

Chamber Committee Urges Citizens To Plan Future With Growth Of Community

Jackson county and its towns are due for increases in population and changes after the war and unless the present citizens, most of whom want to keep the ideal residential conditions which we now have, plan now for the future the incoming citizens will rebuild and plan to their liking. This warning comes from Karl L. Janouch, general chairman of the Chamber of Commerce post-war fact-finding committee, who recently submitted a complete report of the work of the committee carried on in recent months.

"Plans for growth must be made or we shall find ourselves in an ugly situation," Janouch said. "Provincialism is on the way out. It is up to the present citizens to take things in hand and maintain control or our new citizens will rebuild to their liking. Therefore, our Chamber of Commerce must institute a plan for development and a strong planning committee should be organized for the purpose. Cultural, esthetic, sanitation, youth recreation and education facilities, religious and other similar developments are critically needed. Lack of these developments will create hot dog stands, gambling joints and an 'alley' type of recreation, with slums and an undesirable population."

Reviewing the material presented by various sub-committees, Janouch commented on industrial development, transportation facilities, expected tourist business, recreational development and agricultural needs. The chairman said increased funds and facilities were needed by the chamber for aiding firms who wish to gather data regarding industrial locations.

Enough Transportation
Transportation facilities are not serious as a determinant factor, he believes, pointing out that rail freight facilities will be sufficient and that expanded air transportation and a return to private passenger cars will take care of passenger service. Commenting on the problem of trucking through the city, Janouch pointed out that this must be solved and added that a relatively simple route lies immediately east of Bear Creek but calls for expensive construction which would have to be borne by city, county and state.

Declaring that the country adjacent to this community is one of the greatest recreational areas in the world, Janouch suggested that this be properly publicized since it would attract people who would make desirable new residents.

Agriculture Lags
"Agricultural opportunities are less than one-half developed," the report states. Adding that water for irrigation is lacking for further development, the chairman mentioned that bulbs, onions, tomatoes, seed crops and fruit could all be developed if additional water could be made available. Processing of fruit and vegetables is a wide open field, he said, and added that economic benefits were to be derived from installation of canning and specialized marketing facilities.

Janouch stated that the Chamber of Commerce would now organize a committee to carry on the planning along the lines indicated in the fact-finding report.

Olive Barber's Observations

"I'll try very hard to be home in time for your birthday—but you know transports!" So wrote the office officer to his wife. As I'm staying in their home, I shared, in a pallid way, the wife's excitement. I wished the husband could have seen her when she got that letter—his wife who was suddenly more little girl than matron. Roses came and went in the round cheeks and she flew at her work in a sort of exalted frenzy.

Not content with just her own abandonment of industry, she ruthlessly drew the two little boys, aged five and 12, into the maelstrom of her joyous activity. They must do this and that; go here and there on endless errands. The older lad plays the trumpet and he must, his mother told him fiercely, have his latest piece of music letter perfect. Father must be shown the $2 a lesson he was paying wasn't wasted. So the whirl of the vacuum cleaner was a background for trumpet toots.

"My love is coming!" buzzed the cleaner. "My dad will soon be here!" tooted the blantly triumphant trumpet. And upstairs in the little room with the big windows, my typewriter nearly got out of hand and almost but not quite tapped out. "The king is about to re-enter his kingdom! Prepare the way for his royal highness!"

The birthday arrived. Not knowing what hour her husband might come, the woman took no chances. So her lord might have stepped into his home any time after ten o'clock on the morning of her birthday and found all things ready. Not a speck of dust anywhere; bathroom spotless; flowers in vases. And subtly suggesting to father that the $2 per lesson was not wasted, a music stand stood by the window, a trumpet case close beside it.

The birthday cake had been made—frosted white with chocolate curlicues here and there. Just three candles. Indicating these, the wife's voice was a velvet carol as she said to me, "Only three candles for I'm young today; I'm young, for he'll soon be here."

But he wasn't "soon here" and the day dragged on. Nor had he arrived when I returned late that evening. Yet in the night I heard feet rush up the porch steps; heard the soft throaty laughter of the woman, the bass chuckles of the man. The king had re-entered his kingdom.

RURAL USED FAT COLLECTIONS ARE URGED BY AGENCY

New York—A two point program to stimulate rural used fat collections was announced today by War Food Administration in cooperation with Railway Express Agency.

War Food Administration, in assuming complete responsibility for the fat salvage program, has put full weight of its extension service and its county agents behind the drive, instructing them to work with meat dealers and renderers in straightening out collection problems.

To facilitate the work of War Food Administration, Railway Express Agency has issued a statement instructing its 23,000 local agents throughout the country to pick up used fats from meat dealers and deliver them to renderers. This plan becomes operative at all rural points, with special emphasis on those areas not now serviced by regular render pick-ups.

It is believed there is an additional three to five million pounds of used fat monthly in rural and small town markets. A recent survey in the middle west placed rural fat salvage at approximately one-fifth of a

What to do about beans, macaroni, rice, etc.

Versatile—is the word for these foods—because they can be made the basis for a large variety of low cost main dishes. To make real meals from them—just look at these ideas:

Try serving steamed or boiled rice, spaghetti or noodles in place of potatoes.

Serve macaroni or spaghetti topped with homemade or canned chili for a hearty economy dish.

Make a rice custard from left-over rice—or add it to ground meat dishes, griddle cakes or muffins.

LOAF
4 cups cooked spaghetti, macaroni, noodles or rice
2 tbsps. shortening
3 tbsps. flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. paprika
1 cup grated American cheese
3 tbsps. finely chopped pimiento
3/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
3 eggs

Make white sauce: melt shortening, blend in flour, add milk gradually and cook until thick, about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add seasonings, cheese, pimiento and green pepper; cook 5 minutes; add spaghetti, macaroni, noodles or rice. Add well beaten eggs and pour into well-greased loaf pan or ring mold. Bake in pan of hot water in moderate oven (350° F.) 45 minutes or until set; unmold. Serves 6.

BEAN CHILI
3 medium-size onions
1 bud garlic
1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
3 tbsps. oil or shortening
2 to 3 tbsps. chili powder
3 bay leaves
1 tsp. salt
3 cups cooked tomatoes
2 cups water
2 cups dried pink beans

a. Chop onions and garlic. Sauté slowly with meat in hot oil or shortening in large heavy frying pan until meat separates, stirring constantly.

b. Add seasonings, tomatoes strained through sieve, and water. Cook slowly 2 hours, stirring occasionally.

c. Pick over and wash beans. Cook slowly in covered 3 to 4 qt. kettle with water to cover until tender, 2 to 3 hours. Add more water as needed to keep beans covered with liquid.

d. Add meat mixture to beans; let stand several hours or overnight. Heat when ready to serve. Serves 8 to 10 generously.

(Note: If beef is not available, other ground meats such as lamb, pork, liver, heart, or combination of these may be used.)
