

NEED OF QUICK AID FOR CHINA TOLD BY DEWEY

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9.—U.P.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, placing more emphasis on foreign policy as his campaign for the presidency nears the final stages, said today the United States must speed "an even greater degree of aid to China as soon as possible."

Dewey made the declaration in a proclamation designating tomorrow "Free China Day." It followed closely his assertion that Poland must be made a free and independent nation after the war and that secrecy of present Polish discussions should be lifted for the American people.

"We in this country, for the last three years comrades in arms with the people of China, have sent military aid, however inadequate, to our allies across the Pacific," he said. "The people of America have come forward also as private citizens with contributions for China relief. Nevertheless, today China finds herself in a more desperate condition than at any time since the beginning of the Japanese invasion."

"It is our obligation to our Chinese ally, to the speediest possible defeat of Japan, and to a strong and lasting peace after victory, to speed an even greater degree of aid to China as soon as possible," he said.

Bear and Bare Hunter Battle On Applegate

Edwin Kubli, Applegate district stockman, while on a hunting trip in the Upper Applegate recently with Dr. Baxter of Los Angeles, and Lester Adams, former coast newspaperman, now a Williams Creek dairy farmer, had a busy early morning session with a bear.

The bear awakened Kubli from sleep, and was shot in the hock, according to a forest service report. The wounded brute charged Kubli who went down the trail with his pants in one hand, and his pistol in the other. When he gained a sufficient lead over the bear to take deliberate aim, he killed it. Kubli then put on his pants, and returned to camp.

MARINE ACCUSED IN SNOOD MURDER

Washington, Oct. 9.—U.P.—The doll-sized body of 18-year-old Dorothy Berrum, clad in a white broadened evening dress, lay in a mahogany casket at a mortuary today, awaiting return to her home in Chippewa Falls, Wis., while police sought to strengthen evidence against Marine Pfc. Earl McFarland, 21, accused as her "snood slayer."

Roy Berrum, father of the victim, was expected to confront the young marine veteran of Guadalcanal for the first time today at the inquest into the death of his daughter, an attractive government girl, whose raped and garroted body was found early Friday in secluded East Potomac Park.

She had been strangled with her own white, lavender and blue-threaded snood in one of the most brutal rape cases in District of Columbia police annals.

A marine coat belt, discovered near the scene of the slaying, and a description furnished by a cab driver, who reported he drove a marine and a tiny girl to the Loney Park district, led to McFarland's arrest.

The cab driver turned over to police a switch blade knife, which he reportedly found on the taxi floor and which authorities traced to McFarland.

WEATHER
Northern California — Sunny today and Tuesday but partly cloudy sky at times; partly cloudy tonight; slightly warmer in the interior.

LANDLORDS MUST PRESENT FIGURES IN RENT APPEALS

Landlords who hope to qualify for rate adjustments on the basis of substantial hardship—which means decreased net income since rent control due to increased property taxes and operating costs—should get their pencils sharpened.

Daniel D. Gage, director for the Portland-Vancouver defense rental area, office of price administration, warned today that before area rent offices can accept adjustment petitions from property owners they will have to have figures—and figures—to support the pleas. Forms, including instruction sheets, are available at area rent offices.

A new amendment to the rent regulations in effect as of September 1, provides for handling cases where a substantial decrease in net income has resulted since the rent freeze date from a substantial and unavoidable increase in property taxes or operating costs, Gage said.

OPA will require a statement of income and expenses for the past year's operations, in addition to a comparable statement covering a representative period of time prior to rent control, usually a three year average, he said.

This statement is to be filed with the petition, he added.

Irish "Prince" Hopes For Monte Carlo on Saltee Isle

London.—U.P.—In these hectic days when royal houses are tottering and crumbling or barely existing in exile throughout the world from the chaotic Balkans to the Japanese-occupied realm of Sarawak, a new dynasty has been founded and a new kingdom created.

Prince Michael I, self-styled "Prince of the Saltees," is the new monarch.

Prince Mike fits into the Prince Mike tradition made famous by Mike Romanoff, Hollywood restaurateur and general entrepreneur.

The Prince of the Saltees is an ex-newsboy from Tottenham Court Road, London's Third Avenue, and former dishwasher in Lyons' Corner House, the British equivalent of Child's.

And in the past he has often stretched out his royal frame on a hard bench on the Thames Embankment to snatch a few hours sleep at night.

But he does have a kingdom—an exceptional achievement for "most any royal house these days. It is a 700-acre Saltee island which Mike has just purchased from the Eire Government Lands Commission.

Born plain Michael Neale in County Wexford, Ireland, some 33 years ago, he added Prince to his baptismal names and today is a chemical manufacturer as well as being a sizable landowner.

"Don't be daft, me boy," Michael's mother used to say to him. But from the time he was 10, Mike would just laugh and persist in his penchant for owning one of the Saltees.

Now that he has realized his ambition, he intends to create there "the Irish Monte Carlo."

The Saltees are just off the southeast coast of Eire in St. George's Channel about 100 miles from Dublin.

"I propose to have my own flag," Prince Michael says, "and also my own coat of arms."

"My employees on the island will wear uniforms. I will also issue my own coins, which, of course, will be merely token money for island purposes."

Elaborating on his plans, Neale says, "When my scheme gets going it will be my object to attract wealthy American British, Irish and Continental visitors."

"I propose to build a casino and put all my energy and initiative into making the island one of the best exclusive holiday resorts in Europe."

This is going to take some doing, because today Mike's kingdom is in a wild virgin state. It is one of the great bird sanctuaries of Europe. Huge clouds of birds swirl around the 400-foot cliffs which rise sheer from the sea where they have their nests.

Daily Weather Report

Forecast: Medford and vicinity: Partly cloudy and smoky tonight and Tuesday. Slightly warmer Tuesday. Oregon: Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday. Cooler tonight in northeast portion.

Local Data
Temperature a year ago today: Highest, 70; lowest, 44.
Total monthly precipitation, trace.
Deficiency for the month, 26 inch.
Total precipitation since September 1, 1944, 26 inch. Deficiency for the season, 11 inch.
Relative humidity at 4:30 p. m. yesterday, 69%; 4:30 today, 97%.

Tomorrow
Sunrise 7:13 a. m. Sunset 6:38 p. m.
Past 24 hours: High Low Prec.
Boise 78 52 .01
Boston 70 50 T
Chicago 70 50 T
Denver 82 52 .02
Detroit 79 48
Havre 79 33
Los Angeles 78 47
New York 65 43
Medford 74 50
Portland 80 61
Omaha 83 36
Phoenix 88 48
Portland 82 51
Reno 86 54
Salt Lake 69 48
Seattle 62 44
Spokane 73 45
Washington, D. C. 75 54
Yakima 72 50

The first class at the Maine Central Institute, founded in Pittsfield, Me., in 1889, consisted of only one member.

Foss Meets Daughter

Major Joe Foss, World War II ace who is home in Santa Barbara after his second tour of combat duty in the South Pacific, meets his 3½-month-old daughter, Cheryle June, for the first time. "She's really quite a gal," he said.

Irish "Prince" Hopes For Monte Carlo on Saltee Isle

By Everett Vilander
United Press Staff Correspondent

London.—U.P.—In these hectic days when royal houses are tottering and crumbling or barely existing in exile throughout the world from the chaotic Balkans to the Japanese-occupied realm of Sarawak, a new dynasty has been founded and a new kingdom created.

Prince Michael I, self-styled "Prince of the Saltees," is the new monarch.

Prince Mike fits into the Prince Mike tradition made famous by Mike Romanoff, Hollywood restaurateur and general entrepreneur.

The Prince of the Saltees is an ex-newsboy from Tottenham Court Road, London's Third Avenue, and former dishwasher in Lyons' Corner House, the British equivalent of Child's.

And in the past he has often stretched out his royal frame on a hard bench on the Thames Embankment to snatch a few hours sleep at night.

But he does have a kingdom—an exceptional achievement for "most any royal house these days. It is a 700-acre Saltee island which Mike has just purchased from the Eire Government Lands Commission.

Born plain Michael Neale in County Wexford, Ireland, some 33 years ago, he added Prince to his baptismal names and today is a chemical manufacturer as well as being a sizable landowner.

"Don't be daft, me boy," Michael's mother used to say to him. But from the time he was 10, Mike would just laugh and persist in his penchant for owning one of the Saltees.

Now that he has realized his ambition, he intends to create there "the Irish Monte Carlo."

The Saltees are just off the southeast coast of Eire in St. George's Channel about 100 miles from Dublin.

"I propose to have my own flag," Prince Michael says, "and also my own coat of arms."

"My employees on the island will wear uniforms. I will also issue my own coins, which, of course, will be merely token money for island purposes."

Elaborating on his plans, Neale says, "When my scheme gets going it will be my object to attract wealthy American British, Irish and Continental visitors."

"I propose to build a casino and put all my energy and initiative into making the island one of the best exclusive holiday resorts in Europe."

This is going to take some doing, because today Mike's kingdom is in a wild virgin state. It is one of the great bird sanctuaries of Europe. Huge clouds of birds swirl around the 400-foot cliffs which rise sheer from the sea where they have their nests.

UNION OIL MEN GAIN PROMOTION

D. P. Hunter, division manager for Union Oil company and W. S. Newton, division credit manager, both of Portland were in Medford Saturday night, to attend a district meeting of the Medford area. H. E. Garner, of Medford, area manager, presided and introduced visiting officials.

Mr. Garner announced three promotions, E. E. Knight, former Medford resident, now of Myrtle Point, to resident manager at Marshfield; W. H. Allen, Medford, to resident manager at Myrtle Point and Marlin Gramse, Medford, to district clerk.

Arrangements for the evening, which included a dance and smorgasbord, were made by Medford Union Oil employees, headed by Garner and A. M. Downs, Medford resident manager. The affair attended by 62, climaxed a selling campaign.

Former Medford residents in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Knight of Myrtle Point and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Sauer of Klamath Falls.

Top Notch Cafe Is Purchased By Women Employes

Announcement of the purchase of the Top Notch Cafe, 12 South Central avenue, by Maude Ford and Verda Nelson was made public today by Loren Deming, retiring owner. After many years of continuous restaurant operation Mr. Deming is taking a well deserved rest and will manage his rental properties in this city.

Both Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Nelson have long been identified with the restaurant business in this city and have been associated with the Top Notch in recent years. Mrs. Ford has engaged in this business in Medford for the past 15 years, and Mrs. Nelson has been in the restaurant business in southern Oregon since 1935. The two new owners of the Top Notch are well known in this city.

Under the new management the Top Notch will continue to operate under that established name and will serve the public from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. on week days.

Individual consumers, using ration points, bought 290,881,000 pairs of shoes during 1943, according to the Office of Price Administration.

CALIFORNIAN IS NEW OWNER ASHLAND MART

Ashland, Oct. 7.—A business transaction of importance brings to Ashland as the new owner of the East Side Meat Market, Worth B. Hardesty and family from Turlock, Calif. In addition to purchasing the meat market and slaughter house facilities of Jack Lucas, Mr. Hardesty has also purchased the new home of Virgil H. Chapman, located at 801 Siskiyou Boulevard. Mr. Hardesty is accompanied here by Mrs. Hardesty and their five-year-old daughter, Dolly.

ZEST!
FOR LEFT-OVER DISHES

"I'm not an auditor, or a cashier, or a checker... I'm a musician... play in an orchestra most of the day..."

"What does National Service mean to me?"

WHEN YOU BUY SHEET MUSIC...
There is no delay, no tiresome waiting for your change in a store where a National is used. You pay your money, you see the amount "rung-up," and your receipt is automatically printed and issued by the National Cash Register.

WHEN YOU SEND OUT YOUR LAUNDRY...
You, your routeman, and the laundry office always have identical records when a National Accounting Machine is used. The amount you owe is printed by the machine on the laundry list. The result... accuracy and efficiency which mean better service.

WHEN YOU GO TO THE BANK...
Deposits or withdrawals are quickly made at the modern bank, credit union, or savings-and-loan. Right at the teller's window the figures are posted in your passbook and the institution's records at the same time... with a National Posting Machine.

In millions of transactions every day, mechanized systems built by National speed service, protect money, provide valuable records... for business, industry, and government.

Every moment, somewhere, someone is using a National. And in every transaction there's satisfaction on both sides—for National's fast, accurate service protects user and public alike.

National Accounting-Bookkeeping Machines are available today to business and industry through priorities. A few modern used National Cash Registers may also be had to meet business needs.

National
MACHINES AND SYSTEMS FOR BETTER WORLD BUSINESS

THE NATIONAL CASH REGISTER CO.
16 South Fir street
Medford
Telephone 2013

PEPSI MEANS PLENTY

ALL OVER AMERICA!

Pepsi-Cola Company, Long Island City, N. Y.
Franchised Bottlers: Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Medford

Now ON STREAM!

Power for Victory now flows in a mighty stream from RICHFIELD'S new 100-octane-PLUS refinery. From this vast new plant come super-fuels, the most powerful ever developed, to help blast the enemy out of the war. After the war RICHFIELD'S expanded facilities and higher skill will be devoted to producing motor fuels for you... more powerful, more economical and more efficient than you have ever used.

RICHFIELD