

RED CROSS CORPS PLANS PARTIES AT STATION HOSPITAL

Twenty-three members of the Red Cross Hospital Recreation corps met Tuesday at the Outpost with Miss Esther Burch, recreation worker, to discuss schedules and plan for recreation activities at the Camp White station hospital.

Arrangements were made for one party a week at the hospital and a schedule assigned Gray Ladies for every afternoon and four evenings a week at the hospital. A series of retraining classes were discussed. The first of these, a craft class, will be held Tuesday, Jan. 16, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. at Junior Red Cross headquarters.

Reports were given on the Christmas activities of the corps. Mrs. Dolph Phipps presided over the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Rawles Moore, chairman.

Ex-Broadway Star Dances Down Road, Jailed By Police

Hollywood, Jan. 12.—(U.P.)—They'd probably never have done it back in the old days when she was doing her stepping on Broadway, but police yesterday rudely interrupted a dance routine of Alberta Vaughn, 36-year-old star of the silent screen era.

Neither Miss Vaughn's costume nor her "stage" were quite the thing, police decided when they found her dancing down a highway, clad in a two-piece suit of G. I. long "woolies."

"What's all the excitement about," was all the one-time star said as police took her off to jail where she was booked on a drunk charge under her non-professional name of Alberta Egli.

FLEET CHIEF BELIEVES COAST ATTACK LIKELY

Washington, Jan. 12.—(U.P.)—Adm. Jones H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, still believes that a German robot bomb attack on the east coast is "possible and feasible."

He reiterated his belief in a radio address last night but did not repeat his previous warning that it was "possible and probable" that New York and Washington would be hit within 30 or 60 days.

DOUGHBOYS RAGE WHEN BOMBED BY YANKEE PLANES

U. S. 12th Army Group Headquarters, Western Front, Jan. 12.—(U.P.)—Doughboys of the U. S. 30th infantry division, who had beaten off one of the heaviest German attacks of the Ardennes offensive, wept with rage when American planes mistakenly bombed their positions in Malmédy twice in less than 24 hours.

Twelfth army group authorities confirmed the incident in a brief announcement stating that six B-26 Marauders of the U. S. ninth air force bombed Malmédy and its American defenders on December 23 and that 18 B-24 Liberators of the eighth air force repeated the attack the following day.

The Marauders had become separated from the rest of their formation in bad weather and dropped their bombs on the town at 3:30 in the afternoon, believing they were over the German lines.

Infantrymen of the 30th division still were digging out of the wreckage at 2:30 the following afternoon when the heavies came over and piled up additional casualties and damage.

There was no official explanation for the second attack, except that it was made "in error."
