COURTSHIP TROUBLES

Austin, Tex. (UP)—The machine age isn't the source of all traveling danger. University of Texas co-ed Betty Robinson is convinced. Miss Robinson and her lieutenant were out riding in a buggy. Not having studied animal navigation in OCS, the lieutenant was having a difficult time managing the horse. The horse, in fact, took over the managing and pulled away from the buggy, dragging the lieutenant with him. Then, the horse sat on the lieutenant. The officer suffered minor abrasions.

DEPOT ROMEO IS WANTED BY POLICE

Hollywood, Dec. 24—(UP)—Mrs. Mae Belle Hagen, wealthy divorcee from Miami, Fla., complained to police bunco squad detectives today that a man posing as a retired Milwaukee banker had absconded with $25,000 worth of her jewels.

The man, giving his name as Harold Carl Ingels, met her at a Chicago railroad station Dec. 5, accompanied her to Hollywood, married her here Dec. 11 and promised to buy her a $135,000 Bel-Air estate.

He asked her to withdraw her jewelry from a bank strongbox for a honeymoon trip east because he wanted her to "look nice" among his wealthy friends, Mrs. Hagen said. When she did, she continued, the man disappeared with her diamond ring, bracelets and watch.

The district attorney's office issued a complaint against Ingels.

DOG LICENSE CUT BY COUNTY COURT

Licenses for dogs will be $1 each this coming year instead of $1.50, according to an announcement from the county court. Decision to lower the license fee was made at a court meeting yesterday in view of the fact that a reserve fund is now sufficiently large to take care of expenditures. The fund is used to cover the cost of depredations by dogs, such as the killing of sheep.

The new license fee becomes effective Jan. 1 and after Mar. 1 the fee will be $2, as a penalty for late application.

Word has been received here of the death of Lt. Bernard Gildea who was killed in an airplane crash Nov. 30 near Beakshior, England. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gildea of Long Beach, Calif., and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. George Holzgang of this city. He also attended school in Medford.

OLD SLEEPING GROUND

Blytheville Army Air Field, Ark. (UP)—Cpl. Mike Farr wandered toward the snack bar of the new service club here for his free coke and cup cake. When he got there he stopped, blinked his eyes and yelled: "Hey! I used to sleep over there." When they enlarged the club they included what had been his barracks, not so long ago as a wing of the service club.

PIGEONS GET THROUGH

New York (UP)—The oldest known method of battle-front communication—dating back to 1400 B.C.—is still a vital part of the U. S. battle machine. Carrier pigeons, released from planes grounded behind enemy lines, can be counted on to get that message through without giving away the plane's position.

Nursery School Children Enjoy Turkey Dinner

Children of the Medford war nursery school and their mothers enjoyed a turkey dinner and Christmas party at the school last evening. Dinner was served to both children and mothers at the small dining tables, decorated with Christmas candles, and the children opened the meal by repeating the nursery school meal-time prayer.

Following dinner Santa Claus arrived and distributed toys which will be used by the children at the local school and each mother presented the school with a gift of a toy. During the evening Miss Alice Brill played Christmas carols on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. Van Huson. About 55 children and mothers were present.
