Ye Smudge Pot
 By Arthur Perry

A medical columnist hoots at the "buckeye" packed by many natives, as a cure for rheumatism. So far no local horse-chestnut trees, prolific producers of "buckeyes", have been chopped down for practicing medicine without a license.

Returning scouts from upstate gridiron contests, report the perpetration of the T-formation they saw is more of a T-hee than a T. On one befuddling play the team in possession of the ball successfully hid it, from nobody but themselves.

One of the fair sex showed up yes, wearing wool stockings. They were the real thing, and not painted on with shank shellac.

The cigarette shortage is getting no better fast with no relief in sight. It is high time for a candidate, with an eye on the cigarette smoker vote, to come out for lower taxes and more cigarettes. The shortage, most mystifying, seems to be confined to modern makes. There are plenty of the brands that first saw the light of day, and a match, right after the Spanish-American war.

The passing of Al Smith, four times governor of New York and a politician who never was a charming sliker, saddened thousands who regarded him as an idol. He summed up the success of New Deal notions in a classic truth of four words: "Nobody shoots Santa Claus".

The British report they have made a "direct hit with a 12,000 pound bomb on the Von Tirpitz, German super-battleship", at anchor in a Norwegian fjord. This has happened umpteenth times before and the craft still floats. A new technique might help. The next time strive for a direct miss, and sink the Von Tirpitz.

HASH HOUSE BLUES
 (Salem Capital-Journal)
 "Waitresses wanted. Between the ages of 115 and 145, married or single. Full or part time. Experience unnecessary. Dead or alive. Free meals. Uniforms furnished. Apply to lunch department manager." — (From a window sign.)

Now that the womenfolk, reportedly having taken to smoking pipes, the next step feared is chewing tobacco. Many are opposed to this though fully realizing if they do they will hit a cupid occasionally. Grandmaws can remember when the height of lady folly was to eat chocolates, and giggle over the telephone.

London reports Ireland is undecided what to do about harboring Axis war criminals. The Irish prime minister is quite diffident about making a decision in less than two weeks. Bulgaria, Rumania and Finland entertained the same general notions, but Russia was too close and too "realistic".

HISTORY THAT AM
 "The country is still talking about that 'restricted' United States history that the Government got up.
 "Paul Revere, Bunker Hill, George Washington, Lexington, Concord, Nathan Hale, Valley Forge, Jefferson, Patrick Henry, Daniel Webster or the Green Mountain boys don't get a mention. But what a glorifying Democratic personalities and deeds since 1932 get!
 "You'd get an idea from this history that nothing that happened previous to the last 12 years had been verified as important yet. But I guess Paul Revere wouldn't figure these days. He didn't get his horse by Federal aid and he refused to stop at Medford town to fill out questionnaires." — (New York Sun).

"Morse, Cordon and Ellsworth"

Senator Guy Cordon's warm endorsement of Wayne Morse over the Roseburg radio last night, was greeted with enthusiastic applause. And properly so. For here is a pair of Oregon men it would be hard to beat. Throwing in Harris Ellsworth for good measure, this state would then have the strongest representation in Washington, D. C., that we have ever had. "Ever" covers a lot of territory but that is precisely what we mean.

MORSE, Cordon and Ellsworth—try to beat that combination in your political history books if you can! But you can't, and we are not overlooking any of the great Oregon Senators and Congressmen of the past, who have represented this section of the state.

We grant there have been greater individual orators, greater individual statesmen if you please when stature, mature wisdom and experience are considered. But never a greater trio,—a greater COMBINATION,—for brains, ability, aggressiveness and potential all-around effectiveness.

And that is what this state wants, and will acutely need, in the post-war period,—a representation in Washington that will be on the job 24 hours of the day, know what it is all about, and working in harmony at all times and under all conditions GET RESULTS!

THE war has nothing to do with this. Neither have international relations, nor the Red Menace.

We don't mean the above don't comprise important issues in this campaign. They do. But we do mean, that one of the MOST important issues, is OREGON and its future development, and that in turn will be considerably determined by the kind of representation this state will have in the nation's capitol.

For whether we like it or don't, the federal government will have more and more to say about what a state can or can not do in the critical reconstruction period. After that it will,—we hope,—be different.

BUT the present is the important question at the moment.

And we don't care what your particular brand of politics may be Mr. and Mrs. Voter, or what your ideas about a new League of Nations may or may not be, think this over very carefully before you enter your voting booth a month—and a day,—hence:—

What will be best for Oregon, and particularly for Southern Oregon, and therefore for you and your family:—

A vote for "Morse, Cordon and Ellsworth" or a vote for their opponents?

TRUE these 3 men all belong to one party, and their opponents to another. But that is really not the point.

The point is the abilities and characters and capacities of these three men,—two of them now serving the state at Washington, the third one of the most highly qualified men for public life, ever to become a candidate for high office in this state.

LOOK them over carefully, that is what we ask. Size them up from every angle you desire. If you will only do that there is no doubt in this department about the result.

For your own interest and for the best interest of your state you will go down the line for: "Morse, Cordon and Ellsworth!"

F. D. R. Repudiates Reds

Earl Browder, an ex-convict and former head of the Communist party in this country, about a week ago in Madison Square Garden said:

"American Communists even as our great Communist (sic) forebears in 1860 and 1864 supported Abraham Lincoln, will in 1944 support Franklin Delano Roosevelt for President of the United States."

It would be interesting to have the chief of the U. S. "Reds" name a few of our COMMUNIST forefathers who supported Abraham Lincoln in the last days of the Civil War,—but let that pass.

LAST night in a radio broadcast which in restraint and funeral solemnity offered a striking contrast to the preceding gay and frolicsome "non-partisan" appeal for votes, which was so generally and severely criticized, President Roosevelt explicitly stated he did not want or welcome any Communist support,—or Fascist support, or the support of ANY PARTY seeking to undermine and overthrow the American system of "free competitive enterprise and private property."

Well according to President Roosevelt's own Attorney General that is precisely what the Communist party in this country and their fellow-travellers are trying to do.

THE Mail Tribune has never fallen for the "Red Menace" hokum and doesn't now. It has been used in the past, pretty generally by a gang of cheap politicians and self-seeking table-thumpers, to throw up a smoke-screen behind which they might attain some brief demagogic authority and power.

On the other hand we don't deny,—and no well informed person can deny,—there IS a Communist party in this country, its underlying purpose IS to destroy our present form of government,—and it is for reasons best known to itself, throwing itself wholeheartedly in the campaign to bring about the re-election of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The mild reprimand of President Roosevelt's will not lose one vote of that Communist support,—and no one knows this better than the President himself. Nor will it,—or should it—gain one vote of those citizens who refuse to mark a ballot for a party,—any party—that has the official Communist support.

OAKS PRELIMINARY NEARING WINDUP

Washington, Oct. 6.—(U.P.)—The preliminary planning at Dumbarton Oaks for a new league of nations neared an end today with prospects that the plan upon which the big four have reached about 90 per cent agreement will be common knowledge soon and ripe for preliminary debate when congress returns after the election.
 The Anglo-American talks with the Chinese which began a week ago may end this week. All indications point to the fact that the Chinese have not insisted upon any of their views which do not jibe with those already agreed upon by the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union.
 Thus, one year plus about one week after the four major allies pledged themselves at Moscow to try to form a world organization for keeping the peace, they have formulated a document for presentation to the other united nations.

Berlin, Ore., Will Change Name To Honor Greek Town
 Portland, Ore., Oct. 6.—(U.P.)—The good people of Berlin, Ore., jumped the gun on post-war planners today and set about changing the name of their fair town before the original name became ancient history.
 They will call it Distomo, in honor of the Greek village whose 1100 men, women and children were wiped out by the nazis in reprisal for a guerrilla attack last June.
 Maxwell Anderson, chairman of the committee for the restoration of Distomo, reported that all plans are set nationally and President Roosevelt and Vice-President Wallace will be invited to participate. Anderson said also the archbishop of the Greek orthodox church in the United States would be present.
 The Linn county court had sanctioned the change and the citizens of Berlin had passed their consent. The ceremony is set for Oct. 28.
 Berlin is a postoffice in Linn county 97 miles south of Portland.
 Radio script will be prepared by Anderson and the ceremony will be broadcast nationally and by short wave to Europe.

LANDIS HEARS GAMES
 Chicago, Oct. 6.—(U.P.)—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, had a substitute bedside radio at St. Luke's hospital for a box seat at St. Louis for the world's series this year. The 77-year-old baseball czar's physician said today that Landis heard the first two series games on the radio and "appeared to enjoy them very much."

FUGITIVE KILLED
 Portland, Ore.—(U.P.)—Clinton W. Stein, special agent for the Portland FBI office, today notified the Texas State prison at Huntsville, Tex., that the bank robber suspect shot and killed near Leeds, Utah, last Sunday, was Joe Lewis, 31, an escapee from the Huntsville prison.

WEATHER
 Northern California—Clear today, tonight and Saturday, except coastal fog mostly south of bay region. Slightly warmer in northern interior valleys.
