

COMMISSARY AT CAMP WHITE TO REOPEN MONDAY

Camp White—Camp White's commissary sales store will reopen Monday after having been closed since August 15, Capt. Folkey L. Johnson, post sales officer, announced today.

All types of grocery staples which are available and authorized will be available to all military personnel and their dependents who are on commutation of rations or separate rations and hold current OPA food ration books.

No fresh meats will be carried but whatever cured meats are available, such as bologna, sausages and bacon, will be sold, Capt. Johnson said.

Butter, eggs and cheeses will be sold, but not milk. White bread will be available at all times and other types of bread, such as whole wheat, rye and raisin, at intervals throughout each week.

Tobacco, with the exception of cigars, also will be sold, he said, but holders of commissary purchase cards also will receive cigarette ration cards and will be limited to one carton of cigarettes per week for each authorized purchaser and adult dependent.

Sales will be for cash only, and telephone orders will not be accepted, nor will orders be taken for future pick-up or delivery. Defective articles may be returned, he said, for credit or exchange within 48 hours after purchase and in the same month purchased, but must be accompanied by sales slip.

Pointing out that articles authorized by army regulations for sale through the commissary are limited in types and varieties, as well as availability, Capt. Johnson stated, "Some items are restricted for overseas and others are not obtainable on the market. The item will appear if authorized or available from the source of supply."

Applications for commissary purchase cards may be obtained from company commanders or at the sales store office, he said. Store hours will be from 8 a. m. to 11 a. m. and from 12 noon until 3 p. m. daily except Sundays and holidays. The store will be closed on the last working day of each month for inventory.

B. L. CAMPBELL DIES SATURDAY

Benjamin L. Campbell, 61, of 833 West Second, died in his car while on his way home from work about 5:30 o'clock last night. Campbell had presence of mind to turn the ignition switch off and the car ran up on a curb and came to a stop against a tree. He was employed as a surveyor for Jackson County.

His wife, Sadie B., survives. Funeral services will be in charge of Conger-Morris and a full obituary will be given later.

O-C TIMBER SALE DURING NOVEMBER SET NEW RECORD

O. and C. timber sales made in November by the general land office of the department of the interior broke all sales records for timber value in a single month, according to W. H. Horning, chief forester for the O. and C. administration.

November sales included 37 separate tracts of timber carrying an estimated total volume of 117,651,700 board feet valued at $547,325.55.

These 37 timber tracts were located in 11 of the 18 Oregon counties having O. and C. re-vested railroad lands within their boundaries. Those involved included Benton, Clackamas, Columbia, Coos, Douglas, Jackson, Josephine, Klamath, Lane, Linn and Polk counties.

All five of the O. and C. administrative districts were represented, including field offices at Salem, Eugene, Roseburg, Coos Bay and Medford.

Thirty of the 110 sustained yield operating areas were represented. Each of these has a capacity to sustain an average-sized Oregon sawmill on a continuous lumber production basis. The disposition of timber on each tract was based on the timber-producing capacity of the local operating area. Thus perpetual production of timber at a stabilized rate is accomplished on the re-vested grant lands.

Mr. Horning states that sustained yield cutting of timber on O and C. lands is not only a limit which must not be exceeded; it also is the amount which must be produced to supply the needs of local industry. He points out that a steady flow of timber to market must continue permanently. To workers, that means steady employment. To the counties which receive 50 per cent of the earnings in places of taxes, it means a secure source of county income.

FALSE FRIENDS CLUB HOSTS TO FOOTBALL TEAM

False Friends club, composed of business and professional men of Medford, entertained the state champion Medford high school football team in a banquet at Holland Hotel Friday night.

George Roberts, attorney, acted as toastmaster and paid high praise to the squad for their splendid conduct and sportsmanship shown during the season. Other speakers were Karl Janouch, president of Jackson County Chamber of Commerce; Clarence A. Meeker, mayor; Bob Watson, quarterback of the team, and Coaches Al Simpson and Ed Kirtley. Simpson received a tremendous ovation when he was introduced.

Three cheers were given for Marvin Doty and Dean Sheldon who left Tuesday for the navy and for Bud Cahill, who leaves shortly for induction.

Larry Schade conducted a drawing among members of the team for door prizes with Mark Goldy doing the drawing. Those receiving prizes were Glen Tingley, Bud Cahill, Marvin Doty, Bob Porter, Glen Bostwick, Paul Anthony and Allan Kircher. Doty's prize will be mailed to him.

AUTHOR FOUND DEAD
Mexico City, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—Robert Tasker, author and screen writer, was found dead in his fashionable Chapultepec district home yesterday and police investigation indicated suicide by poison. Friends of Tasker said he threatened to take his life after a quarrel with his wife, the former Gladys Flores, a granddaughter of Costa Rica's ex-president.

MISS BEDINGFIELD IS WAC RECRUIT

Miss Wilda Marion Bedingfield, daughter of Mrs. Anna Jane Bedingfield, Route 1, Medford, is the latest Medford resident to enlist in the Women's Army Corps, according to Lt. Aida Ingraham, WAC recruiting officer in the Postoffice building.

Pvt. Bedingfield, who attended Medford Senior high school, will be sent to an air forces installation immediately after receiving her basic training at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, it was announced.

Pvt. Bedingfield was active in volunteer defense circles before enlisting in the WAC in answer to an appeal for 11 additional women from Medford to help fill vitally essential army jobs in the air forces, ground forces and service forces and the army medical department.

Full information about the various army branches to which WACs may be attached, along with pertinent data on eligibility requirements is available at the WAC recruiting station, Lt. Ingraham said.

On December 20 and 21 a special medical department WAC interviewing team will be in Medford to interview eligible women.

MISSING BOY, 14, FOUND IN EUGENE

Richard Lee, 14, who had been missing since noon Thursday from his home at the Fairgrounds, was found safe in Eugene yesterday, according to state police.

He was turned over to the Lane County juvenile officer who is making arrangements for his return, the report said.

YULE MUSIC PROGRAM PREPARED BY SCHOOLS

A program of Christmas music for public presentation is being planned by the music department of Medford public schools to be given in the high school auditorium Wednesday Dec. 20, it was announced today. Under the direction of Miss Mabel Nansen, music supervisor, a variety of numbers are being prepared by students of the junior and senior high schools. A combined chorus of 240 voices will represent the four grade schools.

In addition to this combined program there will be Christmas programs in each building, it is stated. Dates for these will be announced later.

In Topcoats, the word is—TOURCOTE!

You probably know this already. For years our Tourcote customers have been sending their friends to ask for one of these famous topcoats. The reasons why are simple—warmth without weight from their all wool blend of mohair, alpaca and wool; woven by the renowned Continental mill especially for our 95-year famous Rochester-tailors—Michaels-Stern. The attractively low price finishes the story except for your long satisfaction in wearing a TOURCOTE!
