

FAMOUS ARTISTS LISTED AVAILABLE FOR CIVIC MUSIC

A list of 20 outstanding artists and ensembles are definitely available to the Jackson County Civic Music Association for the current season, according to Seth Bullis, president of the organization. It is from this list that final selection of the list will be made.

Such world famous pianists as Claudio Arrau, Alexander Bralowsky, Ania Dorfman and Jan Smeterlin appear on the piano list, with three outstanding figures in world musical circles among the violinists, Nathan Milstein, Joseph Szigeti and Efram Zimbalist. Joseph Schuster, cellist, formerly solo cellist with the New York philharmonic orchestra, is also on the list.

Two singing ensembles, the National Operatic quartet and Elie Slegmeister's American Ballad Singers are also available. Much sentiment has been expressed in favor of bringing both of these ensembles to Medford this season as they are of widely contrasting character and makeup.

Berlin Possibility

The interesting tenor, Mario Berini, who recently made a sensational debut with the Chicago Opera company, is a January possibility while Ezio Pinza is listed as a late spring possibility. Vivian della Chiesa, well known through her years of radio performing, and Dussolina Giannini, rated by many as the outstanding recitalist of the day, are both available. Theodora Lynch, lyric soprano, who had the unusual experience of arriving in Rome the day war was declared, and who was present when Mussolini made his declaration of war from the well known balcony, is a December or spring possibility. Miss Lynch, interned in Italy, was later repatriated on the Gripsholm.

Selection of the artists will be made immediately following close of the membership week. The particular artists, and the number of concerts, will depend entirely upon the size of the membership and the resultant funds available to the association.

NEW ARTIFICIAL LEGS

Moscow, Nov. 16—(U.P.)—The army newspaper Red Star reported today that Russian factories will soon start large scale production of a new type of artificial legs invented by a legless Soviet engineer.

WORKERS LEAVING VITAL JOBS HURT WAR PRODUCTION

Washington, Nov. 16—(U.P.)—Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, said after a conference with President Roosevelt today that a steady increase in workers leaving war jobs has "seriously endangered" the "quality and quantity" of critical production and of injured prospects for postwar employment.

Kaiser is a frequent consultant of the President on postwar employment problems.

In his talk with the President, Kaiser said he "emphasized the absolute need and necessity for an appeal to the workers to stay on the war jobs in order that our fighting men may not be let down."

In speaking of job operations, he cited the example of his shipyard at Richmond, Cal., where he said the work force dropped from 93,000 to 87,000 in 90 days. He said workers left without stopping to obtain certificates of availability, and that this indicated that they were going into business for themselves or into non-essential industry.

Kaiser said the need for workers in construction of attack transports and heavy artillery ammunition was now more critical than ever before. Continuation of present high war employment would greatly aid in reaching Mr. Roosevelt's goal of 60,000,000 jobs after the war, he said.

Medford Officer Is Awarded Aid Medal At English Station

An 8th Air Force Bomber Station, England—Twenty-one-year-old Flight Officer Douglas S. Eden of Medford, Ore., who was a student at the University of Oregon before entering the army air forces to become a B-17 Flying Fortress bombardier, has won the air medal in recognition of "exceptionally meritorious achievement."

F/O Eden is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Eden of 211 Genessee street, Medford. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at the university.

The Medford flier, flying with the 100th bombardment group, part of the 8th air force's 3d bombardment division, has taken part in missions striking deep into Germany at arms and munitions factories and transportation systems.

The aircraft manufacturing industry has expanded from $150,000,000 to an estimated $200,000,000 in four years.

ENJOY INEXPENSIVE PRIZE-WINNING ORANGE MARMALADE!

It's Easy To Make Anytime With This Simple Recipe

- 4 Medium Sized Oranges (2 lbs. Sliced)
- 6 Cups Water
- 1/2 Cup Lemon Juice (About 6 lemons)
- 1 Package M.C.P. Pectin
- 9 1/2 Level Cups Sugar (Measured ready for use)

1. Cut oranges in car wheels with very sharp knife to make slices thin as possible. Discard the large flat peel ends. Sliced fruit should weigh 2 pounds.
2. Put sliced fruit in 8-quart kettle. Add the water and lemon juice.
3. Bring to a quick boil; boil gently for 1 hour (uncovered). If peeling is not tender in 1 hour, boil until tender.
4. Measure the cooked material. Reduce to boiling; the volume will be reduced below 7 cups. Add water to make total peal and juice exactly 7 cups.
5. Put back in kettle. Stir in M.C.P. Pectin; continue stirring and bring to a full boil.
6. Add sugar (previously measured). Stir gently until it has reached a full rolling boil, and BOIL EXACTLY 4 MINUTES. Remove from fire; skim and stir by turns for 5 minutes.
7. Pour into jars. If you use pint or quart jars, seal hot and invert jars on lids until Marmalade begins to set. Then, shake well and set jars upright. This keeps the peal evenly distributed throughout.

NOTE: This recipe works equally well with Navel Oranges or Valencia. When either variety is used, stir gently until it has reached a full rolling boil, and BOIL EXACTLY 4 MINUTES. (Be sure to discard any seeds.) This recipe makes 7 pounds of prize-winning Orange Marmalade.
