AUTO THIEF PICKS CITY POLICE CAR

Daniel F. Harrell, Jr., 20, of Knoxville, Tenn., might have gotten away with stealing a citizen's car in Klamath Falls, but when he climbed into a Medford city police machine with larcenous intent he came to the end of his rope.

Harrell, police said, confessed to stealing a 1935 Ford V-8 in Klamath Falls Thursday evening and driving it to a point some half-mile south of Phoenix, where he abandoned it and came on into Medford.

About 4:30 a. m. Friday two military policemen noticed a man sitting in the police car which was parked alongside the police station. They reported the fact to the policeman on duty in the station and Harrell was taken out of the car and put behind bars, to be questioned later.

Police said that Harrell, in his statement, admitted he planned to take the police car. He told police he had gone to Klamath Falls recently from Knoxville to see his girl friend, only to discover she was now keeping company with a soldier. He said he had received a medical discharge from the navy.

Harrell will probably be returned to Klamath county for prosecution, police said.

MASCOT "RETIRED"
Saratoga Springs, N. Y.—(U.P.) Erik Sejr, the Great Dane dog, is now too big to be a mascot so a home has been found for him at this nationally-known resort. Erik Sejr was no ordinary mascot. He became famous when, as mascot aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp, he went over the side when the carrier was sunk and swam 14 miles until rescued by sailors. Now he stands more than seven feet on his hind legs and the navy says that's too much dog.

Tank Soldier Parades With Naples Belle

That the Neapolitan situation is well in hand is depicted here as American soldier parades down Naples street with local belle, while his comrades, weary, but smiling, cheer.

PIONEER CHURCH AT JACKSONVILLE IN POSTER ALBUM

The old pioneer Methodist church at Jacksonville has been given recognition by inclusion in a cathedral poster stamp album just issued by a New York firm. The album includes 100 stamps depicting famous cathedrals and churches of all denominations in all parts of the world, and a descriptive paragraph about each accompanies the stamps.

Concerning the old Jacksonville church the album states. The church was built of hewn logs and the roof was covered with handmade shakes. It was started in 1853 and finished in 1854 and was the first Protestant Church west of the Rocky Mountains. During the year 1853 a large religious element arrived with the immigration, mostly from the western and middle-western states, and steps were taken to found a Methodist church. It was used as a joint place of worship by the Methodists and Presbyterians for more than 25 years. In 1938 the Business Men's association of Jacksonville started a movement for the purchase of the church and in cooperation with the city council and other benevolent citizens they bought the building and grounds for the purpose of restoring and repairing the church with the idea of establishing a memorial to the old pioneers. A rally was held at which time enough funds were obtained to repair the old church. This church has been dedicated to the "City of Jacksonville."

Inclusion of the valley land mark was made through the efforts of the Jacksonville County Chamber of Commerce and a copy of the album and a set of the stamps has been received at the office.

DOUBT CIVILIANS GET MORE GOODS

New York, Oct. 16—(U.P.)—Disclosure that private authorities are skeptical of the view that some scaling down of war production in favor of more civilian goods will be possible early next year was one of the highlights of this week's business developments.

Early in the week unconfirmed reports from Washington stated that some administration officials now believe that production has reached a level where it may be possible to divert some plants to output of civilian needs.

ASHLAND WOMAN AMONG THOSE TO BE REPATRIATED

The name of Anna Maude Hancock of Ashland was included as one of 29 Oregonians in the group of 1236 Americans to be repatriated from the far east soon, according to the state department in Washington. Efforts to identify her or establish the time of her residence in Ashland were without results Saturday.

The Americans will leave the far east aboard the Japanese liner Teia Maru and will be transferred at Mormugao, Portuguese India, to the Swedish motorship Gripsholm, which will deliver Latin Americans to Rio de Janeiro and citizens of the United States and Canada to New York.

The Gripsholm left this country Sept. 2 with a load of Japanese to be exchanged for allied nationals.

The repatriates include hundreds of American missionaries, plus business personnel of American companies. All have been interned by the Japanese captors since Pearl Harbor.

WACS MAY CONTINUE WHEN WAR FINISHED

New York, Oct. 16—(U.P.)—Plans to continue the Women's Army corps as a post-war organization are being considered in Washington, according to Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, R. Mass., sponsor of the bill creating the WAC.

Mrs. Rogers, touring ports where WACS are serving, did not elaborate. She said she believed increasing enlistments would eliminate the need for drafting women for the armed services.
