Interesting to note are the changes made in the Craterian Theatre since it was first opened in 1924. The two top pictures show the inner lobby and foyer entrance; center pictures show the auditorium; lower pictures the theatre entrance and box-office. Note the fancy "gingerbread" that was so popular 20 years ago.

Palestine had only about 300,000 inhabitants in 1900, less than one-fifth of its present population.

Seven-Pound Son For Lieut. Cowans

Camp White—1st Lt. John B. Cowan and his wife, Evangeline, are the parents of a seven-pound, 13-ounce baby boy, Robert Stanford Cowan, born October 13 at the Camp White hospital. And the proud father hastens to add, "Baby and mother are doing very well!"

The Cowans live on Rt. 1, Central Point. Lt. Cowan is director of the Personnel Division at Camp White.

Houston, Tex. —(UP)—This thief was either (1) a sportsman, (2) a mechanic or (3) awfully dirty. Ransacking the Rector Well Equipment Co., here, the thief took a .32-caliber rifle, a rod and reel, several wrenches, $15, and 26 bars of soap.

GLAD HE'S CHURCHGOER Stockton, Mo.—(UP)—Joe Stephens, farmer near here, believes it pays to go to church. Stephens returned from church one Sunday recently and found that lightning had struck the roof of his home, directly above his bed.

The CRATERIAN

—upon this 20th Anniversary of this fine Medford show house We are glad to join with our neighbors of this community in extending greetings and best wishes to the entire staff of the Craterian!

It's OUR Birthday Too!

And, as Hunt's Craterian Is The Home of Fine Entertainment—

franklin's cafe

Is The Home Of FINE FOODS!

WE opened this fine restaurant in the Craterian Building twenty years ago — when the Craterian held its first show. Like this popular show house, Franklin's have, through the years, kept in step with the progress of this community by expanding and improving facilities from time to time. Today, just as it was 20 years ago, Franklin's Cafe is Medford's smartest restaurant. And today, as two decades ago, Franklin's foods are the finest obtainable—carefully selected, well prepared, courteously served . . . while saluting Hunt's Craterian upon this occasion we invite the people of this community to join with US in observing OUR anniversary. Come in during OUR birthday celebration, dine here before you enjoy anniversary programs at the Craterian!
