

GINGER RETURNS IN TECHNICOLOR
HIT HERE TODAY

Ray Milland, Warner Baxter, Support Star—"Naughty Marietta" at Rialto.

Medford's "neighbor," Ginger Rogers and Ray Milland, who haven't been seen on the screen together since their hilarious comedy, "The Major and the Minor," have been reunited by Paramount for one of its biggest productions of this or any other year—"Lady in the Dark."

Based upon the play by Moss Hart, with music by Kurt Weill and lyrics by Ira Gershwin, the film version of "Lady in the Dark," is said to surpass in visual beauty its stage sister, and to provide for the talented Ginger and Milland another sure-fire hit. Filmed in glorious technicolor, the story of the woman editor of a magazine whose repressions almost wreck her life, is told against a background of dreams brought to life when Ginger, who plays the woman, is induced to visit a psychoanalyst. "Lady in the Dark" opens today at the Craterian theatre.

"Lady in the Dark" was produced and directed by Mitchell Leisen whose past hits have proved him one of Hollywood's top picture-makers. According to those who have seen the picture, Leisen's handling of the difficult production assignment is a masterful job.

Departing from the usual twin-bill programs at the Rialto the single musical feature "Naughty Marietta" will hold the spotlight.

MASTER MAGICIAN
AT HIGH SCHOOL
TUESDAY EVENING

Thrills and plenty of fun are promised when the Great Virgil, world famous magician and illusionist, with his skilled company of demons, ghosts and goblins, brings his show of a thousand wonders to the stage of the Senior high school auditorium Tuesday, at 8 p. m.

The Great Virgil, considered the fastest and most mystifying magician on tour today, presents as many as nine baffling mysteries in the course of three minutes.

Much Equipment
Starting with such feats as snatching live birds and bowls of fire and water out of thin air, the Great Virgil goes swiftly into the more sensational effects of Death on the Guillotine, the dissolving of the bodies of two human beings, Chinese opium den mystery, weird execution on Mars, and dozens of others using tons of elaborate equipment that will tax the capacity of the stage.

Illusions and feats of magic follow in such rapid succession that the entire auditorium seems transformed into a veritable fairyland during the entire evening.

Julie, the Great Virgil's leading lady and heralded as America's sweetheart of magic, will present two outstanding acts during the performance. The first—a beautiful act of art and the second—her strange demonstration of human television which has puzzled scientists and doctors all over America.

Special Scenery
Several special changes of scenery, dozens of beautiful costumes, special music and lighting effects, birds and animals and magic galore will be used during the presentation of this mystery production.

All proceeds from the production will go directly to the new visual education department of Medford senior high. Tickets are on sale at the auditorium box office located at the Chamber of Commerce. Early reservations are urged in order to insure a good location as all seats will be reserved.
