

AMELIA NORWOOD RITES SATURDAY

Amelia Churchill Norwood, a resident of Medford for the past 25 years, and of Oregon for 34 years, passed away at a local hospital on January 3, after a short illness. Mrs. Norwood was born at Charleston, S. C., on April 12, 1862.

Her husband, John S. Norwood, passed away several years ago.

She leaves a host of friends to mourn her passing. Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Stuart, and two grandchildren, Norwood Richard Stuart and Gracia Stuart, of Medford.

Funeral services will be held in Saint Mark's Episcopal church Saturday at 2 p. m., the Rev. Father George Turney will officiate and interment will be in the family plot in Jacksonville cemetery. Per's Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. Pallbearers will be Porter J. Neff, Burdette Dodge, James C. Collins, Reese Bradley, Rawles Moore and J. H. Iscott.

Treasury Figures Show U. S. Has Terrific Spending Rate

By Lyle C. Wilson
United Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Year-end treasury figures reveal that the nation has hit a sustained war-effort spending rate of approximately $270,000,000 a day.

These year-end figures coincided with announcement by Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., that virtually complete Sixth War Loan drive figures showed the $14,000,000,000 quota had been over-subscribed by $7,621,000,000—for a total of $21,621,000,000.

Treasury tax revenue has been averaging over a six months period approximately $112,000,000 a day. Comparison of that income with the daily outgo indicates the enormous treasury deficit this fiscal year will produce.

Those figures show that government costs unrelated to the war effort are creeping up. Overall expenditures in the first six months of the current fiscal year were $3,565,000,000 greater than in the comparable period last year. But war spending in this fiscal year increased only $2,361,000,000. The difference, $1,204,000,000 represents a bulge in non-war expenditures in the first half of the present fiscal year.

War and non-war spending at existing rates can be maintained only by continued heavy taxation and widespread bond buying during the drives and on a regular basis as well.

WAR BONDS

They raised their sights... and WHY

He files a P-47 Thunderbolt—and how! In it, Major Paul Conger—who used to work in our home office—has brought down at least 12 enemy planes. So what happened in the recent war-bond drive seems perfectly natural.

In the first ten days, his old home office associates met their quota—enough for a Hellcat and an amphibian truck. Then, voluntarily, they raised the ante. Since they couldn't send another Paul Conger, they subscribed an extra $50,000 for another Thunderbolt.

That's the way the drive went almost everywhere among Standard's employees. Oakland doubled. Seattle went up by a third. Our Southern Division production people leap-frogged from 29 to 46 and then to 62 thousand dollars. El Segundo refinery's staff started to buy 40 ambulances—and had financed 46 before they knew it. Richmond refinery set a goal of $165,000—and in no time at all had passed it and went on from there.

These are just samples. What's more, our men and women did it on their own. They set their own goals. They made their own subscriptions. They decided for themselves how much they'd tilt the pot.

The whole bond drive was a matter between our people and their Uncle Sam. They formed clubs and committees. They did various things to stir up enthusiasm. But the suggestions they carried out came, every one, from government sources and from themselves—and from that "feel" of war's necessities which lives in the hearts of all Americans.

Wall Street

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Stocks advanced today for the seventh consecutive session and the general average made a new high since September 4, 1937.

Railroad issues resumed leadership both in volume and in gain. Industrials barely exceeded their closing price average and the minor gain brought the figure to a new high since October 25, 1939. The rail average was at its best level since August 26, 1937.

The rise continued to reflect reinvestment demand that ordinarily comes into the market at the beginning of the year.
