

Peach Tree Stock Must Be Certified

Salem, Ore., Jan. 19—(U.P.)—The State Department of Agriculture today said that under a new ruling of the California Agriculture department, Oregon nurserymen cannot ship peach nursery stock into California unless it is accompanied by certification showing that it is from a source free of peach wart. There is little of this disease in western Oregon, the department notes.

YANKEES EAGER TO FIGHT AFTER SEEING NATIVES

American soldiers who took part in the invasion of Leyte island in the Philippines were "more eager to fight than ever" when they saw how badly treated the natives had been under Japanese rule according to letters from Sgt. Bill Ettinger of the 9th Infantry Division who lived in Medford when the division was stationed here.

"When we see how badly these people need us and how glad they were to see us, we were more eager to fight than ever," the sergeant wrote. "We could see that we were really needed. The Japs took everything—clothes, food, labor and girls. We found one lady that spoke very good English, so we stopped and talked to her. They hardly have a thing, perhaps a water buffalo or a couple of chickens. The native young men soon got guns and went with the rifle companies, acting as scouts. They had made the pillboxes and knew where they were. It sure helped.

Semi-Primitive

"The natives are semi-primitive. They all wear clothes, except the little boys, who wear a little shirt. The women are modest. A half hour after the first Yank hit, I saw my first native. I don't see how they lived through the barrage. They were scared stiff. One poor old woman won't come out of a hole for anything. After an hour or so the natives started coming out of the woods and hills and were they ever glad to see us.

"I've never been kissed so many times in my life—old and young. The men saluted and the women kissed us. We gave them all the rations that we could. Later we didn't have any food for a day, but no one regretted it.

"I suppose you heard of the 'jungle school' that President Roosevelt spoke of. I was lucky enough to attend it. We learned how to live in the jungle, what food to eat and how to fix it and what to use for shelter and clothes, what fish and birds were poisonous and numerous other things. It was a very interesting deal.

Children Smart

"I have a new girl. Her name is Wanita and she is three and one-half years old. What a chatterbox! The children are very intelligent. I have a nursery school of my own and have taught them to count to ten in English and Spanish. Now I can't get rid of them and they all want to write with my pen. The people are very clean. They take a bath every day, the women with their clothes on. When we first arrived they smelled of rancid oils, but now they have Lux or Palmolive.

"I have a great time up here. The country is beautiful, with the jungle and the mountains. Of course, the snakes around here are really something, some 27 feet in length, or so." The sergeant's last letter stated that he had set his personal score as 75 dead Japs and would write his wife when he had accounted for that many.

When Sgt. and Mrs. Ettinger resided here, Mrs. Ettinger was on the staff of the Medford Nursery school.

BILL CALLS FOR EXTRA JUDGE IN CIRCUIT COURT

Definite plans for introduction of a bill in this legislative session providing for a second circuit judge in this district and with re-assignment of duties between county and circuit judges were made at a meeting in Salem Sunday, according to Representative O. H. Bengtson.

The southern Oregon delegation, including Sen. Moser of Grants Pass, Sen. Newbury of Ashland and Reps. Balderre of Grants Pass, Van Dyke of Ashland and Bengtson, met Sunday and decided to introduce the bill first in the senate, Bengtson writes. The bill will provide for the transfer of all legal matters such as probate, juvenile, domestic relations, sanity matters, etc., from the county court to the circuit court. It will then provide for an additional judge to be appointed from the members of the bar from Josephine county until the next general election, the representative wrote.

The judge senior in time of service shall be the presiding judge, or in the event both judges have served equally in time, then the one senior in age shall be the presiding judge. Rep. Bengtson states the bill will provide, "With this arrangement we should have full time service from a judge in both Jackson and Josephine counties," he wrote.

Bengtson stated that he had been unable to discuss the matter with County Judge J. B. Coleman, who has been ill, and added that the change meant no reflection on the ability of Judge Coleman "since he has been an exceptionally fine judge and has done a very fine job handling cases in Jackson county." The representative also wrote that he had been holding out for the new judge to be selected from the district at large, but had yielded the point.

The representative stated that while in Medford over the week end he received many calls from residents of this area who stated they favored the bill. Frank Farrell, city attorney of Medford who was in Salem on business, attended the meeting at which the bill was planned, Bengtson wrote.

TOO LATE

Canton, Ill., Jan. 19—(U.P.)—The Christmas card which Leonard Hudson received from a cousin at Decatur yesterday wasn't too late only for the 1944 holiday season—it was too late for 27 others. It was post marked Dec. 22, 1917.

Frohreich Writes Of New Year's Day 'Banquet' in Italy

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Frohreich, 304 North Holly street, recently received a letter from their son, Cpl. R. V. Frohreich telling of the delightful New Year's dinner which he enjoyed in Italy.

Cpl. Frohreich, who is attached to a motor division, was in the front lines during Thanksgiving and Christmas, so missed out on the traditional holiday feast. However, on New Year's he was served "turkey and all the trimmings," which he said "was certainly enjoyed."

Cpl. Frohreich was among the first to land in Africa and served in Sicily and Corsica before going to Italy. He wrote that in his trip from Corsica to Italy he lost all of his personal belongings, including papers which would entitle him to a furlough to return to the states.

He is a graduate of Medford high school and will have been

THE OREGONIAN PICKS "FRUITS AND NUTS" to tell America about OREGON AGRICULTURE

Oregon... America's Great Orchard!

Oregon is particularly well fitted for the vital part it plays in keeping America well supplied with fruit and nut crops. Our mild climate, ample rainfall and fertile soil help our orchardmen to run up yearly records to lead the rest of the country!

These records have attracted many allied food industries to locate here so that cold storage, quick freezing, packing, preserving and canning plants are located throughout the state. Postwar plans already established call for tremendous development in the fruit, nut and vegetable processing fields.

Here are some figures for the 1942 pack from Oregon orchards:

- 2/3 of all the plums in the United States
- 4/5 of all the peaches
- 3/4 of all the pears
- 1/10 of all the apples
- 1/5 of all the berries
- 2/3 of all the figs

The total national pack of cherries.

Food production and processing are stable Oregon industries—examples of our basic, natural wealth. We invite you to share that wealth with us.

The Oregonian
PORTLAND, OREGON
REPRESENTED NATIONALLY BY PAUL BLOCK & ASSOCIATES

Continuing the series of advertisements in Time and other national magazines, THE OREGONIAN this month tells the nation's business and industrial leaders something about Oregon's outstanding production of fruit and nut crops.

THE OREGONIAN, a leader in the thought and action of the Northwest since 1850, will continue to champion the cause of Oregon by telling America of the opportunities of this region... and at the same time reminding our own people of the advantages of living and working here.
