FOODS
Because a substance is or may be used by man does not constitute it a food. Food should be taken for the purpose of supplying heat and energy for the production of internal and external work, and to supply the materials for growth and for the repair of tissues. Evidence available indicates that the majority of mankind eat too much rather than too little. Yet the human race is starving because of the lack of the necessary vital food materials. Experiments prove that the best diet is that which is just slightly in excess of a bare maintenance ration. It should be kept in mind that the human body is kept alive and active only by such elements as the cells of the body can build into themselves. Any other material or substance which may be absorbed into the system interferes with the normal cellular activity and serves to form a wedge between the cells and so lays the foundation for disease.

16-POINT PLAN FOR CONVERSION GIVEN APPROVAL

Washington, June 12.—(U.S.)—A special senate committee today proposed a 16-point legislative program—endorsed in general by War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes as "a step forward in the right direction"—for converting the nation's economy from war to peace.

The committee warned, however, that industry would be able to meet the challenge of finding jobs for as many as 10,000,000 new workers after the war only if there is a minimum of "government interference."

Byrnes in testimony before the committee looked ahead to "X-Day—the collapse of Germany," and stressed the urgency of speed in enacting legislation to assure prompt termination of war contracts.

"If the settlement of thousands of contracts were to be held up until there is a detailed audit," he said, "then we may as well immediately provide for a huge public works program."

In its long awaited report on postwar problems, the committee, headed by Senator Walter F. George, D. Ga., warned that the "very destiny of the nation may depend upon wise and prompt decisions" now.

GEORGE K. RANKIN TAKEN BY DEATH

George K. Rankin passed away at his home, 114 Genesee, Sunday afternoon at the age of 68. He had been failing in health for about a year.

In the spring of 1930 he came to Medford and was united in marriage to Hattie Rankin, now survives. He followed the carpenter trade for many years. He also leaves two children by a former marriage: Mrs. Gladis Linkis, Portland, and Clarence Rankin, Prospect.

Private services will be held in the Conger-Morris Chapel Thursday with the Reverend D. E. Millard officiating. Interment will be in the IOOF cemetery.

"America's Opportunity" will be the subject discussed by Senator Harold H. Burton of Ohio when he addresses the annual banquet which closes the fifty-seventh annual convention of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers' association in Eugene on Saturday, June 17.
