Amorous Whale Woos Submarine, Skipper Reports

Seattle, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Submarines not only pack a wallop when it comes to dealing with enemy shipping but they've got what is popularly known as sex appeal.

Lt. Gilson Rohrback of Seattle, home on leave, related today how his sub was wooed by a whale for days before the mammal flipped his tail in disgust and swam off in search of a more responsible object for his affections.

"This whale was swimming round and round," Rohrback said, "spouting and making a regular showoff of himself while we were surfaced. We couldn't figure what it was all about, until we submerged and we could hear the whale on our sound devices, coming nearer and making funny noises."

Gold Hill

Gold Hill, Jan. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Robinson, Sr., and Staff Sgt. T. A. Robinson and wife and Lolita Routh visited from Friday until Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Davis and family at Dallas, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner of Los Angeles are here, called by the death of Mrs. Turner's sister, Miss Olive Turner. Olive (or Tude) as she was known to all her friends will be greatly missed by the community and the Rebekah lodge of which she was a very active member. All extend deepest sympathy to the bereaved.

Misses Betty and Dorothy Taylor left Monday, Miss Betty going to Portland to go into defense work and Miss Dorothy to Eugene to attend school.

A farewell party was given for Miss Dorothy Taylor at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. A. Densmore. Games and refreshments were enjoyed by Misses Ellene Frost, Kathryn Hayes, Donna Wells, Geneva Smith, Geraldine Smith, Dorothy Taylor, Vaughn Whitmore, Bud Kirchner, Duane and Roland Eskew, Henry Tygart and Roland Washburn.

Woodrow Nealy, S. 1/c L. S. M. spent several days last week with his family here. He is stationed at Little Creek, Va.

Harry Newham, district deputy grand master and his installing team went to Central Point Monday where they seated the new officers for the I.O.O.F. and Rebekahs of Central Point.

C. Norman Gall, special district deputy grand master of the I.O.O.F. made an official visit to the I.O.O.F. lodge of Medford Tuesday. He was accompanied by several Odd Fellows from here.
