of Greatest Use," Secretary's Reply in Press Conference

Washington, Sept. 23—(U.P.)—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today that recent successes in all world battle theaters point to "ultimate penetration of the enemy's defenses on all fronts."

The secretary referred specifically to progress in Italy and the Mediterranean, in Russia and the southwest Pacific.

Washington, Sept. 23—(U.P.)—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson refused today to deny or confirm reports that Gen. George C. Marshall may be made Anglo-American commander-in-chief but commented that generals are placed where they will be "of the greatest possible use."

Questioned at a press and radio conference about published assertions that the U. S. army chief of staff will be made commander of all Anglo-American forces throughout the world, Stimson said:

"In general, we don't put a general where we think he is not of the greatest possible use."

General Principle
"I don't wish to comment on any individual, but that is the general principle."

Stimson inferentially denied suggestions that a change in assignment for Marshall would constitute a "kick upstairs." He referred reporters to recently published laudatory articles on the chief of staff and added:

"I believe others have answered that fully and freely."

Reporters also sought to draw Stimson out about the recent statement by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied commander in the southwest Pacific. MacArthur indicated that he felt Allied strategy planned at the recent Quebec conference relegated his theater to a secondary position.

Stimson in response to questions said he knew of no plans to call MacArthur home.

MacArthur Busy
"Gen. MacArthur is very busy engaged and very active in very important operations," the secretary said. "I doubt if he would want to leave at this time. People from here all the time are going out to see him."

"This is a global war, and one of the best things we have done is institution of constant touch with commanders in various theaters."

Stimson said staff officers from various theaters are constantly returning to Washington to inform strategists here of developments on their fronts.

SEVEN ON RAFT EAGER FOR FISH

Portland, Ore., Sept. 23—(U.P.)—No trout fisherman ever hoped harder for a strike than the seven men on Portland's war boat raft, who hope they can catch some fish in the Willamette river to eke out their dwindling supply of concentrated navy rations.

The seven men pledged themselves to remain on the raft and subsist on rations—until Oregon passes its $104,000, 000-war bond quota. But with the state barely to the half way mark, the castaways (85 feet from shore) went into their sixth day afloat with misgivings.

They held themselves to one biscuit apiece for last night's supper. But the doggone fish don't go for their lures or else Jimmy Allenn, fisherman for crew, has lost his touch.

OPA SCHOOL FOR PANEL CLERKS TO CONCLUDE TONIGHT

A school for price panel clerks of OPA and members of the Medford price panel is being held today at the offices of the local ration board. Here to conduct the school are W. P. Riddelsbarger, field price supervisor in charge of the price panel program for the Portland OPA district; Cliff Jackson, Klamath Falls, price specialist, and Miss Mary Jean Nelson, price agent of the Portland office. The school opened yesterday and will be concluded tonight.

Commenting on the price panel program, which he has been setting up for the Portland district, Mr. Riddelsbarger said today that the function of the price panel is primarily to disseminate information. "We are authorizing the price panels to interpret about 25 retail regulations. Others will be interpreted by specialists at the main office."

"In the near future the price clerks and panel members will conduct a compliance check of local stores in each district," Mr. Riddelsbarger said, "and it will be up to the panel members to handle violations. The only cases the district office will handle will be willful or repeated violations."

The official said that most price violations were due to the fact that the merchants were not sufficiently informed, and therefore the main purpose of the program was to properly inform retailers. He stressed the fact that both phases of the program are largely in the hands of volunteers and are not being carried out by paid investigators.

Members of the local price panel are William Barber, chairman, John Moffat, Otto Frohman, and M. E. Carmickle, and the latter three met with the price officials yesterday.

Here to attend the school from near-by towns are Mrs. Christine Goebbel, Klamath Falls; Mrs. Gertrude McDougall, Lakeview; Mrs. Virginia Johnson, Roseburg; Mrs. Edna Farrell, Grants Pass; Miss Margaret Barnhouse, Ashland; Mrs. Lolita Massie, Medford.

common unsettled the stock list today. Prices were lower for the third consecutive session in quiet dealings.

Interest was curtailed because exchange members gave over much of their time to sale of war bonds, today being "New York Exchange War Bond day."

There was little in the news to influence stock dealings and today's action was largely technical.
