Olive Barber's Observations

• • •

Seattle: Dear Frank: This is to notify you that the report you received of my complete physical collapse was not exaggerated. I'm suffering, so they tell me, from shock. How come? Well—

You recall that when it was decided the nature of this business trip required using our own car instead of the bus, it was found *the car needed re*pairing. You'll also recall that, having approached the mechanic with the conventional salaams and genuflections of humility, he agreed to make the necessary repairs; being in one of his rare benevolent moods, he even said he'd have the work done within a week.

But one week became two; then three. Not that other cars more urgently needed had taken his attention. It seemed he had private affairs of his own which intrigued him; or such was the excuse he blandly gave. Then hunting season had opened the third week and surely we wouldn't delay the war effort by undermining his morale. Which was what would happen if he didn't go hunting. What would Eisenhower and Stillwell and the boys in the fox holes think of us if they found out we'd kept him from his hunting? We blanched and retreated.

But you'll recall our business simply wouldn't wait after a month so you just up and took the old jallopy out; "Put her in reverse when you go down hill," you said, "and if you get took for having no brakes, tell them about the mechanic's morale and the war. The war's an alibi for anything."

The mechanic had thought us unreasonable. "If you were in a big city, you'd have to wait three months for your car, not three weeks."

So when I got to the big city, I don't know why I stepped over to a garage and asked could I get my car fixed. I had no hopes; but I could at least make the gesture. I got scared when the mechanic was polite. Didn't he know there was a war on and that he should be insulting? The more insulting, the more he'd drive home the fact of the war; sort of a patriotic duty, you might say. So his politeness scared me; maybe he had gone crazy. A sock in the jaw I could understand but not this bow and smile. I backed off.

But my collapse came when he said, "Drive your car right in, lady; we can have it fixed in two hours; if you can leave it for a whole day, we'll do a really good job." I was some better by night but had a relapse this morning when the hair dresses said yes, she could fix my hair, but not before this afternoon! Come up and pinch me, Frank. Maybe I'm unconscious and don't know it.

Shady Cove

Shady Cove, Nov. 29—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Matthews had their Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Von Williams of Reese Creek.

Misses Martha and Roberta Abel of Albany, former Shady Cove residents, visited Mrs Charlie Blaess in Medford last week.

Georgia Myers Snoor is in San Francisco visiting her husband, Roy Snoor of the U. S. navy, who was recently transferred from Philadelphia.

Viola McConnel and Kathryn Douglas, employees of the Ore*gon shipyards of Portland, are* spending a few days with their parents. Miss Douglas' parents reside in Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dawson and children are moving to Trail this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Evenson, who have been living at Rogue Allure, are moving onto their property recently purchased from T. J. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coon entertained at their home in Edgewood Park, with a bridge party Friday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Axtell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Abbott, Mrs. Axtell won high score for the ladies, Mr. Abbott high score for the men.

A letter from Lt. John Walker and Mrs. Walker who are in Baltimore, Md., states that while the east is very nice, there is nothing to compare with Oregon and Shady Cove. They will be very glad when the war is over and they can return home.

Oris Goble of Ashland spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coon.

FDR Approves Missouri Project

Washington, Nov. 29—(U.P.)—President Roosevelt sent a message to congress today approving a joint report of army engineers and the bureau of reclamation "as a beginning in the solution of the problem of the Missouri (river) valley."

The message supplemented Mr. Roosevelt's previous recommendation that a Missouri valley authority, similar to the Tennessee valley authority, be created "for the greatest benefit of its citizens, both present and future, and for the greatest benefit of the United States."

There are 57 army ordnance 57-mm. cannon in a U. S. in*fantry division. Primary* purpose is to keep enemy tanks at a respectful distance.
