

SCHOOL FUND BILL $3 MILLION ABOVE EARLY ESTIMATES

$8 Million Sought for State's County School Units and Rural School Districts.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 19—(AP)— Nearly $8,000,000 was sought for county school units and rural school districts in a bill submitted the Oregon house of representatives today, while a bill providing for control of milk-carried diseases was due for introduction later today.

The school bill, exceeding previously estimated requests by nearly $3,000,000, was brought in by the tax and revenues committee, and Giles French, Moro, committee chairman, said that the 27 cents per pupil per day provision of the measure figures out at $7,977,269.10 yearly on the present basis of 29,545,441 pupil attendance days.

Separate Tax Plan
The amount would be raised by an annual tax outside of the six per cent limitation, to be offset by income taxes where they are sufficient.

The milk control bill would provide for compulsory testing of all cows at least twice a year for tuberculosis and bangs disease, and for inoculation of all cows within eight months of their birth. Persons suffering from undulant fever, believed to stem from bangs disease, would be required to give information leading to location of possibly diseased herds.

Three bills introduced in the senate by the labor and industries committee call for extension of labor rights, including prevention of discriminating between the sexes in industry, and for collective bargaining between employers and employees.

To Study Tithing
The ways and means committee, discussing the proposed tithing measure to require most state departments to pay a percentage of their gross revenues to the state general fund, referred the matter to a special sub-committee for study and hearings. Opposition to the measure is foreseen by several state departments, particularly the highway department, which would be the most heavily hit.

Sen. J. N. Jones voiced an objection to the present activities of the state board of aeronautics and recommended that it be abolished.

LOCAL WEATHER RIGHT ON BEAM SUMMARY SHOWS

Summary of 1944 weather conditions prepared by the weather bureau staff at the airport show 1944 to have been quite normal, with mean temperature for the year being 53.8 degrees, exactly normal, and precipitation but .65 of an inch under the normal of 16.77 inches.

Highest temperature of the year was 103 degrees recorded on September 5, the records show, and lowest was 21 degrees on January 19 of last year. Nine days the maximum temperature was 100 degrees or above, 46 days the thermometer rose to 90 degrees or higher and 84 days the minimum temperature was 32 degrees or lower.

Greatest rainfall in any 24 hours was .76 inches November 2 and 3 and total snowfall was but .7 inches. Number of days with trace or more of snow was 14 and on six days hail fell.

The report shows that 106 days were clear, 90 were partly cloudy and 170 were completely cloudy. Seventy-nine days had light fog and on 43 days heavy fog was recorded.

Only record breaking item of the year was the fact that the valley had the longest growing season of record, 203 days from April 25 to November 14, or between killing frosts. It is pointed out, however, that in some instances this means little since the lack of killing frosts does not necessarily mean good growing conditions.

Sen. Earl Newbry Told 'Pears' Not Good Sometimes

Salem, Ore., Jan. 19—(AP)—
Sen. Earl T. Newbry, Jackson county pear grower, who yesterday made gifts of pears to the legislators, today reminded the senate that "all good things come in pears."
Replied Sen. Thomas Mahoney, Portland: "I've seen the time when I didn't think a pear was so hot."

VITAMINS ALONE CAN'T DO IT!
A Good Warm Michaels-Stern Cheviot Overcoat will be a Big Help

When this town gets cold—you'll need more than your favorite brand of vitamin pills to ward off winter's chills and ills. It may be an old-fashioned remedy—but a Michaels-Stern all-wool cheviot overcoat—tailored by Rochester's master needle-workers, is still your best bet for a healthy stylish winter.
