

Ann Sothorn in "Swing Shift Maisie" Opens Craterian Showing Today

JAMES CRAIG IN TOP ROLE SWIFT MOVING PICTURE

Funniest of Popular 'Maizie' Comedies—War Plant is Film's Locale.

Featured in the role that made her famous, Ann Sothorn opens at the Craterian today in "Swing Shift Maisie," carrying the torch for Uncle Sam in the funniest of her "Maizie" films. Actually, of course, Miss Sothorn carries the torch for Uncle Sam—and one other "guy" in the case of the dashing, handsome James Craig. Equipped with all the answers, Maisie puts herself producing on the country's big war plants while the boys who bother find themselves promptly "put in their place."

Part, side-splitting comedy is featured while the Craig-Sothorn combination presents a new high in Hollywood mating which is immensely to the films' credit.

With the help of a talented supporting cast, headed by Jean Rogers, Maisie, who, as she puts it, has been "fighting off commando raids since she was 14 years old" makes "Swing Shift Maisie" one of the outstanding of this popular series.

Latest news and selected short subjects complete the program.

October is an important birthday month for Oregon State college. On October 27, 1903—25 years ago—the legislature "designated and adopted" Corvallis college as the state college. Two years later on October 21 it was "permanently adopted."

"Headin' For God's Country" Booked

In a fast action-filled double bill opening at the Rialto Wednesday, "Headin' for God's Country" featuring William Lundigan heads a program that also features "Adventures in Iraq," sinister intriguing film of the east.

the program and all interested are urged to attend.

Mary Lee Scores Success In Song And Comedy Show

The Rialto's program today features fun and human comedy in a double bill of young people and their erring parents. "Nobody's Darling" which features the sensational young Mary Lee, brings the new darling of America to the screen in a story that has song, comedy and a touch of human greatness as the little star wrings laughs and tears of audiences with her talents.

Its partner feature, "Petticoat Larceny," a roaring airwave of laughs features a full cast of talent as Ruth Warrick, Joan Carroll and Walter Reed form a retinue that means hilarious laughs and thrills. Ruth Warrick, in the leading role, finds herself the "Miss Smarty Pants" of the airwaves as the gang goes on the air in a bedlam of song and fun. The supporting cast is led by Wally Brown.

FORTRESS PILOT HERE FOR REST

Lt. Theodore Holmes arrived in Medford this week on a "rest leave" from the army, having been stationed in Africa since last February as pilot of a Flying Fortress bomber. Lt. Holmes, who holds an air medal and nine oak leaf clusters for participation in various missions over enemy territory, is visiting his wife who has made her home in his absence with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Bullis of 15 Florence street.

After spending about two weeks here, Lt. Holmes will report to the army air corps for duty again, and will be accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Holmes. He has been in the service for two years.
