PAIN

Pain is unpleasant and sometimes seemingly unbearable. But it may prove to be beneficial. It is the red light of nature, indicating that something has gone wrong. The important thing is to properly interpret this danger signal and seek to eliminate its cause. Entirely too often is aspirin, or some other similar drug resorted to which pulls down this red light of nature and eases the way for a run into danger. Often this way is traveled so far that irreparable damage results. Because another has taken much aspirin does indicate that you can do so with safety. You may be especially sensitive to this drug. There is no way of knowing until it is too late. If so its use, even in small doses, may result in ill effects or even death. There is increasing evidence that the long continued use of aspirin may result in degeneration of various bodily tissues. Remove the cause in a natural way and avoid these dangers.

It takes thousands of telephone calls to build a bomber

....and this country is making more bombers than ever before

More planes, more ships, more of everything for war mean more Long Distance calls. And right now things are moving double-quick.

That's something to remember when you're telephoning Long Distance and the operator says—"Please limit your call to 5 minutes."

More calls get through quicker when everybody helps that way.
