HEALING OF MIND
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
LECTURER'S TOPIC

In a lecture on "Christian Science: Scientific Mind-Healing," given Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium, Will B. Davis, C. S., of Chicago, member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., spoke in part as follows:
Men and women down through the ages have vainly searched for a material solution of the manifold problems of human living. When material methods have failed to bring them lasting comfort and healing they have turned in earnest supplication to their highest sense of Deity.

"Oh that I knew where I might find him!" has been the plaintive cry of the multitudes.
When troubles have continued and appeals to God have seemed to be either unheard or unheeded, men have often become discouraged, doubtful and even agnostic. While they have continued to believe that there is and must be a creative intelligence, Mind, or power governing the universe, many have considered God to be beyond human comprehension.
But Jesus had promised "another Comforter," which he said would "abide . . . for ever." And he had called this "Comforter" the "Spirit of truth."

Those who have been healed in these present times by the ameliorative ministrations of Christian Science have not the slightest doubt that this prophesy of our great Master has been fulfilled. The forever Comforter has come to mankind through Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.
This may seem a bold statement to one who has not studied the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," written by Mrs. Eddy, but anyone who will carefully study this book with a receptive and unprejudiced state of thought may learn to heal himself and others just as Jesus did. An honest investigation which casts aside all preconceived, critical attitudes, cannot possibly prove harmful. And after all, to accept the concept of God as ever present and all-powerful, and feel that our problems are insurmountable is inconsistent, to say the least.

The "Healing Christ"
The word "Christ" is not used in Christian Science as a synonym for Jesus. The human Jesus, the man, came to express the Christ. The Christ, Truth, makes God comprehensible to human understanding. It was the dawning of the Christ in human consciousness that brought healings both before and after the advent of the man Jesus. Through the study of Mrs. Eddy's writings we are learning the Science of the Christ. The application of this Science is enabling her followers to rule out sickness, lack, fear, false appetites, and every other type of human discord in demonstration of the Christ, Truth.
Demonstrating Progress
It is no more scientific to tolerate lack when it comes in the guise of insufficiency of daily supplies, than when it is expressed as bodily sickness.
Students of Christian Science soon learn that the truths in the Bible and Mrs. Eddy's writings, which they may have thought at first were applicable only to the cure of physical disease, are just as available in solving all of our human problems. For example: It is easily discernible that a business must exist in thought before it becomes visibly manifest. How logical it is, then, to expect that successful business activities should stem from enlightened, alert, and God-inspired thinking.
When one learns to study Christian Science for the sheer joy of gaining a more continuous awareness of man's at-one-ment with the one perfect Cause, even though one is not seeking to solve some specific problem, the divine Mind spontaneously expresses itself in such an affluent and abundant sense of health and happiness that the problem which seemed so real is solved and disappears. The Bible Lesson-Sermons offer an opportunity for self-instruction in Christian Science. Learn to study them unselfishly, seek to understand them because of the divine blessings which may unfold to all mankind through your joyous, scientific understanding of their message. When we instruct human thought to acknowledge spiritual facts, our body, and our human experiences, will inevitably and spontaneously express more freedom and harmony.

God Governs Man
In thinking of governmental affairs, may I call your attention to a verse in Isaiah, chapter 33, verse 22: "For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawyer, the Lord is our king; he will save us."

How beautifully this awakens us to the spiritual fact that in every division of our governmental system, God is supreme. "The Lord is our Judge," supreme in judicial affairs; "the Lord is our lawyer," governing all legislative activities; "the Lord is our king," the only director of power, supreme in the executive branches of government.
We know that God, Soul, divine consciousness, is beholding the perfect man constantly. We know that God is not conscious of discord, of evil of any sort. Therefore, as His ideas, let us think in terms of the completely supplied spiritual likeness of the one omnipotent Mind. Let the male and female of God's creating appear to us as the only reality. Let us refuse to believe the foe, the evil, regardless of the disguise in which it seems to present itself.

Do not read the newspapers, listen to over the radio, or accept into consciousness from individuals, any sort of inharmony, unless an attempt is made to correct the discord through an understanding of its unreality.
If such inharmonies as war, lack, alienation, pain, miscarriage, and injustice are actually true, through what mentality, consciousness, or mind did they come into being? Whether it is international or individual we may rob the discord of its seeming continuity by refusing to give it a mind, an intelligence, or consciousness through which it could be produced. In proportion as we do this will will pain, disease, war, fear, aggression, hate—all evil—disappear for lack of a mind through which they could be expressed.
