

MISSING ASHLAND WOMAN IN RENO, COMPANIONS SAY

The disappearance of Kathryn Faye Miller, reported missing from her home in Ashland since last Saturday night, was solved Friday by a statement made and signed by Paul Nichols and Allan King, both of Ashland, according to Ashland City Police. Fear of foul play, expressed by her husband when he discovered her absence, was unfounded according to the statement, which follows:

We, Paul Nichols and Allan King, both of Ashland, Oregon, depose and say that the following statement is made freely and voluntarily, and is true and correct.

Last Saturday night, or early Sunday morning, Sept. 2 or 3, while in the Dundy Lunch on East Main street, King introduced a lady to Nichols whose name is Mrs. Frank Miller of Pioneer street. After the introduction, King said he would take the lady to Nichols' house at Pioneer and B streets. Then King and Mrs. Miller left the room.

Nichols remained in the lunch room for some time, then went home and found King and Mrs. Miller in his house. The three of them remained there all night.

Sunday morning about 10 o'clock King took Nichols and Mrs. Miller to the old Klamath Junction, about seven miles south of Ashland on Highway 66, where he left them. King then came back to Ashland, driving Nichols' Pontiac coupe, and kept possession of the car until police took it away from him Tuesday night.

Nichols and Mrs. Miller then hitch-hiked to Reno, where she said she wanted to go to secure a divorce from her husband. Shortly after arriving in Reno, Nichols said Mrs. Miller met another man, and said she was going with him, whereupon Nichols returned to Ashland arriving here Friday night.

Ashland police state that they have definite information that Mrs. Miller is in Reno. She is the mother of two children, aged 2 and 4.

CHURCH COUNCIL INSTITUTE WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

Mrs. K. W. Brockhaus, president of the Medford Council of Church Women, announced that the Council will sponsor a World Community Institute next Friday, Sept. 15, under the direction of Mrs. B. R. Elliott, chairman of the Council's education committee.

The institute is a missionary study coaching class or training center for leaders of missionary study groups in the local churches. Churches not having such a group at present are invited to send a prospective leader to the institute which will be held at the Markade, Fifth and Oakdale avenue. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a. m. and will continue through the early part of the afternoon. A potluck lunch will be served during the noon recess.

The following program will be presented:
Worship service, Mrs. G. C. Sanders; Why Mission Study? Mrs. K. W. Brockhaus. South-east Asia, Mrs. Fred Weatherford, book review, "West of the Date Line," C. M. Hallock, discussion and program suggestions on Southeast Asia; The American Indian, Mrs. L. C. Kirby, book review, "The Indian in American Life," G. E. Lindquist, discussion and program suggestions on the American Indian; How to lead a missionary study group, Mrs. C. A. Meeker.

Mission study material will be available for purchase at the institute.

Mrs. Elliott has been assisted in making plans for the institute by Mrs. C. A. Meeker, Mrs. C. V. Cooper, Mrs. A. H. Gregory, Mrs. E. Mungus, Mrs. H. Gates and Mrs. P. B. Rynning.
